An asterisk (*) after the number of a child indicates that the child appears in the next generation as the head of a family.

This work is a combination of four manuscripts by:

ARTHUR C. WIGGIN Mr. Wiggin evidently considered this record as completed. It is numbered; containing over 4000 entries.

AGNES P. BARTLETT (Mrs. John H.) Her book is earlier and smaller than Mr. Wiggin's above. It was used because it names places, which Mr. Wiggin seldom did.

ARTHUR C. WIGGIN A record later than the one above. It is not numbered. It has been incorporated by using letters after the proper numbers.

ALEXANDER LINCOLN A brief account of a single line.

1

THOMAS

Born in England, date and place unknown. Shrewsbury has been suggested because of his later association with men from there. The date of birth ranges from 1592 to 1600 in various sources. He married in London, England, 11 July 1633, Catherine Whiting; born about 1601; date of death unknown; sister of Major William Whiting of Hartford, Ct. They lived at first at Dover; later, in that part of the Squamscot Patent now Stratham.

Thomas was called Captain and later, Governor. He came first to New England about 1629, when he witnessed a document at Kittery Poinr, Me. He became the agent of proprietors who disputed the claims of Gorges and Mason. John Scales, historian of Dover and vicinity called him "that great business manager under Lords Brook and Say". As agent, he made several trips to England; on one trip, returning to Salem, Mass. 10 Oct. 1633, he brought thirty men for his colony, thirty destined for Virginia and some sixty cattle.

In 1642, he was appointed as Assisaant to the Magistrates by the Massachusetts General Court, for Dover and Exeter. The next year, his authority was extended to include Hampton. He held courts in Hampton, Dover, York, Me., Kittery, Me., Portsmouth and Exeter. Records show that he was entitled to make grants of land.

He acquired much land. In one deed, he sold to his son Andrew, "for love and affection" nine square miles in Stratham. His other children received generous allotments also.
