Sibel Penn, nurse to Edward VI.: she died in 1652: there are other memorials to David Garrick, nephew of the great actor, d. 1795; Richard Tickell, a political writer, d. 1793; in the chancel are two memorial windows to Mr. Edward Grove of Garrick's Villa: in the churchyard are buried Lord Charles Fitzroy, d. 17 June, 1865; Lady Emily Charlotte Mary Ponsonby, d. 3 Yeb. 1877; Lady Roberts, d. 8 Nov. 1880; George (Fitzclarence), first Earl of Munster, d. 20 Mar. George (Fluciarence), irst Eari of Munster, d. 20 Mar. 1842, and Mary (Wyndham), his Countess, d. 3 Dec. 1842; Matilda Susannah, wife of Viscount Guillamore, d. 18 Feb. Matilda Susannah, wife of Viscount Guinamore, a. 10 rec. 1859; Huntington Shaw, artist, d. 1710; the Rev. James Burrow (late vicar), d. 1882; and Thomas Ripley, architect, d. 1770; many members of the Paget family are also buried here: the organ was presented by William IV.: the church has been entirely restored, and a new chancel built at a cost of nearly 15,000, and was re-consecrated by the Bishop of London, May 12th, 1888: there are 900 sittings, of which about 600 are appropriated. The register of baptisms and burials dates from 1555; marriages, 1657; all these are in a good state of preservation. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £1,000, with residence, in the gift of the Lord Chancellor and held since 1882 by the Rev. Robert Digby Ram M.A. of Corpus Christi college, Cambridge. Here is a Wesleyan chapel, built in 1880 and seating about 400. A cemetery, situated at Hampton and consisting of about 3 acres, was formed in 1882, at a cost of about £3,000; it has one mortuary chapel and is under the control of a burial board of 5 members. The Female Orphan Home, Tangley park, was established in 1855 for the reception and education of destitute orphan girls; the building is adapted for 60 girls, the average number being about 48. The Hurst Park Club hold several race meetings during the year on the course at Molesey Hurst on the Surrey shore, which is leased by the Club. At Hampton and somewhat higher up on the Surrey side, are ponds and streamlets maintained by the Thames angling Preservation Society, for the hatching and rearing of fish ova, and from these nurseries about 50,000 fish are annually turned into the river. former residents here may be mentioned Sir Christopher Wren kt. the famous architect, who died at Hampton Court Green, 25 Feb. 1723; John, Earl of Sandwich and first lord of the admiralty, d. 1792; Sir Andrew Halliday kt. the eminent physician, and Sir Richard Steele kt. M.P. the dramatist, who lived here in 1707; Charles Holland, the actor and the son of a baker in Hampton, was born here, 12 Mar. 1733; the Earl of Dufferin and Ava K.P., G.C.B., G.C.S.I. Governor-General of India 1884-8, and General Sir Frederick S. Roberts bart. G.C.B., v.C., G.C.I.E. Commander-in-Chief in India, were both educated at a private school here. Garrick's villa, situated on the banks of the Thames, is a mansion of stone, in the Italian style: the river front is relieved by a lofty pedimented portico supported on four columns and was designed by Robert Adam, the architect: in the garden and close to the river is an octagonal temple, with a domed roof and a projecting porch and containing an interesting collec-tion of stuffed fish; the house itself is still much in the same condition as when Garrick occupied it, including the paintings and sculptures on the walls; the villa was held by Mrs. Garrick till her death in 1822, at the age of nearly 100; it subsequently became the property, about 1864, of Mr. Edward Grove and is now occupied by Mrs. Grove. The area, exclusive of Hampton Wick, is 1,974 acres of land and 62 of water; rateable value, exclusive of Hampton Wick, £57,574; the population in 1881 was 6,940—namely, Hampton, 4,776; Hampton Wick, 2,164.

Verger, Hampton, William Ruff, Thames street.

Hampton Hill (or New Hampton) is a considerable village belonging to Hampton parish, situated near its northern boundary and was formed into an ecclesiastical district by Order in Council, 12 April, 1864. The church of St. James, built in 1863 and enlarged in 1878, is a structure of red brick in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave of five bays, aisles, organ chamber, south porch and an embattled tower at the south-western angle, with pinnacles and spire and containing one bell; the tower and spire were added in 1890, at a cost of £2,450: there are nine stained windows, three of which, erected respectively by the parishioners, Lady Ward and by Mrs. Fitz-Wygram, are all memorials to the Rev. Fitzroy John Fitz-Wygram M.A. late vicar, d. 13 Aug. 1881: the brass lectern was presented in memory of Emily Elizabeth, Lady Ward, wife of the late Sir Henry George Ward G.C.M.G., M.Y. who gard font and died in 1882: there are 500 sittings, about 350 that the year 1863. The Henry George Ward o.c.M.G., M.P. who gave the marble being free. The register dates from the year 1863.

Congregational church, built in 1871 and seating 300. The Fitz-Wygram Coffee Tayern and Working Men's Club, erected in 1882, by the Rev. John Fitz-Wygram, contains coffee, billiard, reading and club rooms; it has about 60 members. The area is 800 acres; the population in 1881 was 2,104.

Sexton, Hampton Hill, William Chandler,

Hampton Court is famous for its palace, the older portion of which was built by Cardinal Wolsev: the manor was in private hands till 1211, when it was bequeathed to the Hospitallers, who in 1515 gave a long lease of it to the Cardinal. Henry VIII. to whom Wolsey presented the palace in 1526, formed the park and chase, which he extended through fifteen parishes and resided much here, as did Edward VI. who was born at Hampton Court in 1537, when Queen Jane, his mother, died : here in 1540 Catherine Howard was openly acknowledged as queen, and here also Katharine Parr was married in 1543; Philip and Mary lived at Hampton Court after their marriage in 1554, and on March 15th, 1554, Elizabeth, then princess, was brought hither from Ashridge as a sort of state prisoner; subsequently when queen she held here, in 1587, the council which con-demned Mary Stuart: the celebrated conference in 1603-4. between the Bishops and the Presbyterians, was held here, and in 1606, James I. and his queen entertained here a large company of French nobility: Queen Anne of Denmark died at Hampton Court, 1st March, 1618-19: Charles I. and his queen spent their honeymoon here in 1625, and in 1641 the king retired to Hampton during the troubles in London; in 1647 he was brought hither from Holmby House and kept under restraint from August 24th to November 11th, when he escaped to the Isle of Wight: Charles II. occasionally visited Hampton Court, but the place is, after Wolsey, chiefly associated with the name of William III, who pulled down two courts and erected instead the state apartments now shown to the public; it was while riding in Hampton park that his horse fell with him and caused the injury from which he died in 1702: his successors, down to George II. lived much at Hampton Court, but since then the private rooms have been divided into suites of apartments, assigned by the Queen to various ladies, generally widows of officers.
The principal or west front, though irregular in outline. has a stately and palatial appearance; it faces a wide and picturesque green and is built of brick in the Late Perpendicular style; the principal gateway, approached by pendictian style, we principal gateway, approached by a broad thoroughfare, guarded by long rows of posts, is flanked by octagonal embattled towers; in the centre is a fine archway, with a bold oriel above and posterns on either side; to the left is a similar entrance, also embattled and with flanking towers, but of greater breadth and plainer character, and enclosing the green from this point westward open to the river. There were originally five courts, but three of these were pulled down in order to make room for three of these were pulled down in order to make room for the later structure, erected by William III.; the first court, 167 feet square, is surrounded by embattled buildings of two and three storeys, the east side having an entrance tower, flanked by tall octagonal turrets, with others of less height, at unequal distances on either side; the second, or clock court, is 133 feet from north to south and 91 from east to west and received its name from the celebrated astronomical clock in the gateway tower, the dial of which adorns the tower on its eastern side; this curious timepiece appears to have been constructed in 1540; in 1575, the dial was repainted by George Gaver and in 1649 an additional dial was placed on the western face of the tower; about 1711, the clock was repaired by Mr. Lang Bradley, of Fenchurch street, but in 1835 the old works were removed and in 1880, the machinery was renewed and re-adjusted by Messrs. Gillett and Bland, of Croydon; the clock indicates not only the time of day or night, but also the day of the month, the motion of the sun and moon, with the age, phases and quarters of the latter and other particulars; the bells are placed in a small cupola above the tower, that on which the hours are struck weighing about 18 cwt. : the south side of this court is partly concealed by a colonnade, designed by Sir Christopher Wren and supported on columns of the Ionic order; on the north side is the great hall, a magnificent apartment begun by Wolsey and completed by Henry VIII. about 1536; the interior, 106 feet long, 40 wide and 60 in about 1530; the intertar, too teet thing, to while and of in height, is lighted by fifteen large windows placed at a considerable altitude and filled with heraldic glass, intended to show the descent of Henry VIII. and each of his six wives from Edward III.; on one side of the dais is a tall bay window, similarly adorned; the space below the side windows living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £320, with residence, is hung with costly arras tapestry illustrating the history of in the gift of the vicar of Hampton, and held since 1881 by the Rev. the Hon. Henry Bligh, of Oxford University. There is also a mission room at Pantile Fields, in connection with the parish church and another in Eastbank road. Here is a with a noble pair of antlers; in 1770 the hall was restored: in 1731 and again in 1880 it was the scene of dramatic entertainments, and in 1829-30, while the church was being rebuilt, it was used for divine service. The withdrawing room, entered from the great hall, is 62 feet long by 29 wide; its walls are also hung with tapestry and the ceiling was restored and beautifully enriched in 1886; here are also seven cartoons, painted about 1660 by Carlo Cignani.

The eastern quadrangle or fountain court, built in 1690 from Wren's designs, is 117 by 110 feet; the buildings surrounding it are of three storeys in the Italian style, with an open colonnade of the Ionic order and a balustraded parapet; the area forms a spacious lawn, with a fountain in the centre; on the north side is the chapel, erected by Henry VIII. but much altered in succeeding reigns; in 1645, its stained glass and pictures were destroyed by order of the Parliament, but the original groined roof, with rich pendants, remains; the pedimented canopy at the east end and other fittings were introduced by Queen Anne, and the carved work is by Gibbons.

The state apartments are approached from the Fountain Court by the King's grand staircase, which is decorated with mythological paintings by Verrio: the guard chamber is adorned with a collection of arms fancifully arranged upon the walls: the audience chamber contains pictures by Ricci, Giulio Romano, Rubens and Sebastian del Piombo: in the King's drawing-room are others by Poussin and Sir W. Beechey: the state bedroom is hung with portraits of the beauties of the court of Charles II. and has a ceiling painted by Verrio: in another apartment are portraits by Sir God-frey Kneller bart, of the ladies of the court of William III.: the Queen's gal ery, 80 feet long and 25 wide, was formerly hung with historical pictures, illustrating the reigns of Henry VIII. and Queen Elizabeth, but is now hung with seven pieces of tapestry, illustrating the life of Alexander the Great, from designs by Charles le Brun: the King's portrait gallery, 117 feet long by 24 wide and 30 high, is filled from end to end with numerous historical portraits of many celebrated persons by famous artists, including a portrait, by Zucchero, of Queen Elizabeth and others of Rosamond Clifford, Jane Shore, Sir Geoffrey Hudson, the dwarf, the Earl of Surrey, Lord Falkland, Locke and Newton, Sheridan and Boyle, Charles XII. of Sweden and Queen Caroline: the "Mantegna" gallery, formerly called the "Communication" gallery, and the "Portrait" gallery and also the "Gallery of Admirals," contains the famous nine pictures by Mantegna, illustrating the triumph of Julius Cæsar; besides a number of smaller works by various artists.

The apartments open to the general public now (1890) include a chamber of much interest, known as "Wolsey's Private Chapel or Oratory," which is approached from the Mantegna gallery, and was once utilized as a butler's pantry : the walls to a height of 7 feet are panelled in oak, corresponding in design and execution to the Tudor wainscoting in other portions of the interior of the palace : on the walls above the dado is a series of paintings in oil of sacred subjects, which have been restored under the superintendence of Sir J. C. Robinson kt. F.S.A. Her Majesty's surveyor of The ceiling is ornamented with an exquisitely designed geometrical pattern.

The Palac: gardens, extending to the river, are about 44 acres in extent, and were laid out by Loudoun and Wise, gardeners to William III. and Mary, in the Dutch style then prevailing, with long straight walks and shady avenues: at the south end of the east front of the palace, which is well seen from the gardens, is the entrance to the private gardens and also the house containing the great vine, believed to have been planted by the well-known Lancelot ("Capabilty") Brown in 1768; the stem is 38 inches in circum-ference, and the principal branches are 110 feet in length; the average yearly produce is said to be about 1,200 pounds; on the north side of the pulace is a portion of the grounds called "The Wilderness," planted and laid out by William III. and containing a maze: immediately adjoining the gardens is the Home Park, about 5 miles in circumference and extending to Hampton Wick, the Thames forming its southern boundary: it is watered by a canal about half a mile long, bordered with avenues of lime trees; in the centre of the park is the stud house, built by the Stuarts and enlarged by George IV. : here are kept the cream coloured horses used by the Sovereign on State occasions, as well as other valuable horses which have been presented to Her Majesty, and some yearlings are annually sold.

The pavilion, approached by the Long Walk or terrace, which is about half a mile in length and runs parallel to the river, was formerly one of four situated at either corner of the bowling green and built about 1700: it was formerly occupied by the late Dukes of Gloucester and Kent as rangers of the park.

Adjacent to the palace is a large covered tennis court, built by Henry VIII. and restored by Charles II.

The palace is supplied with water drawn from the Longford river, but the original supply was obtained from springs at Coombe Wood, whence it was conducted by leaden pipes laid down by Wolsey, which crossed the bed of the Thames and were altogether about 8 miles in length.

On December 14th, 1882, an alarming fire, which broke out in the private apartments immediately above the picture gallery, did very considerable damage to about 20 rooms, but fortunately none of the pictures were injured.

The Rev. David Lancaster McAnally M.A. of Worcester College, Oxford, has been chaplain in ordinary to the Queen at the palace since 1886, and officiates at the Chapel Boyal; this appointment is at present of the approximate yearly value, from different sources, of £200, with apartment in the palace and is not under episcopal jurisdiction.

Hampton Court is a great place of resort during the summer. There are several good hotels: the "Greyhound" and the "Mitre," near the bridge, being the principal. The river Thames is here crossed by an iron bridge with five arches, built in 1865: on the other side of the river, in the parish of Molesey and county of Surrey, is the Hampton Court station of the South Western railway.

BUSHEY PARK, about 1,000 acres in extent, and situated in this parish, is celebrated for its beautiful avenue of chestnut trees a mile in length, bounding the high road, which passes through it from Hampton Court to Teddington, and in which there is a circular basin with a fountain known as "Diana;" it is open to the public, and is much frequented for pic-nics and school treats.

Hampton Wick, situated on the river, about 1 mile east of Hampton Court, bounded on the east by Teddington, and connected with Kingston by a stone bridge, is a separate deanery of Hampton, archdeaconry of Middleser and dioces of London, and is under the control of a local board of nine members, formed in 1863. There is a station on the South Western branch line, which here crosses the river to King. ston. The Hampton gas works are situated here. The church of St. John the Baptist, erected in 1831, is an edifice of brick in the Decorated style, with a turret at each corner, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, west porch and a western tower containing one bell: the south window is a memorial to the Rev. Frederick John Champion de Crespigny M.A. vicar, 1858-87, presented by Mrs. de Crespigny, his widow: in 1880 the church was thoroughly renovated and reseated at a total cost of about £700: in 1887 a chancel was added and a stained east window erected by the parishioners in memory of the late vicar; there are also two other stained windows: there are about 500 sittings, about 300 being free. The register of barriage dates from Angust 28th 221. windows: there are about 600 sittings, about 300 being free. The register of baptisms dates from August 28th, 1831: marriages from 5th of March, 1832. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £400, arising partly from a farm and partly from pew-rents, with residence, in the gift of the Lord Chancellor, and held since 1837 by the Rev. Wilham Wheeler Archer. The Assembly Rooms, School road, built in 1830 at a cost of £200 contains and large from seating in 1889 at a cost of $\( \frac{1}{2} \), cook, contain one large room, seating 250, besides other rooms. The area is 1,235 acres of land and 80 of water; rateable value, $\( \frac{1}{4},065 \); the population in the local board district in 1881 was 2,164. Parish Clerk, Thomas Whenman.

HANWELL is an ancient place, given by Edward the Confessor to Westminster Abbey, situated on the banks of the river Brent and on the Uxbridge road and the Grand Junction canal, with a station on the Great Western railway, 71 miles west from Paddington, a viaduct of eight arches carrying the railway across the road; the parish abounds in beautiful and picturesque scenery and is in the Brentford division of the county, the Western Metropolitan postal district, Elthorne hundred, Brentford petty sessional division, union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Ealing, archdea onry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The parish is governed by a Local Board of nine members, formed in 1885; it is lighted with gas from works situated at Southall, the property of the Brentford Gas Company, and supplied with water by the Grand Junction Water Works Company. The parish church of St. Mary, built in 1841 on the site of the old church, at a cost of nearly £4,000, is a structure of flint and brick with stone dressings in the Early English style, by Messrs. Scott (G. Gilbert Scott) and Moffatt; it consists of nave of five bays, transepts, aisles, south porch and a western tower with spire containing a clock and 2 bells: there are 700 sittings: the benevolent Jonas Hanway, who died 5 Sept. 1786, was buried in the old churchyard: his monument is in Westminster Abbey. The register dates from the year 1570. The living is a rectory, yearly value from tithe rent-charge £500, with 25 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1885 by the Rev. Donald Stuart McClean B.A. of the Queen's University, Belfast. St. Mark's church, erected in 1883, is a structure of brick in the Gothic style, consisting of apsidal chancel, nave and aisles, and has 600 sittings, all free. Here is a Catholic chapel, dedicated to Our Lady and St. Joseph, with 150 sittings; a Baptist chapel, seating 600 persons, and a Wesleyan chapel with 300 sittings. Here are two cemeteries, one of 20 acres belonging to the parish of St. Mary Abbotts, Kensington, with two mortuary chapels, and another of 24 acres, belonging to the paish of St. George, Hanover square, also with two mortuary chapels: these are under the control of a Burial Board of nine members, the cemetery of St. George's being made available by arrangement for the parish of Han-well; the rector acts as chaplain. Hobbyns's charity was founded in 1484, for the benefit of the poor and poor children; in 1878 a new scheme was propounded, having for its principal objects the education of poor children and the provision of pensions for the poor; the estate consists of 22 acres, with an income of £150, and is managed by 11 trustees, the rector being chairman. The Catholic Convalescent Home for Women and Children, situated in the Uxbridge road, was erected in the year 1865, at the expense of Baroness Weld, and is supported by pensions paid for the inmates; the home is available for 35 patients and received during the year 1889 about 196 women and children. Adjoining Hanwell, but in the parish of Norwood, is the Hanwell Lunatic Asylum, belonging to the County of London, first erected in 1829-31, but since repeatedly enlarged and greatly improved: the building, a conspicuous object from the railway, is constructed of brick in a simple Italian style, and consists of a central block with projecting wings at either end: both in front and rear are spacious grounds laid out with lawns and avenues of trees: the management of the patients is under the direction of two medical officers, one for the male and the other for the female department: the different wards are well supplied with books, games, and musical instruments: the chapel, situated in front of the main entrance and erected in 1880, is an edifice of brick, in the Larly English style, and has a lofty tower with spire containing one bell: there are about 1,000 sittings: there are about 1,890 inmates. Hanwell Park, The Spring, The Grove, Brent Lodge and many good residences are in this neighbourhood. The Ecclesiastical Commissioners are lords of the manor. The principal landowners are Col. Edward John Stracey-Clitherow, of Boston House, New Brentford; Sir Joseph Layton Elmes Spearman bart, of Llansannor Court, Joseph Layton Elmes Spearman bart. of Liansannor Cour. Cowbridge, Glamorgan, Mrs. Buchan and Mrs. Parsons. The land is principally pasturage and of copyhold tenure; soil, gravelly. The area is 1,054 acres of land and 13 of water; rateable value, £25,795; the population in 1881, 5,179, including 1,344 in the Central London District schools. DORMAN'S WELLS is a place three-quarters of a mile north-

Parish Clerk, Alfred Edwards.

HANWORTH is a village and parish, 12 miles from London, 3 south-west from Hounslow, 2 miles from Sunbury station on the Shepperton branch and 1½ south-east from Feltham station on the Windsor and Reading section of the London and South Western railway, in the Uxbridge divi-sion of the county, Spelthorne hundred and petty sessional division, Staines union, Chertsey county court district, and in the rural deanery of Hampton, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The Longford river flows through here. The church of St. George, standing in Hanworth Park, is an edifice of stone, part of which came from the old church, and was rebuilt in 1865, in the Early English style, at the sole cost of the late Algernon Perkins esq. : it consists of aspidal chancel, nave, north and south porches and an eastern tower with spire containing one bell: there are five stained windows: a lich gate of oak was built in 1882 at a cost of  $K_{350}$  from designs by Mr. G. Low, architect: there are sittings for about 200, all of which are Richards Brothers, furniture dealers & upholsterers, 3 St. James' place free. The register of baptisms and burials dates from 1731; marriages, 1732; no marriages here from 1807 to 1813 in consequence of the rebuilding of the church. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value, arising from glebe, [852, with residence, in the gift of the representatives of A. Perkins esq. and held since 1879 by the Rev. John Lyndhurst Winslow, of King's College, London. Here is a Wesleyan chapel, erected in 1868 and seating 100. The reading rooms, Hanworth road, near the schools, erected in 1884, form a structure of brick, in the Perpendicular style, from designs by Mr. George Low, architect, and has cost £750. There is a parish library of 1,000 volumes at the school. Near the public footpath from Feltham to Hanworth are the remains of an ancient castle. Hanworth Park is partly in this and partly in the adjoining parish of Feltham: it is extensively wooded, and was for-merly a royal residence and a crown domain, and became with Henry VIII. a favourite place of resort: Elizabeth, his daughter, resided here for some time during her earlier

Horne Stephen, farmer HAREFIELD is a parish and village, bounded on the assheby, clerk of the sygnet to Henry VIII. ob. 1514 and north by Rickmansworth in Herts, on the east by Ruislip, to Rose (Eden) his wife, with 7 children; and there are on the south by Uxbridge, and on the west by the parishes of West Hyde and Denham in Bucks, 4 miles north from Uxbridge and 21 from London: Northwood station, on the Metropolitan extension railway to Rickmansworth and Chesham, is about 3 miles distant: the parish is in the Uxbridge division of the county, Elthorne hundred, Uxbridge petty sessional division, union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Uxbridge, archdeaconry of Middle-sex and diocese of London. The river Colne and the Grand Junction canal run parallel to West Drayton. stream, having its source in the north-eastern part of the parish, falls into the Colne at Cowley. The village is supplied with water by the Rickmansworth and Uxbridge Valley Water Works Co. from their works at Rickmans-worth, Herts. The church of St. Mary, erected about A.D. 1300, is a building of flint stuccoed, in the late Decorated style, and consists of chancel, nave, sisles, with an arcade of three arches on the north and of four on the south, a chapel at the east end of the north aisle (attached to the manor house of Breakspears in this parish), north porch and a massive embattled tower at the west end of the north aisle, containing 3 bells and a sanctus bell: in a recess in the chancel are some excellent brasses to the Newdegate family, the earliest of which is to Editha, wife of William Newdegate, ob. 1444; there is another to John Newdegate, serjeant at law, ob. 15—, and Amphilisia (Nevell) his wife, ob. 1544, with effigies of both, 7 sons and 5 daughters, and a third to John Newdegate esq. ob. 1545, Anne his wife and 12 children: the altar tombs, mural tablets and floor stones to the Newdegate family are very numerous and are for the most part excellent examples of monumental art; they range from the earliest date above mentioned to 1806, but are principally of the 17th century and include, in the south aisle of Brackenbury chapel, monuments to Sir Richard Newdigate bart. ob. 1678, and Sir Roger Newdigate bart. d. Nov. 23, 1806: on the south side of the chancel is a tomb of alabaster, up n which is a recumbent effigy of Alice (Spencer), wife of Ferdinando, fifth Earl of Derby, ob. 1636; above rises a lofty canopy supported on pillars of black marble, and surmounting the deep cornice is a ribbed dome, terminating in a pedestal, on which is placed the armorial achievement of the Stanleys; on the sides of the tomb, within niches, are the kneeling effigies of her three daughters; the whole is elaborately carved, richly embellished in gold and colours and emblasoned with heraldry: in the Breakspear chapel are numerous brasses and monumental tablets to members of late Sir Frederick Pollock bart, are the principal landowners, The soil is mixed; subsoil, loam. The chief crups are wheat, barley, oats, mangold wurtzel, turnips, beans and peas. The area is 1,353 acres of laud and 20 of water; the rate able value, £5,923; the population in 1881 was 1,040.

with 8 children; George Assheby, and Margaret his wife, both d. 1474; Sir Robert Ashby kt. ob. 1617, and Sir Francis Ashby bart. ob. Dec. 23, 1623; the latest Ashby tablet is dated 1774: a parclose screens this chapel from the aisle, between which and the nave is a memorial to John Prichett, Bishop of Gloucester, 1672-80, and curate here for 30 years: all the windows, except two in the north sisle, contain stained glass, principally heraldic: there is a small Perpendicular font in the north aisle and a piscina at the east end of the south aisle, in the same style: outside the chapel is a wall tablet with a medallion bearing in low relief figures of a keeper and his dog, with a quaint poetical inscription to Robert Mossenden, who died February 5, 1744: this memorial was erected by his master, William Ashby, of Breakspears, esq.: the church was refitted, enlarged and beautified by the late Right Hon. Charles Newdigate Newdegate M.P., P.C., D.C.L. at a cost of upwards of £3,000: there are sittings for 500 persons. The register of baptisms and burials dates from 1538; marriages, 1558. The living is a donative, and has been in the Newdegate family (with but a small interval) since the reign of Edward III. ; it is of the net yearly value of £25, in the gift of Lieut. Gen. Edward Newdigate Newdegate C.B. of Arbury, Nuneston, and held since 1870 by the Rev. Albert Augustus Harland M.A. of Pembroke College, Oxford, F.S.A., F.R.S.L.; the vicarage house stands in its own glebe of 6 acres in the centre of the village. Here are Baptist and Wesleyan chapels; the latter was erected, with Lecture Hall, reading and recreation rooms, at the sole cost of Robert Barnes esq. of Manchester. Breakspears, half a mile south-east, the seat of Alfred Henry Tarleton esq. is an ancient manor house; Nicholas Breakspere, elected Pope in 1154 by the title of Adrian IV. being the only Englishman who ever occupied the Papal chair, once resided here. Harefield Place, the seat of Col. Frederick Cox J. P. is very extensive and well wooded; Queen Elizabeth visited Sir Thomas Egerton at Harefield Place in 1602 and remained from July 31 to August 2; the mansion was burnt down in 1660, but was rebuilt by Sir Richard Newdigate bart. about 1675; his descendant, the Right Hon. Charles N. Newdegate M.P., P.C. (d. 1887), however, removed this house towards the end of the last century. Moor Hall, an old manor house, is now converted into cottages, some of which still retain large fireplaces and ancient panelling, and hard by are the remains of an Early English chapel, with a good timber roof. Lieut. Gen. Edward Newdigate Newde the Ashby family, formerly lords of the manor of Breakspears; the former include one engraved, c. 1540, to George are Henry Richard Cox esq. D.L., J.P. HARLINGTON is a parish and village, I mile south members of the Leycester-Warren family, Barons de Tabley, from Hayes and 21 south-east from West Drayton stations and to Sir John Bennet K.B. first Lord Ossulston, d. 1688, on the Great Western railway, 31 north-west from Hounslow and 13 from Hyde Park corner, in the Uxbridge division of the county, hundred of Elthorne, Staines union, Uxbridge petty sessional division and county court district, rural deanery of Uxbridge, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The village is supplied with water by the Rick-mansworth and Uxbridge Valley Water Works Company, from their works at Rickmansworth. The church of SS. Peter and Paul is an ancient structure, chiefly of flint, with stone dressings, in the Norman, Early Decorated and other styles, consisting of chancel, nave, north aisle, south porch and an embattled western tower, with angle turret and vane, containing a striking clock and 6 bells: the south doorway is an elaborate specimen of Early Norman work and has an oaken porch, finely carved, of the 14th century: the font is also Norman, and in the nave are two Early Norman windows: the Decorated windows of the chancel exhibit some fine tracery: the east window is very late Perpendicular: in the church is a brass to Gregory Lovell esq. lord of the manor and patron of the church, ob. 1545, Anne (Bellingham), his wife, and two children, and one, with half-length effigy, to John Monmouth, rector, c. 1430; and in the chancel a mural monument to Joseph Trapp D.D. of Wadham College, Oxford, rector here 1732-47, and professor of poetry at Oxford from 1708. d. 32 Nov. 1747: this church has been at Oxford from 1708, d. 22 Nov. 1747: this church has been the burial place of the Bennets, Earls of Tankerville, and there are memorials to Charles, third earl, d. 27 Oct. 1767, and Charles Areas of Charles, third earl, d. 27 Oct. 1767, and Charles Augustus, fifth earl, d. 25 June, 1859: in the chancel are some fine modern tombs to the family of de Salis, of Dawley Court, including Count Jerome Fane-de Salis J.P. d. 20 Oct. 1830, and Henrietta (Foster), his wife, d. 27 Oct. 1856, and Lieut.-Gen. Rodolph Leslie de Salis C.B. col. 8th Hussars, which regiment he led in the famous charge of light cavalry at Balaklava, 25th Oct. 1854, and commanded it throughout the Indian Mutiny of 1857-8; he commanded it throughout the Indian Mutiny of 1857-8; he died 13 March, 1880; there are other memorials to various with busts of himself and his wives Elizabeth (Cranfield) and Bridget (Howe): the east window is a memorial to John Francis William, late Court de Salis, d. 7 Aug. 1871, and there are two other memorial windows to members of the de Salis family: on the north side of the chancel, raised on a pedestal or base, is a flat recessed arch, surmounted by a string of quatrefoils and a carved cornice, and probably once used as an Easter sepulchre: affixed to the south wall of the nave is a carved bracket of oak, possibly of the 13th century: the church was completely restored by subscription in 1881. at a cost of nearly £4,000, including the organ: in the churchyard is a magnificent yew tree, said to be 700 years old, and one of the largest in the home counties, the trunk being 20 feet in circumference; it was formerly clipped at intervals into a fantastic shape, the occasion being made a village holiday, but this has not been done since 1825 and it is now allowed to grow naturally. The register dates from May, 1540. The living is a rectory, yearly value from tithe rent-charge £800, with 8 acres of glebe and residence, built by the present rector at a cost of nearly £3,000, in the gift of Molyneux Barton esq. of Bray, and held since 1873 by the Rev. Edward Isaac Haddock B.A. of Trinity College, Dublin. Here is a Baptist chapel, erected in 1879, and seating 550 people; connected with it is a lecture hall, capable of seating 360 persons, and a small cemetery. A cemetery of about half an acre was formed in 1871 and is under the control of a Burial Board of nine members. A fair for toys and pedlery is held on Whit-Tuesday. Henry Bennet, first Earl of Arlington, was born here in 1618, and afterwards figured as one of the Cabal cabinet after the restoration of Charles II.; he left a daughter, Isabella, who married Henry Fitzroy, Earl of Euston, natural son of Charles II. and afterwards Duke of Grafton R.G. whose second title was thenceforth Earl of Euston and Arlington. HARMONDSWORTH, in Domesday "Hermodesworde," is a village and parish, situated on the river Colne, 15 miles west from London, 5 south from Uxbridge and 11 south from West Drayton station on the Great Western railway, in the Uxbridge division of the county, Elthorne hundred, Uxbridge petty sessional division and county court district, Staines union, and in the rural deanery of Uxbridge, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The church of St. Mary is an edifice of stone and flint, partly in the Perpendicular style, but with some remains of Norman work, and consists of chancel, with north aisle, or Lady chapel, built by William of Wykeham, nave of six bays, aisles, south porch and a tower of flint and brick at the south-west angle containing a clock and 5 bells: the chancel retains a piscina and some stalls, and there is an Early Norman doorway on the south side: early in the year 1870, when a grave of unusual depth was being dug, some silver coins, twenty-five in all, dating from the Tudor and Stuart periods, were discovered: the church was restored in 1863, when all the old brasses were stolen: the old north wall ranges with what is now the south aisle, the arcade being of the 12th century style, and the bays irregular in span: the Perpendicular alterations on the north side of the chancel are continued into the first bay of the nave and end very abruptly: there are 400 sittings. The register dates from the year 1672. The living is a vicarage, tithe rent-charge £20, net yearly value £852, including 192 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the lord of the manor, and held since 1882 by the Rev. John Charles Taylor M.A. of Corpus Christi college, Cambridge. Here is an unsectarian missionroom, re-erected 1884 at a cost of about £600, with sittings for 300 persons. A cemetery of 2 acres was formed in 1870, but has no mortuary chapel; it is under the control of a Burial Board of six members. The Vicarage Hall, built in the vicarage grounds for parochial purposes, by the Rev. J. C. Taylor in 1885, at a cost of £500, will seat 250 persons; a class-room has been added at a cost of £40. Here was anciently a Benedictine priory, a cell to the abbey of La Trinité, at Near the church is a fine barn of the 14th century, divided into three alleys by two rows of massive columns, and the upper floor has an open timbered roof. southern part of the parish are traces of an ancient entrenchmont. John Charles Faylor esq. is lord of the manor. The principal landowners are the Earl of Strafford, Henry Horace Powell Cotton esq. of Quex Park, Thanet, Kent, Dr. Whipham and Messrs. Fred Hunt, Thomas Wild and James Scholey. The soil is rich loam; subsoil, clay. The chief Scholey. The son is the main, streson, cay. The chier crops are market garden produce, wheat, barley, oats, mangold wurtzel and potatoes, but large quantities of strawberries are also grown here; the land to the south-west, which has a gravel subsoil, being very productive. # HARROW,

WITH THE HAMLETS OF ROXETH, GREENHILL AND KENTON.

HARROW-ON-THE-HILL is a town and parish with a station 11 miles north-east on the London and North Western railway and a second half a mile in the same direction on the Metropolitan railway. The town is 11 miles by rail from Euston Square terminus and 92 miles from the Metropolitan junction at Baker street, in the Harrow division of the county, Gore hundred, Edgware petty sessional division, Hendon union, Watford county court district, and in the rural deanery of Harrow, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London and within the jurisdiction of the metropolitan police

From the hill, which is 400 feet high, Windsor Castle; the high grounds of Kent, including Knockholt Beeches, stretching away to Rochester; Leith Hill Tower in Surrey; the Langdon Hills in Essex, and the Obelisk in Ashridge

Park, Hertfordshire, may be seen.

The parish, as originally constituted, comprised several hamlets-some have since been severed from it for ecclesiastical purposes; for all other purposes Harrow still remains the same as it was centuries ago.

The town, which derives its chief importance from the existence of the celebrated school, is governed by a local board of nine members, formed about 1850, is lighted with gas from the works of the Harrow District Gas Company and supplied with water from Bushey by the Colne Valley

Water Company.

The church of St. Mary, which stands on the summit of the hill and forms a most conspicuous object for many miles round, is a large and spacious cruciform edifice of stone and flint, consisting of chancel with chapel, elerestoried nave of five bays, transepts, north and south porches, and an embattled western tower with lofty spire containing 8 bells; the present church was erected at the beginning of the 14th century, but portions of the original structure, built by Lanfranc, Archbishop of Canterbury, in the reign of William the Conqueror, and consecrated by Anselm in the roign of William Rufus, still remain: these consist of a doorway and window on the west face of the tower, of the ordinary Norman character, but much defaced by time and modern innovations: the chancel is Decorated, the nave Early English and the aisles Perpendicular: on the north side of the nave is a brass to John Lyon, of Preston in this parish, founder of the school, ob. Oct. 1592; and there is another brass with offigy and inscription to Sir John Flambard kt. temp. Edward III. and two more with mutilated effigies to John Byrkhed, priest, ob. 1468; and Simon Marchford, rector, ob. 1442: there are monuments to Dr. Robert Sumner, head master of Harrow school, d. 1771; and to Sir Somed Garth kt. M.D. physician-general to the army, d. 18
Jan. 1719; to Dr. Joseph Drury, head master, 1735-1835,
d. 9 Jan. 1834; and Dr. George Butler, head master, 1805-29, and subsequently dean of Peterborough, d. 1853; in the vestry room is a framed certificate of the death of Queen Adelaide, who died at Bentley Priory in the parish of Great Stanmore, 2 Dec. 1849: at the entrance to the churchyard the control of a Burial Board of hims members.

is a handsome lych gate of oak, given in memory of the Rev-John William Cunningham M.A. for 50 years vicar of Harrow, d. 30 Sept. 1861: in the south transipt is a brass to George Aynesworth, ob. 1438, his three wives, Agnes, Isabella and Joan, and 14 children: the font, of Purbeck marble, is coaval with the date of the original church; it formerly stood in a garden close by, whither it had been removed from the church and there permitted to remain for more than 43 years, but in 1846 it was restored and re-placed and it now forms one of the most interesting features in the church: the handsome reredos, designed by the late Sir Gilbert Scott R.A. was erected to the memory of Mr. Thomas Hewlett, d. 10 Sept. 1872: a memorial window was placed in the south aisle by the officers of H.M.S. Ariadne, to Lieut. W. A. Jukes R.N. who was drowned with several others, March 8, 1872, in the attempt to save the life of a seaman; there are others to Mr. Marillier, for 50 years an assistant master of Harrow School, d. 1876; to Mr. Benjamin Rotch J.P.; to the Rev. J. W. Cunningham; to the family of J. W. Cunningham esq. and three windows presented by an anonymous donor and commemorating incidents in the history of the church: in the churchyard is a tombstone to Archdeacon Thackeray, head master of the school, 1746-60, and grandfather of the novelist: south-west of the church is an altar tomb, now inclosed with protecting ironwork, on which Byron used to sit when a schoolboy here and which he mentions in his poems and correspondence: the view from this spot is particularly fine and includes Windsor Castle, the Crystal Palace, Leith Hill and the Kent and Essex hills: there are sittings for 871 persons. The register of baptisms dates from 1562; marriages and burials, 1558. The living is a vicarage, tithe rent-charge £272, net yearly value £320, with resilence, in the gift of Lady Northwick, and hold since 1862 by the Rev. Francis Hayward Joyce M.A. of Christ Caurch, Oxford, and rural dean of Harrow. Cuthbert Tunstall, Bishop of Durham (1530-61), was vicar here 1511-22; and was succeeded by William Bolton, last prior of St. Bartholomew the Great, Smithfield, London. In connection with the church is a mission room in West street, erected in 1886 at a cost of £1,136, raised by subscription.

The Catholic chapel, Roxborough road, dedicated to Our Lady and St. Thomas (à Becket) of Canterbury, is a small iron building, opened July 7th, 1373, and has 65 sittings; the Rev. Henry James Hardy M.A. Oxon, is the priest. There is a small community of nuns resident at St. Dominic's Convent, the Mount, Harrow, who devote their time to the education of the young.

There is a Raptist chapel, with 300 sittings, and a Wesleyan chapel seating 250.

The Cometery, situated in Pinner road, was formed in 1838, at a cost of about £1,300, and compress an area of 6 acres; it contains one mortuny thund and it is under The Public Hall, erected in 1874 by a Limited Liability

Company, is capable of holding upwards of 600 persons The Local Board buildings, situate at the south end of High street, were erected in 1889 at a cost of about £3,000. A market, granted by Henry III. and a fair held on the first Monday in August, has been discontinued since July 16, The only remnant of a market is a seed stall kept here during the early spring and summer months.

The Constitutional club is in Byron Hill road and the Liberal Club in West street: the Home for Waifs and Strays, Crown street, was established in 1882, and is supported by voluntary contributions; the average number admitted is about 30.

The Harrow Fire Brigade, which is under the jurisdiction of the local board, comprises 18 members, with two engines and a fire escape: the station is attached to the offices of the

The "Harrow Gazette," established in 1855, is published every Saturday at the office of Mr. William Joseph Overhead, High street. Another local book, "Harrow School and its Surroundings," is by Mr. Percy M. Thornton.

There is a Literary Institution, and there are a few local charities for the benefit of the poor.

The Cottage Hospital for the poor of Harrow, situated in Lower road, on land given by Charles Leaf esq. who also bore the principal portion of the expense of the building, was erected in 1872, and is supported by voluntary contributions: the number of patients in 1889 was 40.

Harrow Recreation Ground, Pinner road, comprising an area of 15 acres, was purchased for £3,000 and opened to the public in 1885.

The manor formerly belonged to the church of Canterbury and is referred to in connection with it long prior to the Concuest. for we find that in the year 825, Wulfred, bury and is referred in connection with though prior to the Conquest, for we find that in the year 825, Wulfred, Archbishop of Canterbury, purchased "Herges," for the purpose of restoring it to the convent from which it had been taken by Kenulf, King of Mercia; the archbishop did not regrant it direct to the convent, but gave it to his relative, Warbedus, upon condition that he willed it to the monastery, and it is in the will of this latter that the name has been perpetuated. In the reign of Edward the Confessor it is referred to as in the occupation of the Earl Lewin, at a rental of £60 yearly. In the reign of Henry VIII. Archbishop Cranmer exchanged it with the king for other lands and in 1546 all the manors within the parish, together with Harrow town, were granted to Sir Edmund Dudley, afterwards Lord North. The estates continued in the North family until the year 1630, when the manors of Harrow and Sudbury and the advowson of the church were alienated by Dudley North to Edmund Philips and were ancienced by Dudiey North to Edining Finings and George and Rowland Pitts; they subsequently passed to the Rushout family, a member whereof, Sir John Rushout, was created a baron in 1797, by the title of Lord Northwick; the present Lady Northwick is lady of the manor and patron of the living. Au ancient manor-house here was occasionally the residence of the Archbishops of Canterbury: the famous Thomas à Becket resided here during his banishment from court, keeping up such state and courting and receiving such homage as to awaken the jealousy of the king.

The parish (exclusive of Pinner) contains 10,026 acres, 2 roods of land and 42 water, chiefly pasture; rateable value, f105,423; the population in 1861 was 5,525; in 1871, 8,537; and in 1881, 10,277; the population of the local board district in 1881 was 5,558.

ROXETH is an ecclesiastical parish, formed Sep. 15, 1863. from the civil parish of Harrow, but united to it by the continuous building of houses in recent years; it is, however, a distinct manor, having in 1371 been granted by William Whittlesey, Archbishop of Canterbury, to Sir William Brembre and his heirs: prior to that period it had been simply an estate within the manor of Harrow, belonging to William Roxeth, who was about this time outlawed for felony. From the line of Brembre it passed to the Dudleys, subsequently to the families of Hutchinson and Nicolls and then to Percival Hart esq. who devised it to three persons.

Christ Church, erected in 1863, is a handsome building of flint and stone, with tooled stone and white brick facings, in the Early English style, and consists of chancel, clerestoried nave of four bays, aisles, transepts, organ chamber, vestry, north and south porches and an octagonal western turret con-taining a clock and 8 tubular bells: in the chancel is a monument to the Rev. John William Knott M.A. a former in-cumbent, who died in 1870, having previously resigned cumbent, who died in 1870, having previously resigned the living and gone abroad as a missionary: there are 425 sittings. The register dates from the year 1863. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £325, including 5 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of trustees, and held since 1877 by the Rev. John Floyd Andrewes M.A. of Hertford College, Oxford. A Lecture Hall adjoining the vicarage, with 200 sittings, was built in 1869 by C. J. Leaf esq. and a Mission Room in connection with Christ Church was built in 1881 by John Chapman esq. and has 160 sit tings. There is also a Mission Room, belonging to the Church Army, with sittings for 200 persons. The population in 1881 was 1,194.

GREENHILL is a hamlet about I mile east-north-east from the town of Harrow and close to the railway station. St. John the Baptist chapel of ease, erected here in 1866, is a plain building, chiefly of brick, in the Early English style, and consisting of apsidal chancel, nave, transepts and a turret containing one bell: there are about 500 sittings.
Victoria Hall, Greenhill, was erected by subscription in 1888, at a cost of  $f_{1,1,50}$ : it comprises a reading room, well supplied with the daily and weekly papers and a god library of 850 volumes, and is the property of trustees: in connection are a football and cricket club, and a workmen's

HARROW SCHOOL

HARROW SCHOOL was founded by John Lyon, who is described in the charter as a yeoman residing at Preston, within the parish of Harrow; it appears that for 7 years prior to 1571 he had provided education for a limited number of poor children of the parish, but in that year and in the 14th of the reign of Queen Elizabeth (1571-2) he obtained letters patent and a royal charter, recognizing the foundation and empowering him to enact certain statutes for the regulation and government of the establishment and constituting the trustees of his nomination and their successors a corporate body, under the title of "The Keepers and Governors of the School, called the Free Grammar School of John Lyon, in the village of Harrow-on-the-Hill, in the county of Middlethe village of Harrow-on-the-rill, in the county of should sex." The founder appointed six trustees or governors of whom Gilbert Gerrard esq. her then Majesty's Attometioneral, was one, and the Archbishop of Canterbury for the time being was constituted "Visitor," with power to decide all questions and controversies, especially in the case of the appointment of a master, who "on no account was to be below the degree of M.A." The statutes framed by the founder are most minute in their details: the stipends of the masters are settled: the number of forms is stated, with the exercises applicable to each; the mode of correction is pointed out and the scholars' amusement is strictly confined to "driving a top, tossing a ball and running and shooting." The founder directed that a certain number of pupils should be educated freely, but allowed the master to receive other pupils (within prescribed limits) over and above children of the inhabitants of the parish, and this coupled with the founder's last rule, which empowers all future governors, with the advice of the master, to amend. alter or abolish any of the foregoing rules, as a change of time may require, has, no doubt, been mainly instrumental in bringing the school to its present state of prosperity and usefulness; this power given to the Governors by the founder should alone have excluded Harrow School from the operation of the Public Schools Act, 1868. The Eton plan of education was introduced in 1760. It would appear that at the time of founding the school, John Lyon provided for the preservation of the roads and highways approaching to it, and with that view directed that the profits arising from certain specified lands should be devoted to that purpose and it is a curious fact that the estates charged with the minor contingency have far outstripped in value those destates the continue that the continue the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the continue that the voted to the primary object—the support of the school and therefore it was only prudent that, when the Pinespile estate in Marylebone and Paddington returned near £4.00 yearly, a re-adjustment should take place and that an object most dear to the founder's heart, other than devoting it to the repair of highways, should be found.

In 1810 proceedings were instituted in Chancery, the object of which was to limit the operations of the school by moderate the control of the school by moderate the control of the school  reducing the number of foreigners, or persons not being children of the inhabitants; but the elaborate judgment delivered by Sir William Grant, then Master of the Rolls. decided that, in extending its operations to as man foreigners as might be well taught and as the place would contain, the original intentions of the founder were carried This decision seems to have set the matter at rest, and the number of pupils has been on the increase erer since; but the most marked advance took place under the head-mastership of Dr. Vaughan.

The original building, erected after the death of the founder's widow, stands just below the church, and is a structure of red brick with stone dressings, in the Jacobsan style, with stepped gables and lofty bay windows. The most interesting portion is the "Fourth Form Room," the original school-room of the founder; the oak panelling which | tra: the roof is vaulted in pitch-pine and is supported on surrounds the interior is completely covered with the carved names of former pupils, many of whom afterwards became distinguished men; the opposite wing formed "the Old Speech Room," erected about 1820 by Dr. Butler and others, at a cost of £10,000. The school buildings and pupils' residence formerly consisted of the master's house (the school), but the whole of the school-house is now devoted to the purposes of education and the pupils live in the residences of the head-master and of the various under-masters situated in the town. Several good houses have been erected during the past few years as residences for the under-masters and their pupils. The original architectural character of the school is rigidly adhered to in these modern erections and Harrow has now some fine specimens of the Elizabethan order. The school chapel, situated at the north end of the High street, is an edifice of flint and stone in the Decorated style, erected in 1854-5, from designs by the late Sir G. G. Scott R.A.; the former chapel, occupying the same site, was erected in 1839, previous to which the boys had attended divine service in the parish church: the present chapel has 23 stained windows, forming in part a memorial to the 21 officers educated here who fell in the Crimea. Near the chapel is the Vaughan library, a building in the Decorated style, erected in memory of Dr. Vaughan, head-master 1845-60, the foundation stone of which was laid by the late Viscount Palmerston in 1861: it contains a good library of 9,000 volumes, some relies of Harrow in days gone by and a series of portraits of headmasters and illustrious Harrovians. The Butler Museum, so named after Dr. Butler, is a high three-storied building, the two loves floors occupied as places rooms and the tronge. the two lower floors occupied as class rooms and the top as a museum, which contains Sir Gardner Wilkinson's valuable collection of Egyptian, Greek and Roman antiquities; also eastes from the Antique and a collection of fossi's illustrating the geology around Harrow. Among the eminent men educated at the school have been five premiers—Frederick John, Viscount Goderich (1827-8); George, 4th Earl of Aberdeen K.G., K.T. (1852-5); the Rt. Hon. Spencer Perceval (1809-12); the Rt. Hon Sir Robert Peel bart. 1834 and 1841; and Henry, Viscount Palmerston R.G. (1855-65), all pupils of Dr. Joseph Drury, head-master, and also Sheridan and Byron. There are now 526 boys, of whom 32 are on the foundation. A spacious speech room was erected in 1874-5, at a cost, inclusive of site, of about £20,000, from the designs of Mr. William Burges, architect: it is a semicircular building of brick with stone dressings in the Early Gothic style and contains tiers of benches rising one above another after the manner of an amphitheatre, the chord of the arc being occupied by a stage, serving also as an orches-

Near the Vaughan Library is the head master's house, s plain but substantial building of red brick, with mullioned windows.

The Sanatorium, erected in 1864, stands at Mount Park, a very beautiful and healthy locality. In 1874-5 a gymnasium, laboratories and Natural Science schools were built from the tercentenary fund raised in 1871. There are covered and open racquet and tennis courts below the school covered and open racquet and tenns courts below the school building, on the slope of the hill, beside football fields, the bathing place known as the "Ducker," and cricket ground, which was enlarged and improved in 1884.

The shooting for the silver arrow, instituted by the founder, and formerly taking place each year on August 4th, was abolished by Dr. Heath in 1771, and has not since been revived; a silver arrow is still preserved in the collections.

HARROW WEALD, a hamlet of Harrow-on-the-Hill, was constituted an ecclesiastical parish July 9th, 1845, and is about 112 miles from London, three-quarters of a mile north from Harrow station and 2½ miles north from Harrow town, in the Harrow division of the county, Gore hundred and petty sessional division, Hendon union, Watford county court district, and in the rural deanery of Harrow, arch-deaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The church of All Saints is an edifice of stone, in the Decorated style, consisting of chancel, nave of three bays, aisles, south porch and a turret on the south side containing one bell: the east and several other windows are stained: at the entrance to the churchyard is a cruciform lych gate of oak surmounted by a turret, erected to the memory of the Rev. Edward Monro M.A. twenty-two years vicar of this hamlet. The register dates from the year 1849. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £260, with residence, in the gift of trustees, and held since 1879 by the Rev. William Henry Peers M.A. of St. Catharine's College, Cambridge. The heights of the Weald on the common present some extensive and beautiful landscapes. Harrow Weald Park, the seat of Mrs. Sim, is a castellated structure, and in the park is a mineral spring.

HAVERSTOCK HILL is a suburb of London; under the "Redistribution of Seats Act, 1885," it forms part of the Metropolitan borough of Hampstead, and also under the "Local Government Act, 1888," is within the "County of London" as created by that Act; it is therefore not included in the Directory of the county of Middlesex, but is issued in a separate book.

HAYES, in Domesday "Hesa" (A. S. Haly, a hedge), is a parish and village, with a station r mile south from the village, on the main line of the Great Western railway, 3½ miles south-east from Uxbridge and 11½ from Oxford street, in the Uxbridge division of the county, Elthorne hundred, Uxbridge petty sessional division, union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Uxbridge, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. Water is supplied by the Rickmansworth and Uxbridge Valley Water Works Co. The church of St. Mary the Virgin is an ancient edifice of flint and rubble, in the Early English, Decorated and Perpendicular styles, and consists of chancel, nave of four bays, with clerestory, aisles, vestry, organ chamber, south porch of wood and an embattled tower at the west and containing a clock and 6 bells: the former altar-piece, a large oil painting, representing the "Adoration of the Shepherds," has been removed to the east end of the north aisle: the roof of the nave and chancel is of oak, waggon vaulted: the interesting south porch of oak is early 14th century work : the font is probably of the 13th century : the lych gate is peculiar, being exceptionally wide and the gate itself is single and works on a central pivot, similar to a turnstile: in the chancel is an altar tomb with effigy to Sir Edward Fenner kt. justice of the King's Bench, temp. James I. who died 23 Jan. 1611-12: in the north aisle is a Purbeck slab with the brass effigy of a knight in armour, and an inscription to Walter Grene, ob. 1423, and in the south aisle an altar tomb with brass effigies to Thomas Higate, ob. 1576, his wife and 9 children, with inscriptions; there are other memorials to the Rev. Samuel Spence, rector, d. 1730, and William Walker, astronomer, d. 1816: the stained east window was presented in 1876 by the wife of the present rector; other stained windows, chiefly memorials, have been erected to Sarah Elizabeth, wife of Edward Shackle esq. of Botwell House, d. 22 Dec. 1884, and to two of their children; also to Henry Edward Neild, capt. 45th (Derbyshire) Regiment, eldest son of Major-General H. J. T. Neild, d. 14 Nov. 1882; Harriet Mason, d. 6 Feb. 1885; Alfred Frnest Bowles, d. at Colorado Springs, U. S. A. 4 July, 1889; in the vestry is an interesting table of oak, richly carved and inlaid, with the initials "J. W." and the date, 1605: the chancel retains piscina and sedilia and an aumbry: the church is seated throughout with chairs for 450 persons. The register dates from the year 1557. The living is a rectory, gross yearly value £720, with residence, in the gft of the trustees of Mrs. Godding, and held since 1872 by the Rev. John Godding M.A. of Hertford College, Oxford. Hayes was given in 830 to the church of Canterbury. The Manor House, formerly the palace of Archbishop Cranmer. is now the residence of the rector: one of the rooms is panelled and has a lofty carved chimney piece, and the house contains other fine work, but was much modernized in 1862: the garden retains traces of a most and beyond it is an avenue of limes: Robert Wright, first warden of Wadham College, Oxford, and afterwards Bishop of Bristol (1622-32) and of Lichfield and Coventry (1632-43), was rector here at the beginning of the 17th century. Baptist and Congregational chapels. The principal charities are those of Dr. Triplett of $300 yearly, for educating and apprenticing children of this parish; the founder also left funds for exhibitions to scholars of St. Peter's College. ## HENDON, with CHILDS HILL, MILL HILL and GOLDERS GREEN.

HENDON (Hean-dune, high hill) is a parish and head of a | union, situated on the river Brent, over which is a bridge of one arch, and with a station I mile south from the village on the Midland railway, 3 miles north-north-west from Hampstead and about 7 from London, in the North Western Metropolitan postal district and under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan police, in the Harrow division of the county, Gore hundred and petty sessional division, Barnet county court district, and in the rural deanery of Harrow, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. parish is governed by a local board of 12 members formed in 1879, and is lighted with gas partly from works at Mill Hill, of the North Middlesex Gas Co. Limited, and partly by the Gas Light and Coke Co.; water is supplied by the West Middlesex Water Company, but in the highest parts of the parish by the Colne Valley Water Co. The church of St. Mary is an ancient editice of stone in the Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel with chapels, clerestoried nave of three bays, aisles, north transept, south porch and an embattled western tower containing 6 bells and a clock: the font is a large and remarkable work of the Early Norman period and has a square basin, ornamented on each side with interlaced arcading : in the north chapel is a very fine monument by John Michael Rysbrach, with semi-recumbent effigy, robed, to Sir William Rawlinson kt. serjeant-at-law, and a Commissioner of the Great Seal, ob. 11 May, 1703; there is another monument by Flaxman to Sir Charles Colmore kt. ob. 1795: in the south-east gallery is a memorial, recently restored, to Sir William Herbert K.B. first Baron Powis of Powis, d. 7 March, 1655, and many others of this family are here buried: the other monuments include those to Edward Fowler, Bishop of Gloucester, 1691, d. 26 Aug. 1714; Sir Francis Whichcote bart. d. 27 Oct. 1775, and others of this name; and Sir Coutts Trotter bart. d. 1838: others of this name; and Sir Coutts Trotter bart. d. 1838: there are 400 sittings: in the churchyard are buried Sir Joseph Ayloffe bart. the antiquary, d. 19 April, 1781; Nath. Hone R.A. d. 14 Aug. 1784; Jas. Parsons M.D., F.R.S. d. 4 April, 1770; Charles Johnson, dramatist, d. 11 Mar. 1748; and Edward Longmore, a giant, 7 feet 6 inches in height, d. 1777: here also are vaults belonging to the Lindsay family: an avenue of limes leads to the south doorway. The register of baptisms and burials dates from 1653; marriages, 1654.
The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £800, with residence, in the gift of Lady Howard De Walden, and held since 1876 by the Rev. Frederick Henry Ambrose Scrivener M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge, hon. D.C.L. Oxon, hon. LL.D. St. Andrew's and prebendary of Exeter. Christ Church, a chapel of ease to St. Mary's, situated at the corner of Brent street and Herriot road, was erected in corner of Drent street and Herrot road, was erected in 1881, the foundation stone being laid by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts: it is a building of stone in the Early English style from designs by Mr. Salter, architect, and consists of chancel, nave of four bays, aisles, north and south porches and a tower containing one bell: the church was completed in 1889 at a cost of about L6,000: there are 520 sittings, all free. Here is a Catholic church, dedicated to our Lady all free. Here is a Catholic church, dedicated to our Lady of Dolours, erected in 1865, with 250 sittings; a Baptist chapel, erected in 1886, seating 600 persons; a Congregational chapel, erected in 1855, at Brent street, with 600 sittings, and a Wesleyan chapel, erected in 1888, with 200 sittings. There is also a private lunatic asylum. There are ten almshouses, erected pursuant to the will of Robert Daniel, merchant, of London, in 1681, who bequeathed £2,000 for the purpose; they are endowed with 122 acres of freehold and at North Aston and 10 acres at Stoke Lynn, in Oxford land at North Aston and 10 acres at Stoke Lyne, in Oxfordshire, and were settled in this parish by a decree, enrolled in Chancery in the year 1/27; the almshouses, built by the consent of the lord of the manor, A.D. 1729, were repaired in 1853, and now accommodate nine poor persons, each of whom receives 7s. per week: the income of the charity, amounting to 190 yearly, is controlled by three trustees. A Volunteer Fire Brigade was formed here in 1866. The abbots of Westminster occasionally resided here in the early part of the 16th century at the old manor house, which stood per Church End, and here, it is said, Wolsey rested when on he way to York, after his disgrace. Hendon Place, a handsome mansion, consisting of a central block with wings, is situated in picturesque and undulating grounds, skirted by the river Brent, which has been widened so as to form a lake: in the grounds are some large cedars and other fine trees: the house is said to have been the residence of Queen Elizabeth. The Old Welsh Harp tavern, a great resort for pleasure seekers, adjoins the Brent reservoir, a sheet of water covering about 350 acres, which affords excellent boating and fishing and is close to the Welsh Harp station on the Midhad railway. The trustees of the late Arthur Hyde Dendr eq. are lords of the manor, and C. F. Hancock esq. James Marshall esq. Irwin Edward Bainbridge Cox esq. D.L., J.P. of Moat Mount, Mill Hill, Henry Manners Bishop esq. Mrt. Hodgson and All Souls College, Oxford, are the principal landowners. The soil is clay; subsoil, gravel and said. The area of the parish is 8,382 acres of land, principally grass land, and 139 of water; rateable value, £105,686; the population in 1881 was 6,972 and in 1881 was 10,484, including 96 in St. Margaret's Industrial school, 187 in the Workhouse and III in the Workhouse schools.

HESTON is a parish and village, a mile and a half north | from Hounslow and 11 from London, in the Brentford division of the county, Isleworth hundred, Brentford petty sessional division, union, and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Ealing, archdeaconry of Middlesex, and diocese of London. The Heston-Hounslow station of the Metropolitan District railway is about 11 miles south from the village. Heston and Isleworth form a local board district, which includes the town of Hounslow, where the board sits. The parish is lighted with gas by the Brentford Gas Company and supplied with water from the Grand Junction Water Works. The church of St. Leonard, rebuilt, with the exception of the tower, in 1866, is a building of stone in the Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel, nave of six bays, gabled north aisle, south aisle, south porch, and an embattled western tower, with angle turret, containing a clock and 6 bells: there are monuments to the Osterley and other families of the neighbourhood and brasses with effigies to Mardocheus or Mordecai Bownell, vicar, ob. 1581, and to Constance his wife, c. 1580, and to Richard Awnsham, parson ob. 1612; the east and west windows are stained: the churchyard is entered by a lych-gate of oak. The register dates from the year 1560. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £654, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1875 by the Rev. James Cohen M.A. of Pembroke College, Cambridge. The parish room, erected in 1880 and used for week-day evening services and lectures will hold 180 persons. The Workmen's Club or Westbrook Memorial is a building of red brick, erected in 1867 by Mrs. Westbrook, of Heston, as a memorial to her husband, Edward Westbrook, who died in 1864. Here are extensive brick works. A fair is held on the 1st of May. Osterley House, the seat of the Earl of Jersey P.C., G.C.M.G. situated north-west of Brentford, is a large rectangular mansion of red brick with square turrets at the angles, finished with ogee-shaped domical roofs; on the principal front is a lofty hexastyle pedimented portico, approached by a broad flight of steps, and within is a large open court; the building, erected on the foundation of the old house, was originally built by Sir Thomas Gresbam, founder of the Royal Exchange, who entertained Queen Elizabeth here in 1578: about 1655 it was sold, with the manor, to the famous Parliamentary general, Sir William Waller, and at a later period it became the property of Mr. Francis Child, the banker, who began the rebuilding of the house under the direction of Robert Adam, architect, a work completed by his brother William, the turrets however of Gresham's mansion being retained:

it now belongs to his descendant, the Earl of Jersey, Lady Sarah Sophia Fane, daughter of the tenth Earl of Westmorland and grand-daughter of Mr. Child, having married the fifth Earl of Jersey, grandfather of the present Earl: the hall contains a fine painting of the apotheosis of William the Silent, by Rubens; the gallery, 130 feet long, and the state rooms, also contain many good pictures, including family portraits; in 1879 the house was much damaged by fire. The park, which is extensive, contains a large late. The manor of Syon belongs to the Duke of Northumberland R.G. and that of Osterley to the Earl of Jersey. The Earl of Jersey is chief landowner. Sir Joseph Banks bart, R.B. P.R.s. and founder of the Linnman Society, lived at Smallbury Green in this parish; and died 19th June, 1820. Anthony Collins, of King's College, Cambridge, a deistical writer of the 17th century, was born here 21st June, 1676. The soil is chiefly brick earth. The crops are wheat, bay and garden produce. Heston is famous for its wheat, which, in for the royal table. HIGHGATE is a northern suburb of London and derives its name from the toll-gate which formerly stood where the North road entered the park of the Bishop of London, being situated on a range of hills 420 feet high, 5 miles from the General Post Office, partly within the ancient manor of Cantelows and partly in that of Hornsey, anciently called " Haringey," partly in the Hornsey division of the county and partly in St. Pancras parliamentary borough and parish and the Harrow division of the county, Ossulstone hundred, Finsbury petty sessional division, Clerkenwell county court district, and in the rural deanery of High ate, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London; it is within the jurisdiction of the Central Criminal Court and Metropolitan Police, and in the Northern Metropolitan postal district. The North road passes through Highgate hill by means of a deep cutting, over which is an archway, erected in 1813, 633 feet in height, of stone and brick and surmounted by iron railings, carrying the road to Crouch End, whence an extensive prospect of London is obtained. Here is a station on the Edgware branch of the Great Northern railway, and there is a tramway up Highgate hill, worked by a cable beneath the road. The place is lighted with gas by the Hornsey Gas Co. and the Gas Light and Coke Co. and supplied with water by the New River Company. That portion of Highgate which lies in Hornsey parish is included in the Hornsey Local Board district; it was formerly a chapelry and was formed into a separate ecclesiastical parish on Oct. 3, 1834, out of Hornsey and St. Pancras. The church of St. Michael, erected in 1832, in the place of the chapel at the "Gate House," an ancient hermitage granted to Sir Roger Cholineley, which had served for the whole place up to that date, is a building of white brick, in the Gothic style, consisting of chancel, nave of seven bays, aisles and an embattled western tower with pinnacles and spire containing a clock and one bell, which from its elevated position is visible for miles around: a bay was added and chancel formed in 1881: the nave was extended and the chancel rebuilt under the direction of the late G. E. Street esq. R.A. and new fittings were presented about the same time, in memory of former residents: the stained east window was erected in 1889 in memory of the late Rev. Daniel Trinder M.A. vicar, 1878-88, d. April 2, 1888: there are 1,300 sittings, of which 500 are free. The register of baptisms and burials dates from 1633; marriages, 1635. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £500, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1888 by the Rev. John Marshall Andrews A.K.C. St. Anne's ecclesiastical parish was formed out of St. Pancras in 1853: the church, Highgate rise, on the west of the district, erected in 1853 at the sole expense of Miss Barnett, in memory of her brother, is an edifice of stone, in the Gothic style, consisting of chancel with aisles, clerestoried nave of five bays, aisles, porches and a western tower with spire containing 8 bells, presented by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts: all the windows excepting those of the clerestory are stained : there are sittings for 700 persons. The register dates from the year 1854. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value 4,450, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1881 by the Rev. Charles Tabor Ackland MA. of Trinity College, Dublin. There is a mission room and house for the parish, erected in 1883, in Haydon street, Highgate New town, at a cost of £3,500. All Saints' ecclesiastical parish, at the northern extremity, was formed out of Hornsey in 1874: the church of All Saints, North hill, erected in 1864, is a building of stone in the Gothic style, consisting of chancel, nave, south aisle and a western turret containing one bell: there are 530 sittings, all of which are free. The register dates from the year 1874. The living is a vicarage, one bell: there are 530 sittings, all of which are free. The foot of Highgate hill, at its junction with the Archway road, register dates from the year 1874. The living is a vicarage, and locally in the parish of Islington: it was erected in net yearly value £300, derived from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1874 by the Rev. Edgar Smith B.A. of Brasenose College, Oxford. St. Augustine's, Archway road, at present incomplete, is a chapel of ease to All Saints: on Feb. 4, 1888, the Bishop of London consecrated the chancel, erected at a cost of  $\chi_4,000$ , and this is all as yet built; and the total cost will be about  $\chi_8,000$  or  $\chi_9,000$ . The St. Joseph's Retreat of the Catholic community of Passionist Fathers, or congregation of "Barefooted Clerks," was established here in 1858, on a commanding position on the crest of Highgate hill, when a little chapel was opened in October of that year, and the first dwelling of this missionary order was the old public house known as the "Black Dog, stood on the site now occupied by the present buildings comprising the retreat, opened Sept. 1, 1878: the success of the mission necessitated the erection of a large church in place of that opened in 1862, which succeeded the chapel of 1858: the new building, consecrated Nov. 21, 1889, and constructed at a cost of over £20,000, is of white brick and stone, and provides sittings for 800 persons: the nave has a waggon-headed roof, richly decorated and gilt, supported on arcades having red columns with carved stone capitals, and there is a loft for the organ and orchestra: the high altar is covered by a dome with a lantern surmounted with a gilt cross, which from its lofty position, being 125 feet higher than St. Paul's cathedral, is a very conspicuous object: the northern face of the building has a large rose window above the entrance and a cupola at the north-castern corner: Mr. Albert Vicars, Strand, London, architect: there are extensively wooded grounds around the buildings of the Retreat, extending down the slope of the hill. The Presbyterian church, situated in Cromwell avenue, opened in October, 1887, is a building of rag stone with tower and spire with clock, and has sittings for 750 persons. There is a Baptist chapel in Southwood lane, opened in 1809 and enlarged in 1867, with 350 sittings. There is a temporary iron Baptist chapel in Archway road; attached is a Sunday school. The Congregational chapel, South grove, erected in 1839, has cost, with subsequent improvements, £9,600: connected with the chapel and school is a Juvenile Clothing Club, Working Men's Association Clothing Society, Christian Instruction Society and a City Mission Auxiliary Society. The Unitarian chapel, on Highgate hill, is a red brick building, erected in 1895. The North London or Highgate Cemetery, situated on the brow of the hill just below the church of St. Michael, is about 40 acres in extent and commands a fine prospect of the metropolis; it has one mortuary chapel. The Smallpox and Vaccination Hospital, situated on Highgate hill, facing the south, was founded in 1746; on lungage int, tacing one south, was formed in 1740; the present building, erected in 1850, affords room for 103 patients. Cromwell House, a large mansion of red brick, said to have been built for Henry Ireton, the regicide, is now a convalescent home in connection with the Children's Hospital, Great Ormond street, London, and is available for the reception of <2 children. There is also a convales for the reception of 52 children. There is also a convales cent home for children in connection with All Saints' Mission The London Diocesan Penitentiary, situated on House. North hill, was opened in 1855 for the reception of 60 women, who are trained in religious principles and employed in laundry, sewing and domestic work, so as to fit them for any skind of domestic service, and on leaving are provided with suitable situations; the institution is supported by voluntary contributions and by the work of the inmates; visitor, the Lord Bishop of London.

The infirmary for the sick poor of the Holborn union, one of the largest of its kind in London, is situated nearly at the brick in the Domestic Gothic style, from designs by Mr. of London, who took possession May 19th, 1886, under the W. H. Saxon Snell F.R.I.B.A.: the buildings, occupying a provisions of the Highgate and Kilburn Open Spaces Act, triangular-shaped site, about 3 acres in extent, may be roughly described as consisting of a central block, including the administrative offices, flanked on either side by a pavilion or supplementary block, united to it by a covered corridor; in the rear of the main building and occupying one angle of the site are washhouses and laundry, and a mortuary and stables set round and partly inclosing a yard: the establishment is provided with accessory offices and is fitted with hydraulic lifts, in addition to the staircases; while a tramway, communicating with them, runs the whole length of the corridor: the kitchen, 60 feet long and 44 feet wide, is supplied with efficient ranges and other apparatus; adjoining it is a larder, and in the basement are general linen and other stores, and a store capable of holding 300 tons of coal: the hospital is arranged for the reception of about 625 patients.

Whittington College, situated in Archway road, was founded in 1410 by the famous Lord Mayor, Sir Richard Whittington, and was moved here from its original site at College hill, Upper Thames street, about the year 1818: it is now a Home for elderly ladies, each of whom has a residence and a monthly allowance: the buildings stand in recreation grounds: the inmates are nominated by the Court of Assistants of the Mercers' Company, who are the trustees of the Whittington estates: there is a chapel, of which the Rev. Arthur Currey M.A. of St. John's College, Oxford, has held the chaplaincy since 1872.

There are also almshouses, founded by Sir John Woolaston

knt. and rebuilt by Edward Paunceforth esq. governor of Sir Roger Cholmeley's school in 1722: these almshouses maintain 12 poor persons, and are under the management of the governors of Sir Roger Cholmeley's school.

Holly Village, erected by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, consists of twelve model cottages, ornamentally built. Holly Lodge is the residence of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts; Caen Wood Towers, Francis Reckitt esq. J.P.

Highgate, in addition to its healthy situation, has several open spaces, notably, Highgate Woods, a tract of delightful woodland, extending over 100 acres, divided into two portions by the Muswell Hill road, and within a short distance of the Wood, of about 55 acres, though not strictly as yet public property, has a footpath through it to Crouch End, and the outlook extends over Wood Green and Tottenham and the broad meadows of the Lee valley, to the Epping Forest, and the precipitous side of the hill is broken here and there by jutting knolls that command glimpses over the tops of the trees below and the dense tangle of various bushes, hazel and black birch, with small poplars, ash, alders, hornbeam and other coppice growth, intermixed with plenty of briars and ferns; the western half, known as Gravel Pit Wood, 69 acres in extent, has been presented by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners (who are owners of the other portion) for the benefit of the public, to the Common Council of the City

1886, and have undertaken to preserve the natural features; it is bounded on three sides by the Alexandra Palace branch of the Great Northern railway and this part of the woods is upon higher ground, the trees are generally larger, and there is an avenue of pollard hornbeam, a rare feature of woodland scenery; rustic seats are provided at intervals and a keeper's house has been erected.

Waterlow Park is nearer London, at the top of Highgate hill, between High street and Swain's lane, and was presented to the metropolis in November, 1889, through the London County Council, by Sir Sydney Hedley Waterlow kt. and bart. Lord Mayor, 1872-3, and comprises an area of nearly 29 acres of undulating land, well timbered with oak,old cedars of Lebanon, and many other well-grown trees and shrubs; the land (with the exception of 2} acres, held on a long lease) is freehold, and for the purchase of the freehold interest of the excepted portion, or for laying out the estate as a public park, the donor has annexed to his munificent gift a sum of £6,000. Lauderdale House, within the walls of this park, is an ancient mansion of brick, situated on a terrace approached by a flight of steps, belonged to John, and farl and 1st Duke of Lauderdale K.G. a prominent statesman in the reign of Charles II. and a member of the famous Cabal administration, and was for some time the residence of Nell Gwyn; the overhanging gabled front is supported on pillars, and the space below forms an open verandah; in front is a small fountain, and higher up the hill are shady walks leading up by rustic steps through a thickly wooded park, beyond which are the lawns and spreading cedars which surround Fairseat House, for many years the residence of Sir S. H. Waterlow; this is a large mansion of three stories in the French Renaissance style, one wing of which has a fine bay window of two stages and a bold mansard roof, the top of which is surrounded with an ornamental railing; in the grounds are two lakes, the lower and larger of the two having a boathouse, and from the park is well seen the dome of the church of the Passionist Fathers on Highgate hill, in the distance the greater dome of St. Paul's breaks the view, and in bright weather the glittering mass of the Crystal Palace is distinctly visible.

Parliament Hill fields, on the west of Highgate, and acquired in 1888 by the London County Council, virtually an extension eastward of Hampstead Heath, is a beautiful rising ground, skirted by the noble woods of Lord Mansheld's park, and from the elevated knoll commands a panoramic view embracing nearly the whole of London, with the Surrey Downs, Shooter's Hill in Kent, and the hills in Essex. At the foot of the hill are the Highgate Ponds, across which is a fine view from the slope of West hill.

The principal landowners are the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, the Earl of Mansfield K.T. and the Baroness Burdett-Coutts.

The area is 3,158 acres and the population in 1871 was 5.339, and in 1881, 8,548, but is now (1890) considerably more. The population of North Hornsey, including Highgate, in 1881 was 22,485.

HIGHGATE ROAD, a northern suburb of London, in St. Pancras parish, now, under the "Redistribution of Seats Act, 1885," forms part of the Metropolitan borough of St. Pancras, and also by the provision of the Local Government Act, 1888, is part of the "County of London;" it is not therefore given in the Directory of the county of Middlesex. but is included in a separate book.

HILLINGDON is an extensive and populous parish, bounded on the west by the river Coine, and situated on the road from London to Uxbridge, one mile and a half southeast from Uxbridge station, 2 miles from West Drayton stafrom London; the parish is intersected by the Grand Junction canal and is in the Uxbridge division of the county. Elthorne hundred, Uxbridge petty sessional division, union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Uxbridge, arch-deaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London; Hillingdon deaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London; Hillingdon surrounds the parish of Cowley, detached portions of which parish amounting to about 40 acres were added to Hillingdon under the "Divided Parishes Act," 1882. A great portion of the town of Uxbridge is in this parish. Hillingdon is supplied with water by the Rickmansworth and Uxbridge Valley Water Works Co. The church of St. John the Baptist, situated in the centre of the village on a commanding eminence, is a very fine edifice of flint, principally in the Early Decorated style, and consisting of chancel, with north aisle, transepts, nave, aisles, and a noble embattled western tower, containing a clock, 8 bells and one small bell: the east window is stained and there are eight other stained windows: in the chancel are two fine altar tombs of alabaster, one of in the chancel are two fine altar tombs of alabater, one of which has a canopy and beneath it kneeling effigies of a knight and lady and is inscribed to Sir Edward Carr kt. ob. 1636 and Jane, his wife, second daughter of Sir Edward Onslow; the other is to Henry, seventh baron Paget and first Earl of Uxbridge, ob. 1743, and has a semi-recumbent effigy in Roman costume: on the chancel floor are canopied effigy in Roman costume: on the chancel floor are canopied brasses of a knight and lady, supposed to represent John le Strange, eighth Baron Strange, of Knokyn, ob. 15 Oct. 1477, and Jaquetta, his wife, daughter of Richard Widville, Earl Rivers, this brass was placed in 1509, by Joan his daughter: the vestry contains a library attached to the church and left in 1721 by Mr. Reynardson, of the Cedar House: in the churchyard are buried John Rich, the actor, d. 1761, and Major-General Richard Russell, grandson of the Protector Cromwell. d. 1703: there are several mural tablets and floor Cromwell, d. 1793: there are several mural tablets and floor stones to the Newdegate family, mostly of the early part of the 18th century: the church was enlarged and restored in the years 1847 and 1848, under the direction of the late Sir G. Gilbert Scott B.A. when a new chancel with north aisle of two bays and transepts were erected, the nave lengthened and the aisles restored: a new organ and organ chamber were added in 1887 by subscription: there are 650 sittings. The register of baptisms and marriages dates from 1559: burials, 1549. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £650, including 250 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1869 by the Rev. John Harries Thomas M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge, and rural dean of Uxbridge. The cemetery, situated on the western side of the parish and fronting the road to Uxbridge, has an area of six acres and was purchased from the Hillingdon glebe at a cost of £1,500 and consecrated in 1867. There are two mortuary chapels of Kentish rag stone, with Bath stone dressings, in the Decorated style; it is under the control of a burial board of 9 members. Hillingdon is in the manor of Colham, of which William M. M. Whitehouse and Rafe Oswald Levester eq. of 6 Cheyne walk s ware lords. The principal landowners are Lord Hillingdon J.P. William The principal landowners are Lord Hillingdon J.P. William Capel Clarke-Thornhill esq. of Swakeleys, Uxbridge H. R. Cox esq. J.P., D.L. of Hillingdon House, and William Fane-De Salis esq. M.A., J.P. of Dawley Court. The soil is loamy; subsoil, gravel. The land in this parish is divided between pasture and arable, with a considerable quantity of orchard. The chief crops are wheat, beans, peas and fruit. The parish extends over 4,744 acres of land and 100 of water; rateable value, £44,729; the population in 1381 was 9,295, including 216 officers and immates of the Uxbridge Union house.

In 1882 a detached portion of this parish, known as the Cowley district, was ecclesiastically annexed to Hillingdon. GOULDS GREEN is a hamlet in Hillingdon parish, I mile south from that village.

PIELD HEATH and COLHAM GREEN are hamlets in Hillingdon parish; at Hillingdon Heath there is a parish room for working men's club and mission services; at the latter place is situated the poor-house of the Uxbridge Union and the Union Infirmary. For particulars of Union see Uxbridge Parish Clerk, James Hedges.

the Local Government Act, 1888, included in the "County of in the Directory of the county of Middlesex, but is given in London," created by that Act; it is not therefore included a separate book.

HOUNSLOW.

Hounstow is a town, situated on the Great Western road, to ! miles from Hyde Park corner, and was formed 16 Feb. 1836, into a consolidated chapelry out of Heston and Isleworth parishes: it is in the Brentford division of the county, Heston and Isleworth parishes for civil purposes, tounty, neston and Isleworth parishes for even purposes, Isleworth hundred, Brentford petty sessional division, union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Ealing, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The streets and adjacent roads are lighted with gas, and water is supplied from the Grand Junction works at Brentford.

The town is included in the Heston and Isleworth Local Board district; the board, formed in 1875, consisting of 18

There is a station here on a branch of the South-Western railway and one in the town on the Hounslow Metropolitan Company's line from Mill Hill, worked by the Metropolitan District railway company, the terminus being near the Barracks on the Bath road.

The church of the Holy Trinity, rebuilt in 1835, is an edifice of brick, in the Italian style, consisting of chancel, nave of five bays, aisles, west porch and a western turret containing a clock and one bell: the church was enlarged by the erection of a chancel in 1856, and was reseated and decorated and three stained windows added in 1880: there are sittings for 1,000 persons. The register dates from the year 1708, but is also partly incorporated in those of Heston and Isleworth. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £294, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1888 by the Rev. Thomas Harvey Th.A.K.C.L. The parish room, in Montague road, was built in 1887 at a cost of £600, raised by subscription.

St. Paul's ecclesiastical parish was formed out of the parish of Heston, by Order in Council, Feb. 10, 1871. The church, situated in Bath road, Hounslow Heath, was built in 1873-74, on a site presented by W. H. Taylor esq. at a cost of £6,000, and is an edifice in the Early English style, from the designs of Messrs. Habershon and Pite, consisting of chancel, nave of five bays, south porch, transepts, aisles, and a tower at the south-west angle, with lofty spire, reaching a height of 130 feet and containing a clock and 8 bells: the stained east window, illustrating the principal events in the life of St. Paul, was erected by William H. Ellis esq. to the memory of his mother, who died in 1879: there is a handsome reredos of stone, and the interior of the chancel is richly decorated with mural paintings: there are 550 sittings. The register dates from the year 1874. The living is a vicarage, tithe rent-charge $\( \alpha \) 100, and $\( \alpha \) 200 granted by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, with 3 acres of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1871 by the Rev. Alfred Ernest Bull B.A. late scholar of Emmanuel College, Cambridge, and chaplain to the forces at Hounslow barracks. The vicarage house was built at a cost of £1,600.

St. Stephen's is an ecclesiastical district formed by Order in Council, May 1, 1877, from the parishes of Isleworth and Heston. The church, situated in the Park Side and St. Stephen's roads, close to the London and South-Western railway station, was built in 1875-6, at a cost of £5,200, and is an edifice of red brick with Bath stone dressings, in the Early English style, from designs by Messrs. Habershon and Pite, architects, and consists of apsidal chancel, nave of four bays, with clerestory, transepts, aisles, baptistery, two vestries, south porch and a turret over the chancel arch, containing one bell: the pulpit, reredos and reading desk are all of Bath stone and Devonshire marble: the brass lectern and pulpit desk were given by the Sunday school teachers and scholars; there are five memorial windows in the chancel to the late Misses Gosling, of Whitton park; a stained window in the north transept, the gift of the architects, five in the north aisle, three memorial windows to the late Jason Gurney esq. of Hounslow, and two others to Mrs. M. A. Naylor, who gave £2,000 towards the building of the church; there are 713 sittings. The register dates from the year 1877. The living is a vicarage, with an annual endowment of £300 granted by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, gross yearly value £375, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1877 by the Rev. Henry Layton M.A. of Queens' College, Cambridge.

The Catholic Church, dedicated to SS. Michael and Martin, in Bath road, erected in 1886, is an edifice of red brick and will seat 300.

The Wesleyan chapel, in Bell road, a building of yellow brick with stone dressings, was erected in 1879, and has 700 sittings. Providence Baptist chapel, High street, erected in 1871, is a structure of red brick, and has 300 sittings. Zoar Baptist chapel, erected in 1860, seats 200 persons. The Congregational chapel, Hanworth road, erected in 1835, will seat 750 persons. The Primitive Methodist chapel is in Staines road; the Plymouth Brethren meet at the Victoria room, Hanworth road.

The Hounslow Consolidated Chapelry District Burial ground, situated on the Hanworth road, in the parish of Twickenham, and opened in 1868, is about 2½ acres in extent and has two mortuary chapels; it is under the control of a Burial Board of nine members.

The Town Hall was erected in 1857, from a design by Messrs. Nelson and Innes, at a cost of upwards of £3,000, the capital being raised by a Limited Liability company; here are the offices of the Heston and Isleworth local board, the Heston School Board and the Hounslow Burial Board. New offices for the Local Board were built in 1889, when also the Public Hall was enlarged so as to hold 700 persons, and a new stage with dressing and other rooms added at a total cost of £3,000.

The Odd Fellows' Hall, situated at the junction of Hanworth and Inwood roads, and erected in the year 1880, is a building of yellow brick with red brick facings, in the Italian style, and consists of a large hall, holding 700 persons, a club room, and a residence in the basement for the care-taker.

The Police Station, in Montague road, was erected in 1886.

The Dispensary and Cottage Hospital, situated in Bell road, and erected in 1881, is a structure of yellow brick with stone dressings and was built at a cost of about £1,400, defrayed principally by Mrs. Naylor, of Hounslow: there are male and female wards, each consisting of four beds, an accident ward and apartments for nurses. Out-patients are seen on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 4 to 5 p.m.: in 1889 there were 73 in-patients and 995 out-patients. The hospital is partly supported by endowment and partly by voluntary contribution.

The Hounslow Constitutional club, Orchard house, Hanworth road, was opened 1st May, 1889, and contains reading and news rooms, billiard, bagatelle, card, and committee rooms and lavatories. There are now (1890) 250 members.

The Workmen's Club and Institute, situated in Hanworth road, was built in 1881, and opened February, 1882; it contains bagatelle, news and smoking rooms and lavatories. and has a library of 600 volumes.

There is a local weekly paper, established in 1858, called the "Middlesex Chronicle," edited by Mr. G. J. Thomason. In the 13th century a priory of Mathurines or friars of the Holy Trinity, was founded here, the brethren of which occupied themselves in collecting alms for the redemption of captives; the present church of the Holy Trinity is believed to stand on part of the site of the priory chapel. The revenues at the Dissolution were estimated at £80 15s. of 1. yearly.

Fairs are held on Trinity Monday and the Monday after Michaelmas Day.

Westwards from Hounslow, stretching for 5 miles along the road, was Hounslow Heath, so notorious in the annals of high way robbery, and as recently as 70 years ago there were inginary toboty, and as recently as 70 years ago there were many gibbets on both sides of the road: Lord North was attacked, and his postillion wounded in 1774; two years later, Mr. Pitt's secretary, Mr. Northall, was killed in the presence of his wife and child; and about the same time Lord Berkeley shot an assailant, and so late as 1806, one Mr. Stelle was slain here by highwaymen: on this Heath Gilbert de Clare, the "Red Earl of Hertford and Gloucester" encamped in 1267, when leading the men of London against. Henry III.: Charles I. is said to have entrenched himself here in 1642, after the battle of Brentford; and in November of the same year the Earl of Essex mustered his forces on the Heath; Fairfax, in 1647, made it a general rendezvous, his army numbering about 20,000 men; Charles II. en-camped here in 1678, and in 1686 James II. assembled here a force of 13,000 men; and in the year following heard with anger the cheers of the soldiers on the acquittal of the seven bishops; Queen Mary (William and Mary) in 1690, reviewed her troops on the Heath, the Duke of Marlborough being present, and George III. frequently held reviews here also.

The cavalry barracks on Hounslow Heath, on the north of the Staines road, erected in 1793, are about one mile from

ICKENHAM is a parish, situated on the river Colne and the Yeading brook, 2½ miles east-by-north from Uxbridge, in the Uxbridge division of the county, Elthorne hundred, Uxbridge petty sessional division, union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Uxbridge, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The church of St. Giles is a small and ancient edifice of flint and brick, in the Early Decorated, Transition and Early Perpendicular styles, consisting of chancel, nave of two bays, wide north aisle, south porch and a small wooden belfry with a dwarf spire, containing 4 bells, dated 1582: at the eastern end of the south wall are two piscine: the font is Perpendicular: on the south side of the communion table is a brass to William Say, gent. "register to the Queen's Majesty in causes ecclesiastical," ob. 1582, with effigies of himself, wife and 16 children, and bearing heraldic escutcheons : opposite is a very fine brass with inscription, effigy and shields of arms to Edmonde Shordiche, ob. 1584, his wife and 3 children; the Shordiches were connected with this parish as lords of the manor, patrons, or rectors, for several centuries, until the advent of the present family of Clarke of Swakeleys at the end of the last century, and there are numerous mural tablets and floor stones to the members of both families: the church affords 200 sittings, and in the churchyard is a fine yew tree. The register dates from the year 1558. The living is a rectory, tithe rent-charge £40, gross yearly value £382, including 13 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the trustees of the late Thomas Truesdale Clarke esq. and held since 1859 by the Rev. Beauchamp Henry St. John Pell M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge. Here is a Converge attentione, 56; Arthur B. A lhimur, master gregational chapel. Swakeleys, now the residence of Mrs. Clarke, is a considerable domain, and includes a fine and picturesque mansion of red brick of the Late Tudor or Jacobean period, consisting of a central block with slightly projecting wings, terminating in bold oriel windows, rising through both stories; above the parapet rise a series of scrolled gables, finished with pediments, and at intervals are clustered stacks of chimneys; the principal entrance opens into a hall, paved with black and white stone, at the end of which is a carved screen adorned with royal an! other busts, and on one side a massive chimney piece, similarly ornamented; the oaken staircase has its walls and ceiling painted with various classical subjects: a fine gallery has been divided into three apartments: the attached grounds are well wooded, and intersected by a rivulet, from which a lake has been formed: the gardens are quaint and trim and include an avenue of elms, which fronts the house on the south side. Mrs. Clarke, William Capel Clarke-Thornhill esq. of Rushton Hall, Kettering, who is lord of the manor, and G. Hilliard esq. are the principal landowners. The soil is stiff clay: subsoil, gravel. The land is chiefly in pasture. The area is 1,454 acres; rateable value, £3,039; and the population in 1881, 376.

ISLEWORTH.

ISLEWORTH is a large parish on the left bank of the Thames, 9 miles from London, with a station on the London and South Western railway, in the hundred of the same name. Brentford division of the county, Brentford petty sessional division, union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Ealing, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London: it is a place of considerable antiquity, being mentioned in Domesday Book as "Gistelworde;" it was afterwards called "Yhistelworth," Istelworth" and, in Queen Elizabeth's reign, "Thistleworth," but for the last two centuries it has been spelt Isleworth. The civil parishes of Isleworth and Heston form a local board district, which includes the town of Hounslow, where the board sits.

The river Cran or Crane, which rises near Harrow, falls into the Thames here.

The parish is lighted with gas from works situated at Brentford, the property of the Brentford Gas Company, and supplied with water by the Grand Junction Water Works Company.

The parish church of All Saints, with its beautifully ivy-mantled tower, is a picturesque and conspicuous object from the river and is a building of stone, consisting of chancel, nave of six bays, aisles, south porch and an embattled western tower with crocketed pinnacles, containing a clock and 8 bells; the body of the church was rebuilt 1705, partly from the designs of Sir Christopher Wren, and in 1866 the church was restored and a large chancel added, which is richly embellished with mural paintings; the pews were also removed and open seats substituted : on the floor of the nave near the south side of the chancel arch are two beautifully

On whose sowle sweet Jesus have mercy;" the second is to "Catherine Cox, wife of Richard Cox, merchant taylor, who died in June, 1598, and left behind 2 sons and 2 daughters unto the said Richd. Cox, late deceased, a servant of God: "there is said Richil. Cox, late deceased, a servant of four tuere is also a monument, with bust, to Sir Orlando Gee kt. registrar of the Admiralty, d. 1705; others to Helena Magdalen, Countess de Randwick, a Dutch refugee, d. 1797; and George Keate F.R.s., F.S.A. poet, d. 27 June, 1797; and mural tablets to Col. Sir Richard Downton kt. 1711; and to Anne (Newton), wife successively of Henry Sesson, John Anne (Newton), wite successively of Henry Sesson, while Tolson, and Joseph Dash, merchant; she was a great benefactress to the parish and died in 1750, aged 89: here also was buried Richard Blyke, auditor of the Imprests and topographical editor for Herefordshire, d. 1775: there are topographical editor for Herefordshire, d. 1775: there are about 800 sittings. The register dates from 1566 and colatins the entry, in 1617, of the baptism of Dorothy Sydney, daughter of Sir Robert Sydney R.B. 2nd Earl of Leicester, and sister of the famous patriot Algernon Sydney; she was courted unsuccessfully by the poet Edmund Waller, who celebrated her as "Sacharissa," and eventually married Henry, Earl of Sunderland: at this church were married, 27 March, 1679, Henry Cavendish, Earl of Ogle, and Lady Elizabeth Percy, only surviving child and heiress of Jaceline Elizabeth Percy, only surviving child and heiress of Joceline 11th and last Earl of Northumberland and at Sion House, as 11th and last Earl of Northumberland and at Sion House, as recorded in the register, 8 June, 1775, Lord Algernon Percy, afterwards 2nd Lord Lovaine, was married to the Hon. Isabella Susannah (Burrell) sister of Lord Gwydyr. The living is a vicarage, tithe rent-charge £550, with half an acre of glebe and residence, in the gift of the Dean and Canons of Windsor, and held since 1888 by the Rev. Henry Pelham Stokes M.A. of Queen's College, Oxford, F.R.G.S. and chaplain of Brentford Union schools. Nicholas Byfield, a famous Puritan, was vicar here 1615-20; and Dr. William Cave, author of "Lives of the Fathers," was vicar 1690-1713, John Hall. martyr. 1534, and William Drake, scholar and anti-Hall, martyr, 1534, and William Drake, scholar and antiquary, d. 1801, were also vicars here.

St. John the Baptist's is an ecclesiastical parish, formed Feb. 6, 1857, from All Saints: the church in St. John's road, near the railway station, erected by subscription in 1857, on a site given by the late John Farnell esq. is an edifice in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave of four bays and aisles, north porch and an embattled western tower containing one bell; a sum of £2,000 towards the building of the church was left by a former Duke of Northumberland. The register dates from the year 1856. The living is a vicarage, yearly value by endowment £160, gross £250, with residence, built at the cost of the late John Farnell esq. in the gift of the vicar of Isleworth, and held since 1856 by the Rev. John Yarker s.c. L. of New Inn Hall, Oxford.

The iron church in the Northcote road serves as a chapel of ease to All Saints'.

There is also a Catholic chapel dedicated to the Immaculate Conception and St. Bridget, seating 250 persons; Congregational and Wesleyan chapels and a Meeting House for the Society of Friends.

The cemetery, situated in Park road, is about 6 acres in extent, and has 2 mortuary chapels in the Early English style; that on the Church of England side contains a stained east window presented by Mrs. Farnell Watson: it is under the control of a burnal board of 9 members.

The Brentford Union Workhouse, situated on the Twickenham road, is in this parish.

There are several almshouses, viz. Mrs. Sermon's, founded m 1849 by Mrs. Sarah Sermon, of Isleworth, for six women, each of whom receives £20 annually; Mrs. Tolson's, founded in 1756 and rebuilt in 1861 for six men and six women, each of whom receives 8s. weekly; Ingram's, founded in 1664 by Sir Thomas Ingram kt. for six women; Mrs. Mary Bell's, our momes ingram at. for six women; birs. Mary Bell's, for five women; and two for married couples, in addition to those built by Mr. Farnell, in 1860, for six men and six women; two almshouses were also erected and endowed in 1885 by Miss Elizabeth Butler, of Isleworth, for two aged

A two days' pleasure fair is held in the square, commencing on the first Monday in July, but has greatly declined.

Isleworth is celebrated for the quantity and quality of the fruit which it produces, a large portion of the land being cultivated as market gardens and nurseries.

The large flour mill of Messrs. S. Kidd and Co. Limited is worked partly by steam and partly by water power derived from an artificial cut from the Crane brook brought to Isleworth by the abbots of Syon for the use of their corn mill.

The Isleworth Brewery, belonging to a limited company, is a very extensive and complete establishment.

The extensive soap works of Messrs. A. and F. Pears and the cement mills of Messrs. Ashby and Son are also situated here.

Among the distinguished persons who have at various times resided here may be mentioned Sir George Calren kt. 1st Baron Baltimore, the original grantee of Maryland. d. 15 April, 1632; Sir Ralph Winwool kt. B.c.t. and ambas and or to Holland, d. 27 Oct. 1617; William Noy, attorney general and originator of the "Ship Money" tax. d. Aug. 1634; Rev. Samuel Clarke M.A. biographer, and some time incumbent of St. Benet Fink, London, d. 25 Dec. 1682: Charles (Talbot), 1st and only Duke of Shrewsbury and Marquess of Alton K.G. lord chamberlain and treasurer, and viceroy of Ireland, d. 1 Feb. 1718; Erengard Melasine (de Schulenberg), Duchess of Munster and of Kendal, A. May, 1743; William (Pulteney), Earl of Bath, the opponent of & Robert Walpole, d. 8 July, 1764; and the Rt. Hon. Richard Brinsley Butler Sheridan M.P., P.C. d. 7 July, 1816.

Syon House, the magnificent seat of the Duke of Northumberland R.G. was granted by Queen Elizabeth, together with the manor of Isleworth, to his predecessor in that title, Henry Percy, oth Earl of Northumberland R.G. and has descended through heiresses to the present proprietor: it is stuated in the eastern part of this parish and stands on the site of the Bridgetine convent of St. Saviour, St. Mary and St. Bride, founded in 1415 by King Henry V. the dedi-cation stone having been laid by the king in Feb. 1416; the foundation consisted of 60 nuns, 13 priests, 4 deacons and various other inmates of both sexes: Thomas Stanley, 201 Earl of Derby, was buried in this monastery in 1522: in 1532 it was suppressed, its revenues then being estimated at a sum equivalent in the present day to about £20,000:00 his death in 1547, the body of Henry VIII. was rested here on its way to Windsor Castle: and here, in 1541, Katherine Howard was detained previous to her trial and execution: Edward VI. gave it to the Lord Protector Somerset, on whose attainder, and subsequently that of the Duke of Northumberland, it reverted to the Crown, when Quen Mary restored those nuns who survived and were unmarried, but Elizabeth suppressed the numery a second time and granted it as stated above, upon which the society in 1594 transferred itself to Portugal and founded a new house on the banks of the Tagus, at Lisbon, where the nunnery still remains, although in 1861 the 12 English nuns of the community were received into a modern establishment at Spettisbury in Dorsetshire. Algernon Percy, 10th Earl of Northumberland K.G. thoroughly restored the structure, the work being carried out, it is said, under the direction of Inigo Jones: in 1665 Charles II. held his council here, on account of the Great Plague, and in 1692 the mansion was the residence of the Princess of Denmark (afterwards Queen Anne): William IV. visited it July 31. 1832, and again in June, 1833, when he was accompanied by Queen Adelaide. Syon House, as now existing, is much the same as it was left by the Protector Somerset, and forms a stately quadrangular pile, three storeys in height, with embaitled parapets and square battlemented towers at the angle, the whole being faced with Bath stone and inclosing a ganden court about 80 feet square: the principal front has a colonna le extending along the lower storey and in the centre a projecting bay rising to the full height of the house and forming the entrance, from which a flight of steps leads to the great hall, a spacious apartment, 66 by 31 feet, paved with black and white marble and richly ceiled in stucco: adjoining the hall is a fine vestibule, 34 by 30 feet, supported by twelve columns of "verde antique" marble, each of which cost £1,000: in the dining roun, 62 by 21 feet, are many family portraits by Reynolds and Lawrence, and other rooms contain examples of Vandyke, Lely and Kneller, some Dutch and Flemish paintings by Van Eyek and others, one of which, "The Raising of Lazarus," is especially curious: Landseer's "Deer Stalkers" is also here, a portrait by Albert Durer and works by other early German master: a gailery, 134 by 14 feet, extends along the whole are front and contains many objects of art: in the centre of this front, on a raised pedestal, is now placed the famous lion which for so many years surmounted the front of Northumberland House at Charing Cross, pulled down in 1874: the mansion is surrounded by extensive pleasure grounds, 75 acres in extent and partly skirting the Thames they were laid out by Lancelot ("Capability") Brown and contain some very ancient mulberry trees, one of which bears the date 1546, and a double avenue of limes, fine cedars and groups of cypress and acacia: the late Duke of Northumberland entirely remodelled the grounds, constructed an artificial rockery for the cultivation of Alpine plants, and built, from a design of Mr. Richard Forrest, a great range of plant houses, 400 feet in length, with a central dome by feet high: the whole garden is supplied with water from an artesian well 465 feet deep : in the kitchen garden, covering about 4 acres, are fruit houses of equal size; and spaking generally, the gardens of Syon may be regarded as among the finest in the kingdom.

Isleworth House, belonging to Mrs. McAndrew, is a fine old building, with large grounds adjoining the river.

the direction of the late G. E. Street esq. R.A.; the rood loft staircase remains in the south wall and the chancel retains an Early English piscina; here also, on the north side, is a canopied altar tomb in the Renaissance style, elaborately wrought and bearing the initials R.H.: another and similar tomb, of Csen stone, also canopied, bears the recumbent effigy of a knight in armour, of the Frowyk family, who formerly resided in this parish, and there are brasses with effigies to Thomas Frowyk esq. ob. 1448, Elizabeth his widow and 19 children, with an inscription in Latin verse; and others with inscriptions and shields of arms to Henry Frowyk and to Roger Hodsden, ob. 1606, Jone his wife and to children:
the font is Early English: the church will seat about 450 persons. The register dates from the year 1558. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £260, with residence, in the gift of the trustees of the latelW. Parker Hamond esq. of Pampistord Hall, Cambs, and held since 1890 by the Rev. William Henry Wood. The Marquess of Salisbury K.G. is impropriator of the great tithes. Christ Church is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1852: the church, situated in the New road, near Barnet, was erected by the late Captain John Trotter, of Dyrham Park, and is a building of flint, with quoins and dressings of stone, in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave of three bays, south aisle and south porch, with a turret at the west end containing one bell: there are 700 sittings, of which 200 are free. The register dates from the year 1853. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £260, with residence, in the gift of the Rev. Mowbray Trotter M.A. rector of St. Mary-de-Crypt, Gloucester, and held since 1877 by the Rev. Hy. Joy Browne M.A. of Caius College, Cambridge, and chaplain to the Marquis of Sligo and to the Worshipful Company of Leather Sellers. Here is an obelisk, commemorating the battle of Barnet, with the following inscription: "Here was fought the famous battle between Edward IV. and the Earl of Warwick, April 14th, 1471, in which the Earl was defeated and slain. This was erected in 1740, by Sir Jeremy Sambrook." The obelisk has, however, been moved from the place where it was first set up and has never correctly marked the true site of the conflict. There are five almshouses for women, built by John Howick Howkins and others and partly endowed with £350 yearly, derived from Wrotham Park and other sources; each immate receives 30s. and a ton of coals yearly: the charity is managed by the vicar and churchwardens. The Brewers' almshouses, founded in 1687 by James Hickson and removed in 1856 by the Brewers' Company, who are the trustees of the charity, from Kitt's end, between Dancer's Hill and Hadley, to their present site, near the church, afford room for six widows, each with an allowance of seven shillings per week and two tons of coal yearly: the Brewers' Company also give in addition underclothing and material for gowns. In Union street, Chipping Barnet, are 19 almshouses, founded in 1838 by Richard Thornton esq. master of the Leathersellers' Company, for 19 families, with an endowment of £36 yearly, each inmate receiving 18s. per week and two tons of coal yearly. The 2nd Royal Middlesex Militin, forming the 7th Battalion King's Royal Rifle Corps, have their stores and barracks here. The market, granted by a charter of Henry II. and revived April 16th, 1851, is held on the premises connected with the Green Man inn, High street, Barnet. Wrotham Park, the seat of the Earl of Strafford, is a handsome mansion, situated in a well-wooded park of about 250 acres. Dyrham Park, the seat of Lieut.-Col. Frederick Trotter J. P. is a large rectangular mansion in the Classic style, built by Mr. John Trotter at the beginning of the present century and standing in a park of about 170 acres, through which flows a small stream. The register dates from room with vestry, erected in 1881. The register dates from the year 1842. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value room with vestry, erected in 1001. And register dealers with year 1842. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £336, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1876 by the Rev. Ernest Peter Cachemaille M.A. of Caius College, Cambridge. Here are almshouses stuated in Page's lane, erected by Madame Uzielli, in the year 1861, for 5 poor persons. The Alexandra Palace, an extensive building covering 7½ acres, after being opened with great ceremony on May 24th, 1873, was entirely destroyed by fire in an incredibly short space of time on the 9th June following: but another palace was erected on the same site following: but another palace was erected on the same site and opened on May 10th, 1875: this forms a parallelogram, with towers at the angles and a transept or central hall, 380 feet long and 180 feet wide, containing a large organ; the building comprises also a theatre, concert room, conservatory, picture galleries and a railway station, and is situated on the summit of a hill, surrounded by about 200 acres of grass land, studded with noble trees, while the immediate a racecourse with grand stand, bicycle track, cricket ground, American trotting track and several ornamental lakes; races are still periodically held here, but the building itself is not utilized; the whole is the property of the London Financial Association; offices, I Drapers' gardens. Thre-morton street B c. There are some fine views from the upper part of Muswell Hill, particularly from the Grove, which is memorable as having been visited by Dr. Johnson; the grounds were laid out by his favoured companion and coliterate, Topham Beanclerk, the celebrated wit, and one of the walks still retains the name of Dr. Johnson's Walk, where are some fine oaks, Scotch firs and an immense chestnut. A cottage at the foot of the hill was the residence of Thomas Moore, where it is stated he wrote, about 1817. his poem "Lalla Rookh;" and was previously the abode of Abraham Newland (cashier of the Bank of England) (1730-1807) whose signature on bank notes made his name widely known. Miss Annie Jane Barbara Moore, a daughter of the poet, is buried in the churchyard. The population of the parish in 1881 was 1,657.

vicarage, endowed with the great tithes, of the yearly value of £682, with glebe and residence, in the gift of Brasenose College, Oxford, and held since 1881 by the Rev. George Edmundson M.A. of Brasenose College, Oxford. The valley on the north-west is remarkable as containing, at so short a distance from the metropolis, but two or three habitations in several square miles: it was formerly the scene of several skirmishes, both in the Wars of the Roses and during the period of the Civil War. Charles Lancelot Shadwell esq. lord of the manor, and Lord Hillingdon are principal landowners. Iselips Manor, situated in the centre of the village, is the residence of George Harris esq. LL.D., F.S.A. The soil is clay; subsoil, clay. The land is entirely in grass for hay and pasturage. The area is 2,217 acres of land; rateable value, £4,963; the population in 1881 was 496.

PONDER'S END is a hamlet in the parish of Enfield, with a station on the Great Eastern railway, situated on Ermine Street, the Roman and modern highway to the morth-east, now known by the name of the Lower North road, 83 miles north from London by road and adjoining Enfield Highway and the navigable cut of the river Lee: it is in the Entield division of the county, hundred, petty sessional division, union and county court district of Edmonton and in the rural deanery of Enfield, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The church of St. Matthew, built in 1878 as a chapel of ease to St. James', Enfield Highway, is an edifice of stone in the Early English style, consisting of nave, north aisle, north porch and a western turret containing one bell: there are 388 sittings, ag4 of which are free. The baptismal register dates from the year 1878. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £200, in the gift of the vicar of Enfield, and held since 1890 by the Rev. Arthur John Noakes M.A. of Christ's College, Cambridge. There are Courage time. Beatter and Western Cambridge. There are Congregational, Baptist and Wesleyan chapels. Durance (or Durants Arbour), situated between Ponder's End and Green Street, an ancient manor and seat, a quarter of a mile north-east, belonged, in the reign of Edward I. to a family of that name; the family of Wrothe, which became extinct on the death of Sir Henry Wrothe kt. in 1673, resided here for eleven generations, a period of about 310 years, having inherited the property by the marriage of John Wrothe with the heiress of the Durants in the 13th century. The notorious Judge Jeffreys, whose daughter Margaret married William Stringer, a later owner, sometimes visited here. The manor of Suffolks, held in the 15th century by Sir R. Parr kt. is situated here: it forms part of the district of St. James', a large and rapidly increasing division, comprising Ponder's End, Enfield Highway, the Royal Small Arms Factory and Freezy Water. The works of the Edison and Swan United Freezy Water.

Electric Light Co. Limited, situated here, on the banks of the river Lee, cover an area of nearly 12 acres and give employment to 650 hands. The district contains a population of more than 9,000, upwards of 1,000 of whom are employed in the Small Arms Factory.

POTTERS BAR, deriving its name from an ancient bar on Enfield Chase, is a village on the Great North road, 3 miles north from Barnet and 14 from London, with a station on the Great Northern railway one mile west from the village: it is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1836 from the civil parish of South Mimms, in the Enfield division of the county, Edmonten hundred, South Mimms petty sessional division, Barnet union and county court district sessional division, Barnet union and county court district and in the rural deanery of Enfield, archdeaconry of Middle-sex and diocese of London. The village is lighted with gas and supplied with water by the Barnet Gas and Water Company, whose works are situated at New Barnet, the water being derived from wells sunk in the chalk. The church of St. John is an edifice of white brick in the Norman style, consisting of chancel, nave and a western tower, containing one bell: it was erected in 1835, chiefly at the expense of George Byng esq. late of Wrotham Park, and M.P. for Middlesex, d. 1789, to whom there is a monument in the chancel: at the east end of the church are three stained windows, erected by the late Lady Jane Thynne to Mere Byng and to the two daughters of Housia Kennika. Mrs. Byng and to the two daughters of Horatio Kemble esq. J.P. of Oakmere: there is a monumental tablet by Noble to John, 1st Earl of Strafford, who died 3 June, 1860. The register dates from the year 1835. The living is a vicarage, Henry Deane M.A. of St. John's College, Oxford. There is also an iron church at Little Heath, erected in the year 1874, at the sole cost of the Rev. Henry George Watkins

RUISLIP is a village and parish, 15 miles from London, 4 north-east from Uxbridge station on the Great Western railway, 4 south-west from Pinner station of the L. and N. W. railway and 21 south-west from the Pinner station of the Metropolitan railway, in the Uxbridge division of the county, Elthorne hundred, Uxbridge petty sessional division, union and county court district and in the rural deanery of Uxbridge, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The parish is supplied with water by the Colne Valley Water Co. from their works at Bushey. The church of St. Martin is an edifice of flint, chalk and stone in the Decorated style, consisting of chancel, embattled nave of six bays, aisles, western porch and a lofty embattled tower at the west end of the south aisle containing a clock and 8 bells: in 1853 some very curious paintings of the 15th century were discovered, one of which, on the wall at the east end of the north aisle, represents St. Michael weighing souls, with the Virgin crowned standing by; above the nave arcade is a series of paintings probably illustrating the life of St. Martin; and there are other paintings in the chancel and over the north door, as well as in the south aisle: the church contains nine stained windows; the east window is a memorial to Ellen Catherine Baker, d. 1869; the west window was given by the Rev. C. Packe, late vicar, to commemorate the restoration of the church; the four in the south aisle are recipients of parochial charities, most regularly attend service at church. This charity, now (1890) producing about £16 yearly, is distributed by the churchwardens after Easter: Mrs. Charlotte Howard gave £160 Consols, the interest of £100, to purchase every Christmas Eve 2 lbs. of beef and a quartern loaf for each 25 poor families of Eastcote and the interest of £60 to purchase 6 pairs of blankets for 6 poor families on every New Year's day: Jeremiah Bright's gift, left in 1697, consists of 2s. weekly for bread for the poor, which is distributed every Sunday morning by the vicar. There are to church houses supposed to have been built about 1730 by Mary, wife of Sir Thomas Francklyn bart. of Moor Park, Herts, daughter of Ralph Hawtrey esq. of this place, and widow of Christopher Clitherow esq. of Pinner: they have no endowment, but Lady Francklyn left in her will £100, the interest of which was to be given annually on St. Thomas' day in clothing to the tenants. Ruislip Park is 40 acres in extent: the house is at present occupied by George B. Kent esq. At the back of Ruislip Park Wood, a favourite resort of fox hunters, is a reservoir belonging to the Regent's Canal (Grand Junction) Company, frequented by anglers, and covering a space of 80 acres. The chief landowners are the Provost and Fellows of King's College, Cambridge, who are lords of the manor, Lord Ebury, Daniel Notton esq. of Lee, Kent; F. H. M. The parish is in tion of Norwood parish, Sept. 17th, 1880. The parish is in the Brentford division of the county, Brentford petty sessional division, Uxbridge union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Ealing, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. Southall Green is a quarter of a mile from Southall station, on the Great Western with gas by the Brentford Gas Company, and a drainage system was completed in 1889 at a cost of £30,000. church of St. John, situated at Southall Green, is an edifice on brick and stone, erected in 1838 by the late Thomas Honry Dobbs esq. and consists of chancel, nave, eastern porch and a small beliry at the east end, containing one bell. The register dates from the year 1850. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £ 120, in the gift of five trustees, and held since 1879 by the Rev. John Jackson M.A. of Corpus Christi college, Cambri Ige, and chaplain of St. Marylebone railway, 94 from Oxford street and 64 south-east from Ux schools, Southall. The Southall, Southall Green, Norwood, bridge. The place is supplied with water from the mains of the South West Suburban Water Works Company, and in Havelock road, Southall, and controlled by a burial board of 9 members. Here are the steam flour mills of Mr. Alfred Robinson. The Earl of Jersey p.c. is the principal landowner. The soil is chiefly brick earth; subsoil, gravel. The crops are wheat, hay and garden produce. The population of are wheat, hay and garden produce. The population of Southall and Southall Green in 1881 was 3,784, which includes 480 in the St. Marylebone workhouse schools.

Southall is a hamlet with the privileges of a market, in the precinct of Norwood, with a station on the main line of the Great Western railway, 9 miles from Paddington, and is also the junction for the Brentford branch of the same system. Holy Trinity church, in the Uxbridge road, is a temporary building of iron erected by the Ealing Ruridecanal Association; the Rev. Henry Mills M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin, being curate in charge; but a permanent church is now (1890) being erected, at a cost of £3,500; it is an edifice of brick and stone, consisting at present of chancel and nave only, leaving the tower with spire, north aisle and vestry room to be added at some future time. Wesleyan chapel, in the South road, erected 1859, will hold 300 persons. The Baptist temporary iron chapel, Western road, erected in 1889, will seat 240. The chemical works of Messrs. W. Houlder, Son and Co. are situated here. The Southall Park Private Lunatic Asylum was destroyed by fire in August, 1883, when Dr. Boyd, his son William, and four other inmates lost their lives; only the ruins and part of the kitchens now remain. A large market, granted by Charter of William III. in 1698, is held here weekly for cattle arriving by railway, Wednesday being the market day. Dormans Wells is half a mile north-east. The manor house, an ancient half-timbered mansion, is a fine example of the domestic architecture of the Elizabethan or Jacobean period, and was formerly the seat of the Awsiter family; it consists of a centre with gabled wings, one of which has an oriel rising through both stories, and the other two windows carried on brackets; two smaller gables project from the centre, one of which forms an oriel rising to the roof, and the other serves as a porch with a room over it: the house is now occupied by W. F. Thomas esq.

SOUTHGATE and PALMER'S GREEN.

Southeate is a village and parish, and was formed as a district chapelry out of Edmonton parish Aug. 29, 1851: it takes its name from having been the southern entrance to Enfield Chase, and is situated 8 miles north from London and has a station at Palmer's Green, I mile south on the Enfield branch of the Great Northern railway: the parish is in the Northern Metropolitan postal district, Enfield division of the county, hundred, petty sessional division, union and county court district of Edmonton, rural deanery of Enfield, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London and in the archaeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London and in the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan police. In 1881 the parish was constituted a local government district out of Edmonton, under Acts 44 & 45 Vict. c. 155, the board consisting of nine members. The district is lighted with gas by the Colney Hatch Gas Co. and the sewage, with that of Edmonton, is treated at Deephams farm of 200 acres, on the principle of irrigation. Water is supplied by the New River Coupany. Christ Church, erected in 1862, is a handsome Company. Christ Church, erected in 1862, is a handsome building of stone, in the Early English style, from designs by the late Sir G. G. Scott R.A. consisting of chancel with aisles, nave of five bays with clerestory, aisles, north porch and a tower on the north side with spire and containing a clock and 8 bells; the tenor bell was given by Mrs. George, of Cannon Hill, in memory of her son Arthur: the lower stage of the tower forms a porch: there is a mosaic reredos representing "The Last Supper:" the stained east window is a memorial to Vincent Figgins, d. 21 Dec. 1860, and was inserted by his wife; the west window is a memorial to John Lutwyche, eldest son of John and Agnes George, d. 7 May, 1842, and Agnes Elfrida, their only daughter, d. 4 Feb. May, 1842, and Agnes Elfrida, their only daughter, d. 4 Feb. 1869, and was placed by their brother, Arthur George: this church takes the place of the old Weld chapel, a plain edifice of brick, erected by Sir John Weld kt. of Arno's Grove, in 1615. The registers, dating from about 1810, are partly included in those of Edmonton. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £450, in the gift of the vicar of Edmonton, and held since 1858 by the Rev. James Baird M.A. of Queens' College, Cambridge. There is a Baptist change and a Weslevan mission house at Southpate. chapel and a Wesleyan mission house at Southgate.

A cemetery of 4 acres was consecrated 7 August, 1880, by Dr. Jackson, late Bishop of London; it is under the control of a Burial Board of six members, the vicar being Frederic Walker, late of Southgate, who died chairman. in Dec. 1889, left £1,000, the interest for the poor of the parish. The Village Hall, erected in the High street in 1883, parish. The Village Hall, erected in the High street in 1883, by the Vicar and Mrs. Baird, for philanthropic and benevo-lent purposes, is a substantially built edifice of brick with stone dressings, in the Gothic style, from designs by Mr. A. R. Barker, architect, and will hold 400 persons. A reading room with library and recreation room, was erected in 1889 at a cost of about £1,200, raised by public subscription, and is supported by subscribers; the library contains 2,000 volumes. Beggar's Bush fair, held at Cathol Gate, leading to Northall, was granted by King James I. Sir William Michael Curtis bart. of Caynham Court, Ludlow, is lord of the manor. The principal landowners are Vyell Edward Walker esq. Major R. K. Taylor and Samuel Sugden esq. The population of Christ Church district in 1881 was 2,821.

NEW SOUTHGATE is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1873 out of the parishes of Southgate, Friern Barnet and Edmonton, extending to Hertfordshire, 62 miles from London, in the Enfield division of the county, Edmonton petty sessional division and in the Northern Metropolitan postal district. The New Southgate and Friern Barnet station on the Great Northern railway is in this parish and has re-cently (1890) been rebuilt. The church of St. Paul, erected in 1873, is a building of stone in the Early English style, from designs by the late Sir G. Gilbert Scott R.A. and consists of a chancel, nave of four bays with clerestory, aisles, vestry and a turret on the south-east containing one bell: there are a turret on the south-east containing one bell: there are sittings for nearly 700 persons. The register dates from the year 1873. The living is a perpetual curacy, yearly value about £300, with residence, in the gift of the vicar of Christ-Church, Southgate, and held since 1883 by the Rev. Isaac Bowman M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge. The Union Congregational and Baptist chapel in the London road, opened in 1865 at a cost, including the land, of £1,300, contains sittings for 310 persons. The Clock and Watch Makers' Asylum, erected here in 1857, is supported by voluntary contributions, and consists of 21 houses, including one for At New Southgate are works of the New River the warden. At New Southgate are works of t Company. The population in 1881 was 3,006.

Bowen John, builder, Thornbury road STAINES is a union town and parish, situated on the banks of the river Thames, where the Coine falls into it, and on the Great Western road, with a station on the Windsor branch of the London and South Western railway: the Great Western railway have also a branch from West Drayton, with a terminal station here, opened in Sept. 1885, 19 miles from London and 6 south-east from Windsor, in the Uxbridge division of the county, Spelthorne hundred and petry sessional division, Chertsey county court district, rural deanery of Hampton, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. The distance from Staines Bridge to London Bridge by land is 20 miles, and owing to the cirmitons course of the Thomas of the water. A bandsome London Bridge by land is 20 miles, and owing to the circuitous course of the Thames 34 by water. A handsome stone bridge, erected in 1832, at a cost of about $L70,000$, and opened by William IV. and Queen Adelaide, connects and opened by William IV. and Queen Adelaide, connects is not incorporated, but is under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan police and is governed by a local board of 12 members, formed in 1872. The town and neighbourhood is supplied with water, derived from the chalk, by the South-West Suburban Water Company, formed in the year 1883, the works being at Egham, and is lighted with gas by a company. Staines is said to derive its name from the boundary stone, dated 1285, standing in a meadow above the bridge, marking the ancient jurisdiction of the City of London over the western portion of the river Thames. This memorial was repaired in 1781, during the mayoralty of Sir Watkin Lewis kt. and placed on a pedestal raised on three steps; the pedestal placed on a pedessar laised on three steps; the pedestal bears the names of various Lord Mayors who have visited the spot. The church of St. Mary the Virgin, which oc upies the site of the ancient church, built in 575, was erected (with the exception of the tower) in 1828, and is an edifice

Prince Regent: the interior was restored in 1885, the chancel extended and its roof raised: in the chancel are three stained windows, one of which was presented by the late Emperor Frederick III. of Germany and the Empress Emperor Frederick III. of Germany and the Empress Frederick, in memory of Miss Byng: there are 720 sittings. The register dates from the year 1692. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £450, with residence in the gift of the Lord Chancellor, and held since 1873 by the Rev. John Hopkins Armstrong M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin. The proprietary church of St. Peter, Edgell road, is an iron building; it was opened on St. Peter's day, 1885, and will seat 400 persons. The living is a vicarage, gross vearly seat 400 persons. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £160, in the gift of trustees, and held since 1889 by the Rev. George Villiers Briscoe. Here is a Congregational chapel, seating 350 persons; Baptist, built in 1837; Wesleyan chapel, erected in 1890, and seating 532 persons, and a new Wesleyan chapel in the Kingston road, with a tower and spire, erected in 1839-90, at a cost of £4,000; and a Primitive Methodist chapel, erected in 1878, to hold 130; the meeting house of the Society of Friends, in the High street, was built about 1842, and will seat 200. The cemetery, comprising 1A. 2B. and 27P. was consecrated July, 1880, and adjoins the churchyard: it is under the control of the local board of 12 members. Two yearly fairs are held, one on the 11th of May, for horses and cattle, and the other on the 19th of September for onions and toys. The Town Hall, situated in Market square, and erected in 1880-1, is a building of white brick with Beer stone dressings, surmounted on the north front by a turret containing a chime clock with three illuminated dials : the large hall is 72 feet long, 45 feet wide and 32 feet high, and has a raised stage and gallery; the building also contains local board and surveyor's offices, and over these the board room; the rest of the building comprises dressing, retiring and waiting rooms, with layatories and caretaker's apartments. There are two banks, viz. that of Messrs. Thomas Ashby and Co. and a branch of the London and Provincial Bank Limited. The brewery of Messrs. Charles Ashby and Company Limited, the brewery of Thomas Fladgate Harris, the Linoleum Manufacturing Co. and the mustard mills of Messrs. Finch, Rickman and Co. afford employment for many persons. There are two weekly newspapers published here, the Middlesex and Surrey Express and the West Middlesex Times. The H Company of the 2nd Volunteer Battalion Duke of Cambridge's Own Middlesex Regiment are stationed in the There are several charities and gifts in connection with this parish, distributed in money, bread, meat and coals, varying in amounts. Staines was identical with the Roman station "Ad Pontes," and various remains of the Roman period have been met with in the vicinity, as well as axe-heads and other relics of an earlier date.

RUNNYMEDE. - In the immediate neighbourhood, but in the parish of Egham, Surrey, is the place where the barons assembled to force the great charter from King John, which was signed on the 12th June, 1215, on a small island, called "Magna Charta Island," opposite Ankerwyke. Duncroft House, on the site of an ancient building, in which King John is said to have slept the night after he signed "Magna Charta," is situated near the church; it is a picturesque mansion in the Elizabethan or Early Jacobean style, with some fine oak chimney pieces; it once belonged to Lord Cranstoun and is now occupied by Frank John Mié-ville esq.

Miss Tayler, who is lady of the manor, and the Rev.

Edgell Wyatt-Edgell B.A. of Stanford Park, Rugby, are the principal landowners. The Pack Horse hotel, pleasantly situated on the river bank, is much patronised for boating and fishing. The commons in Staines of 350 acres are now subject to the Metropolitan Commons Act, 1866 and 1869. and a scheme has been sanctioned for their management. The soil is alluvial; subsoil, gravel. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats, turnips and beans. The area is 1,769 acres of land and 74 water; rateable value, £28,814; the population in 1871 was 3,659, and in 1881 4,638.

YEOVENEY is a manor in this neighbourhood, I mile northwest and was anciently a chapelry attached to Staines, but no remains of the chapel now exist. Hammonds, I mile north, Duncroft, Shortwood Common, half a mile east. and WITHYGATE FIELD, 2 miles south-east on the road to Sumbury, are other places.

STAMFORD HILL, in the parish of St. John, Hackney, | within the County of London, created under that Act; it is now, under the "Redistribution of Seats Act, 1885," forms part of the Metropolitan borough of Hackney, and also under the provisions of the "Local Government Act. 1888,"

GREAT STANMORE is a parish and village, situated on the road from Edgware to Watford, 10 miles from London, 2 west from Edgware station on the Great Northern railway and 3 miles from Mill Hill station on the Midland railway. The London and North Western railway are now (1890) constructing a branch line to this place from Harrow which will shortly be opened for traffic. The parish is in the Harrow division of the county, Gore hundred and petty sessional division, Hendon union, Watford county court district, rural deanery of Harrow, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London: the village is about a mile in length and is built on the slope of a hill about 500 feet high, leading to Bushey Heath, the summit of which commands extensive views of the hills in Surrey, with the vale of Middlesex and the valley of the Thames intervening, and on the north the equally beautiful vale of Hertfordshire. It is lighted with gas from works situated at Stanmore Marsh, the property of the Stanmore Gas Company Limited, and supplied with water by the Colne Valley Water Company. The parish, situated 280 feet above the sea level, is said to be very healthy. The church of St. John the Evangelist was built at a cost of £8,000, raised partly by subsc iption, and was opened on the 16th July, 1850; it is an edifice of stone in the Decorated style, from designs by Mr. Henry Clutton, architect, consisting of chancel, with south aisle, nave of four bays, aisles, south porch and a lofty tower at the northwest angle, containing a clock and 6 bells, removed from the church of Little Stanmore in 1720: the stained east window is a memorial to Queen Adelaide; and there are others, one of which was erected to the Lady Harriet Howard, d. 16th December, 1846 and to the Lady Isabella Howard, d. 16th September, 1845, daughters of William, 4th Earl of Wicklow E.P.: the church has been decorated with mural paintings and at the east end of the north aisle is a

Nicholas Stone, at a cost of £200; here also was buried Sir John Wolstenholme kt. and bart. his son, ob. 1670 and his grandson, John Wolstenholme, to whom, with his wife Dorothy (Vere), there is a stately monument of white marble, with recumbent effigies, now in the the tower: John Wolstenholme, temp. Edw. VI. the first of the family resident at Stanmore, is also said to have been buried here: there is also in the tower a tablet of white marble, inscribed to Catherine (Copley), wife of John James, first Marquess of Abercorn K.G.; she died 13 Sept. 1791; a mural tablet to John Burnell, dated 1605 and, in the south aisle, a monument with recumbent effigy to George Gordon, 4th Earl of Aberdeen K.G., K.T., P.C. a distinguished statesman, d. 14 Dec. 1860. The old church, founded in 1632 by Sir John Wolstenholme kt. and consecrated by Laud, then bishop of London, is still standing at a short distance westward: the building, now roofless, is a rectangular structure of red brick, with an embattled western tower and a porch designed by Stone: in the centre of the grass-grown floor is an elaborate tomb to the Holland family, of Stanmore Hall, and John Drummond esq. J.P. d. 1774 and others of both these families: in the churchyard is buried Charles Hart, the tragic actor, 17th century. The register dates from the year 1599. The living is a rectory, yearly value from tithe rent-charge £390, with residence and 25 acres of glebe, in the gift of trustees of the late Rev. Leopold John Bernays M.A. late rector, and held since 1883 by the Rev. Frederick Christian Jackson B.A. of St. John's College, Cambridge, Here is a Strict Baptist chapel. The Memorial Institute, erected by subscription to the memory of Ernest Bernays, son of the late rector, who was drowned in 1870, is a building in the Gothic style, used for parish meetings and entertainments, and will hold 280 persons. A Cottage Hospital, to hold six beds, is now (1890) in course of erection near the monument with recumbent effigy, removed from the old to hold six beds, is now (1890) in course of erection near the church, te Sir John Wolstenholme kt. ob. 1639, executed by London and North Western railway station, at the cost of the Misses Wickens, of Pynnacles. Bentley Priory, formerly the seat of the Duke of Abercorn, afterwards the residence of Queen Adelaide and since of the late Sir John Kelk bart. is now the property and residence of Frederick Gordon esq. the mansion has a south aspect and occupies a delightful position, commanding very extensive views: the deer park, cedar gardens, terraces, lake and ornamental gardens cover 250 acres: it derives its name from a priory of Austin Canons existing here so early as 1243, on the site of which Roman coins have been found; conservatories were added at a cost of £0,000 by Sir John Kelk: George IV. when Prince Regent, accompanied Alexander I. Emperor of Russia and Frederick William IV. King of Prussia here to meet Louis XVIII. when on his way from Hartwell, in Bucking-hamshire, the abode of his exile, to re-ascend the throne of France, and during part of the regency and the latter half of the reign of George III. the Priory was a principal rendez-rous of the Tory party: Queen Adelaide, who leased the Priory from 1848, died here 2nd December, 1849: the principal entrance is on the north side through a large ivycovered carriage porch, leading to a spacious entrance hall, with a groined ceiling, supported by fluted columns: a panelled corridor conducts to a fine suite of reception rooms, a bondoir, a lofty dining-room and a drawing-room 50 by 30 feet, with fine marble mantelpieces: among the other apartments is one called "The Queen's room," having been the favourite chamber of Queen Adelaide; at the west end is a clock tower, and on the south side an Italian garden, with wide lawns sloping down to a deer park and on the margin of which Sir Walter Scott is said to have revised the proof sheets of "Marmion," and the poet Rogers traditionally wrote some part of his "Pleasures of Memory" traditionally wrote some part of the Treasures of Aleinory near the spot: on the north side is a cedar garden and orangery, rosaries and a romantic fernery; the plantations and shrubberies are extensive and are intersected by numerous delightful walks and drives of considerable length. Stanmore Park, now occupied by H. Kemball-Cook esq. is a

SUDBURY (i.e. Southbury) is a hamlet of Harrow lands within the manor pays no fine, nor does the being parish, situated on the high road to Harrow, from which law of such tenant pay any fine on his admission, but if place it is 25 miles south-east, with a station (in Wembley parish) on the main line of the London and North Western railway, 72 miles from London; it is in the Harrow division of the county, Gore hundred and petty sessional division, union of Hendon and county court district of Watford: originally it was a large tract of land, extending from the spot on which now stands the railway station to the foot of Harrow Hill, known as Sudbury Common: it was inclosed shortly after the passing of an Act of Parliament in 1803: for civil purposes it forms a part of the parish of Harrow, but for ecclesiastical purposes part of it is attached to and forms part of the ecclesiastical parish of St. John's, Wembley. There is a hall for Evangelistic meetings. A home in conne tion with the National Refuges Institution for destitute girls, has been established here: it was opened on the 6th July, 1873, by the late Earl of Shaftesbury K.c.; the house called "Sudbury Hall," together with three acres of land being purchased for £3,200: the home is available for about 100 girls, and there are now (1890) 102 inmates. Sudbury Lodge, the seat of General Robert Fitzgerald Copland-Crawford R.A., F.G.S., F.R.G.S. is situated in the centre of extensive grounds, about half-a-mile from Sudbury station. Lord Northwick is lord of the manor, by the ancient custom of which lands descend as by the common law; except that, in default of male issue or heirs, the eldest daughter, or eldest of any female heirs in the same degree of consanguinity, inherits: a customary tenant purchasing customary law of such tenant pay any fine on his admission, but if lands are bequeathed against the heir-at-law, an alienation fine is payable. In the year 1397, when Thomas Arundel Archbishop of Canterbury and lord high chancellor, banished for high treason by Richard II. an inquisition was taken of his estate; and he was found to possess among others the manor of Sudbury, or, as it was then called, "Southbury," which contained 500 acres, valued at 3d page The principal landowners are Lord Northwick and Mrs. Young. The land is principally in pasture. The sel is clay; subsoil, loamy clay.

SUNBURY is a village and parish situated on the banks of the Thames, with a station on the Shepperton branch of the London and South Western railway, 16 miles from London, 5 west from Kingston and 3 west from the Hampton station, in the Uxbridge division of the county, Spelthorne hundred and petty sessional division, Staines union, Chertsey county court district, rural deanery of Hampton, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London and is under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan police. The village is supplied with gas by the Sunbury Gas Consumers Company, and with water by the Grand Junction Company. The church of St. Mary is a plain brick edifice in the Byzantine or Romanesque style, consisting of apsidal chancel with aisles, nave, aisles, western porch and a western tower with plain parapet and domical roof, surmounted by an open cupola and containing a clock and 6 bells: it was enlarged and partly reconstructed in 1856, when the chancel and its aisles and a western porch were added: all the lower windows are stained: it is proposed to rebuild the tower in a style corresponding to the other additions: in the church is a monument to the Lady Jane Coke, sister and last heir of Philip, Duke of Wharton, and wife of Robert Coke esq. of Longford, Derbyshire; she died in January, 1761: and there are many mural tablets, one of which was Vigne, wife of the present vicar. The register of burials and baptisms dates from 1565; marriages from 1566; all are in a good state of preservation. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £350, with residence, in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, and held since 1842 by the Rev. Henry Vigne M.A. of St. Peter's College, Cambridge.

Sunbury Common is an ecclesiastical district constituted by Order in Council, Nov. 1881, under the title of St. Saviour's (Upper Sunbury). The church, built in 1881, is a small half timbered and red brick structure, which it is intended to enlarge. The register of baptisms dates from 1881. The living is a perpetual curacy, net yearly value £153, in the gift of the vicar of Sunbury, and held since 1889 by the Rev. William John Scott B.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge. The Catholic charel dedicated to St. Lynatius. Cambridge. The Catholic chapel, dedicated to St. Ignatius, is a building of Kentish ray and Bath stone in the Early English style, erected, with presbytery and schools attached, in 1869, from the designs of Mr. C. A. Buckler, architect, of London: the altar, composed of various marbles, was presented by Richard Lamb esq. of River Meade. There are also Congregational and Wesleyan Changle. chanels. The third lock from London on the river Thaines is at this village. is at this village. The East London Waterworks Company have works at Upper Sunbury, with extensive filter beds and pumping works at Lower Sunbury, on the banks of the Thames. Kempton Park comprises about 500 acres, 58 of which are in the adjoining parish of Hanworth: about 400 acres are leased to the Kempton Park Race Company, and have been inclosed within a ring fence: extensive stands, atables, refreshment, telegraph and other offices have been erected; the race ground is about five minutes' walk from the Sunbury station on the Thames Valley line. John Cornelius Park esq. is lord, and Mrs. Lumley is lady of the manor. The principal landowners are William Anthony Mitchison J.P. and Robert Chandler esqs. and Messrs. Cheese and Price, solicitors. The soil is loam; subsoil, gravel. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats, beans and peas. The area is 2,624 acres of land and 36 of water; rateable value, £33,714; the population in 1881 was 3,499 and 46 in Halliford House Lunatic Asylum.

CHARLTON is a small hamlet 2½ miles west.

UPPER HALLIFORD, formerly called "Harleyford," is a considerable hamlet, a mile and a half south-west, Gascoigne Bridge connecting Upper with Lower Halliford. St. Andrew's Mission room, built in 1872, seats 150: there is also a Weslevan chapel here, built in 1872. The reaches of the Thames at Halliford abound in perch and chub and are much frequented by anglers. Letters received through Totington," is a pleasant village and parish situated on the High road from Richmond bridge to Hampton Court through Bushey Park, and has a station on the Kingston extension line in connection with the North London and South Western railways, 12 miles from London, 12 north from Kingston and 2 south from Twickenham, in the Uxbridge division of the county, Spelthorne hundred and petty sessional division, Kingston union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Hampton, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London: it is close to the river Thames, the first lock on the river, 17 miles above West-minster Bridge, is placed here, and has been rebuilt in masonry and a small pound made adjoining the larger one

TEDDINGTON, anciently called "Tuddington" and lock is the limit of the port of London in this direction; the spring tides of the lower river flow up to it, and by the Metropolitan Water Act of 1852, the intake of all the London Water Companies must be above it; the lock cut on the Surrey side is spanned by an iron girder bridge, 99 feet in clear length, carried on concrete abutments, with an elevation of 12 feet clear above the towing path and 18 feet above the water; connected with this bridge and crossing the river at a point near the "Anglers' Hotel" is an iron suspension bridge for foot passengers, of 160 feet pan, on the reddington side, and a half span towards the island on the Surrey side; the footway, 6 feet in width, is 12 feet above the water; both bridges were erected in 1889 at a cost of about £2,700, from designs by Mr. George Pooley, engineer, for the passage of pleasure boats, which thus pass through in about three minutes, small boats being lifted over; this board of 15 members, formed in 1867: it is lighted with

TOTTENHAM.

TOTTENHAM is a parish, 5 miles from London, in the Tottenham division of the county, hundred, petty sessional divi-sion, union and county court district of Edmonton, in the rural deanery of Enfield, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London, and within the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan police. The river Lee bounds the eastern side of the parish and separates it from the county of Essex. The The Moselle rivulet rises at Muswell Hill on the west, and after

Lee a little south-east of Page Green common. The Stonebridge brook, rising in Horney, enters the parsh near the south-west boundary, and joins the Lee near the Mosella. The New River also flows through the parsh at Wood Green. The Great Eastern railway (Cambridge line) traverses the eastern part of the parish, having stations at Tottenham Hale and at the Park; the company has also a line to Ensield on the west of the high road with three more stations, and a circuitous course through the parish falls into the river a branch line in connection with the foregring from Seven

Sisters' station to West Green, Green Lanes (Noel Park) and There are also stations at South Tottenham, Wood Green. Wood Green. There are also stations at South Tottenham, St. Anne and Green Lanes (Harringay Park) on the Totten-ham and Hampstead (Midland) line. Steam trams run along the High road, Seven Sisters' road and Green Lanes in Tottenham and the Green Lanes in Wood Green. The High Road is a handsome and spacious thoroughfare extending from Stamford Hill to Edmonton, a distance of 23 miles, the centre of the town being occupied by a large trimiles, the centre of the town being occupied by a large tri-angular inclosure called "The Groen," on which the may-pole was formerly reared, but now the site of the High Cross, and is the assumed scene of the "Tournament of Tottenham," a mock encounter celebrated in a curious metrical satire of the Tudor period. The "Public Health Act." 1848, was applied to the whole parish Feb. 12, 1850, and it continued under the control of the Tottenham Local Board of Health, now consisting of 15 members, from that date until 1888, when the parish was divided by Act of Parliament, and the district of Wood Green constituted under the control of a separate local board of 12 members. The parish is lighted with gas by the Tottenham and Edmonton Company from works situated in Willoughby lane near Park station, and is chiefly supplied with water by the Local Board from their own wells and pumping works at the Hale and Longwater, with reservoirs and tower tank at Downhills, and partly by the East London Water Works Company and the New River Company. Wood Green district is supplied Wood Green district is supplied by the New River Company.

The church of All Hallows, situated about a quarter of a mile west of the High road, is an edifice of brick and stone in the Gothic style, partly rebuilt and considerably enlarged in 1876-7, and now consists of chancel, clerestoried nave, aisles, transepts, north porch, a fine embattled south porch of the 15th century with parvise, vestries, and an embattled western tower covered with ivy, 60 feet in height and containing 8 bells, two of which were added by the parishioners in 1881 to the former peal of 6, re-cast by Philip Wightman, in 1696, from the original peal of 5, a sixth being then added; the vestry, or saints bell, dated 1663, was given to the parish by Humphrey Jackson esq. F.R.s. April 6, 1801; it was formerly the alarm bell of the garrison of Quebec, and was taken at the siege of that place in 1759, by General Townsend: the eastern part of the chancel is arcaded in stone, and has a vaulted ceiling of wood and plaster, delicately painted in colours: the east window and several others are memorials; the west window of the north aisle is now filled with glass formerly in the east window, with some additions: the font and pulpit are both individual gifts, and the metal lectern was the gift of a parishioner; a room over the south porch was occupied for forty years by Elizabeth Fleming, who died March 17, 1790, at the age of 100: the oldest tombstone in the church incloses a brass to Thomas Hymyngham, ob. 6 April, 1499; there are a number of mural monuments of considerable merit, including a fine monument of white marble to Mary (Wilcocks), wife of Sir Robert Barkhain kt. ob. 7 Dec. 1644, with busts of both and effigies of twelve children; there is also a memorial to Sir Ferdinando Heyborne or Richardson, gentleman of the Privy Chamber to Queen Elizabeth and James I. oh. 4 June, 1618. and to his wife, a daughter of Richard Candeler, ob. 24 June, 1619; in the south aisle is a monument, with kneeling effigies, to Richard Candeler, ob. 24 Oct. 1602, and to Eliza his wife, ob. 2 Jan. 1622: Margaret Lydia, wife of James Samuel C. a. and daughter of James Hogg, "The Ettrick Shepherd," is buried in the churchyard, which was enlarged in 1792, but closed for interments, except in special cases, December 21, 1857: from ancient records it is ascertained that the church was given by David Bruce, King of Scotland, to the canons of the Holy Trinity, London, between the years 1135 and 1153; but Henry VIII. in the thirty-sixth year of his reign, gave the rectory and parish of Tottenham to the cathedral of St. Paul: there are 900 sittings, of which 450 are free. The register dates from the year 1558. ing is a vicarage, tithes commuted at £1,100, with 23 acres of glebe, in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, and held since 1870 by the Rev. Alexander Wilson M.A. of King's College Aberdeen and Prebendary of St. Paul's. first vicar mentioned in the history of Tottenham is Robert de Burton, 1327.

Holy Trinity is an ecclesiastical parish, formed December 10, 1844, out of All Hallows parish: the church, situated on Tottenham Green, and consecrated May 26, 1830, was erected from designs by Mr. Savage, architect, at a cost of about $5,000, and is an edifice of brick in the Gothic style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles and west porch, and has some stained windows: there are 800 sittings, 350 being free. The register dates from about 1860. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £300, in the gift of the vicar of Tottenham, and held since 1865 by the Rev. William Charles Howell w. A. of Researce Cillery Control

Howell M.A. of Brasenose College, Oxford. Christ Church is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1889 Bruce Castle, situated near Bruce Grove station, is an out of Holy Trinity, St. Michael's and St. Anne's, Stamford Elizabethan mansion, probably rebuilt in 1514 by Sir

Hill, parishes. The church, situated in Stanmore road, is an editice of brick with stone facings, in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles and a turret containing one bell: there are 700 sittings, 400 being free. The living is a vicarage, with an endowment of £100, in the gift of the vicar of Holy Trinity, and held since 1889 by the Rev. Henry Wase Whitfeild.

Marlborough College Mission Church of St. Mary the Virgin, is an edifice of brick in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, and a turret containing 2 bells: there are 720 sittings: consolidated chapelry assigned Nov. 23, 1888. The register dates from 1888. The living, Nov. 23, 1888. The register dates from 1888. The living, of the yearly value of £200, is in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1888 by the Rev. Edward Floyer

Noet Smith M.A. of Trinity College, Oxford.

St. Panl's is an ecclesiastical parish formed June 10, 1859, out of All Hallows' parish. The church, situated in Park lane, and consecrated in 1859, is a building of stone in the Cothic style from designs by Mr. William Mumford, architect, crected at a cost of about £2,000, and consists of chancel, nave, aisles, north and south porches, and an empattled tower with pipeocless at the next horse and battled tower with pinnacles at the north-west angle: there are 660 sittings, of which 200 are free. The register dates from 1859. The living is a perpetual curacy, gross yearly value about £240, with residence, in the gift of the vicar of Tottenham, and held since 1861 by the Rev. Hugh McSorley

M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin.

The Catholic chapel, dedicated to S. Francis de Sales, near White Hart lane, was erected in 1881 for a school, but is used temporarily for Divine Worship pending the erection of a permanent church; it will hold about 600 persons; adjoining is a convent of the Marist order, established in 1888, with an orphanage and a middle class boarding and day school; and in St. Ann's road is a convent of the Servite order, established in 1871, with a chapel and school.

The Presbyterian church of St. John is situated in the High road; and there are Baptist chapels in the High road and West Green road, a Congregational chapel at the High Cross, Primitive Methodist chapels in Northumberland park and West green, and a Wesleyan chapel in the High road, erected in 1867. The Brethren and Christian Brethren have meeting rooms, and the Society of Friends a meeting house.

The Cemetery, consecrated December 30, 1857, and opened January 1, 1858, at a cost of £5,000, occupies 5 acres, of which two-thirds are consecrated and the remainder unconsecrated: it contains two chapels of Kentish rag, with Bath stone dressings, in the Early Gothic style, for the Church of England and Nonconformists respectively: the ground is under the control of a burial board of nine

The High Cross, which gives its name to the southern end of the town, is an octagonal structure of brick, erected about 1600 by Dean Wood, in place of a wooden cross, then much decayed : the second stage is panelled with arches and quatrefoils; the third stage is surrounded with gabled and crocketed niches, and is surmounted by a crocketed spire with vane : the ornamental work is of stucco and was added in 1809, and the eight sides bear each on a shield one letter of the word "Totenham." Seven Sisters' road, formed in 1831-3 at a cost of £40,000, takes its name from seven elm trees formerly standing there; these having disappeared, seven new trees were planted near the site February 24, 1852, by the seven daughters of J. McRae esq. of Tottenham.

Tottenham Hale is a hamlet in the eastern part of the parish, a short distance north-east of the High Cross.

CHARITIES:—In the High road are almshouses for four Balthazar Sanchez, or Zanchero, confectioner to Philip, King of Spain: near the High Cross are almshouses for four poor men and four poor women, built in 1736, on a site of Coloring upday the provisions of the will of given by Lord Coleraine, under the provisions of the will of Nicholas Reynardson esq. dated 2nd April, 1685: Phesaunt's or "the Pound" almshouses, situated in the High road, and believed to have been originally founded by George Hymyngham, who died in 1536, afterwards regranted by Mr. Phesaunt, and further endowed by the will of Mr. Charles Saunders of this parish, dated 30th July, 1817, are for seven poor widows: in Bruce Grove are the Sailmakers'almshouses, a fine block of brick buildings, for 45 inmates, erected in 1869 by the Drapers' Company, who are the trustees of this charity; and there are other almshouses, founded by Alderman Staines: the inmates of the Pound and Sanchez almsthan oranges are supported from various charitable bequests under the control of the churchwardens. The general charities of the parish amount to about £242 yearly, and there are also various sums received as dividends on compensation money for waste lands, invested by order of the vestry and the Inclosure Commissioners, and amounting in all to about £224 yearly, which sum is applied to different parochial purposes.

William Compton, and again in the latter part of the 17th The original structure is said to have been erected century. The original structure is said to have been erected by Earl Waltheof, who married Judith, niece of the Conqueror, and it subsequently descended, through the female line, to Robert Bruce, who, on his contention with Baliol for the right of succession to the Scottish throne being decided in favour of the latter, retired here, and after repairing the building named it "Le Bruses." There, in 1516, Henry VIII. visited Sir William Compton, and met his sister Margaret, Queen of Scots; and Queen Elizabeth also appears to have come here on a visit to Henry, Lord Compton: the Comptons held the estate till 1630, and it was next held by the Hares, lords Coleraine, but in 1755 reverted to the Crown, and was granted to the Townsend family, and in 1827 was purchased by the father of Mr. afterwards Sir Rowland Hill kt. who, in conjunction with his sons, established a school here, which has since been a private school of considerable note, and is now conducted by the Rev. W. Almack M.A. The existing mansion, which stands in grounds of 20 acres, is of brick with stone dressings, and consists of a central block with semi-octagonal embayed wings, and a large square clock tower rising in the centre, with external balustraded galleries, and surmounted by an octagonal turret with cupola; the only remaining portion of the house covering a deep but disused well. The school has a library of 3,000 volumes, first formed by the father of Sr Rowland Hill.

The Alexandra Palace is partly in this parish: particular are given under Muswell Hill.

The Park ranges on the banks of the Lee near the Park railway station, are used by the volunteers of Middleen, who shoot here up to 600 yards, and several prizes are contested for, among which is the Middleese Battalion Challenge Cup, between selected teams of eight, and also the bronza medals of the National Rifle Association.

In the time of the Confessor the manor belonged to Waltheof, Earl of Huntingdon; Henry I. granted it to David, son of Malcolm III. King of Scotland, and it afterward came into the hands of King Robert Bruce, who made Tottenham his residence: eventually it was granted by Henry VIII, with the church to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, and is now held by Sir William Michael Curtis bart. of Caynham Court, Ludlow, Salop.

The parish contains 4,673 acres of land and 62 water, is 2 miles in length and 16 in circumference; rateable value, £339,431; the population in 1881 was, High Cross, 25,470; Middle, 11,179; Lower, 11,991; West Green, 16,247; Wood Green south, 11,180; Wood Green north, 10,143; total, 25,210. #### SCHOOLS:

The Free Grammar school, originally founded at an early but unascertained date, was enlarged & endowed under the will, dated 17th May, 1686, of Sarah, Dowager Duchess of Somerset, who died 25th October, 1692, having married on the decease of the duke in 1675, Henry, Lord Coleraine. In 1840 a new school room was erected at a cost of about £700, to hold 120 boys, & in 1876-7, a new scheme having been framed by the Charity Commissioners for the administration of the school, the premises were partly rebuilt & enlarged & the foundation reconstituted as a secondgrade school; there are now about 100 boys, & the income from the endowment is £205 yearly. The school is from the endowment is £205 yearly. The school is managed by a body of 9 governors, of which the Rev. Prebendary Wilson M.A. vicar of Tottenham, is chairman; John Thomas Cohen B.A. Lond. head master. The learned William Baxter, nephew of the celebrated Puritan divine, Richard Baxter, was head master here till about 1700, when he became master of the Mercers' Company's school

TWICKENHAM.

TWICKENHAM is a parish, aituated on the banks of the 139 Oct. 1646; Sir Richard Perryn kt. ob. 10 Jan. 1803; Sir Thames, with three stations on the South Western railway, 10 miles from Hyde Park corner, 3 south-west from Brentford, on the Kingston road and 1 mile west from Richmond, in the Brentford division of the county, hundred of Isleworth, Brentford petty sessional division, union and county court district, rural deanery of Hampton, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London and within the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan police. Many houses have been erected in this parish near Richmond bridge, constituting a suburb to the town of Richmond. The Local Government Act, 1858, was adopted 14 Jan. 1868, the Board consisting of 27 members. The parish is supplied with water by the Grand Junction WaterWorks Company and with gas by the Brentford Gas Co.

The church of St. Mary, erected in place of an older building, the nave of which fell in on April 9th, 1713, is a structure of plain red brick, from designs by Mr. John James, architect, and was built under the supervision of Sir Godfrey Kneller kt. and bart. at that time one of the churchwardens: it consists of chancel, nave and an embattled western tower of the 14th century, supposed to have been built by William of Wykeham, and containing a clock and a fine peal of 8 bells: the church contains the remains of many distinguished persons: on the north wall is a tablet with portrait medal-lion, erected in 1761 by William Warburton D.D. Bishop of Gloucester, to Alexander Pope, who died here 30 May, 1744, and was buried in the nave: on the east wall is a monument erected by Pope to his parents, Alexander Pope, d. 1717, and Edith, his wife, d. 1733, as also one to Pope's favourite nurse, erected by the poet in 1725: the celebrated Mrs. Kitty Clive, the actress, who died 6 Dec. 1785, is buried here, as also Sir Godfrey Kneller kt. and bart. d. 27 Oct. 1723: there are monuments to Sir John Berkeley kt. 1st baron Berkeley, of Stratton, ob. 28 Aug. 1678; Lucia (Martin), wife of James, 1st Viscount Chifden; Admiral Sir Chaloner Ogle, ob. 21 April, 1750; Sir Thomas Lawley, ob.

William Humble bart. of Kensington, ob. 12 Aug. 1705; Sir Joseph Ashe bart. ob. 15 April, 1686; Frances (Brook), wife of Sir Thomas Whitmore kt. of Bridgnorth, ob. 1690, with of Sir Thomas whitmore kt. of Driughorm, ov. 1990, who epitaph by Dryden: many eminent persons are interred in the churchyard, including Admiral Byron, author of a "Narrative of the Loss of the Wager," d. 10 April, 1786; Lieut.-Gen. William Tryon, d. 1788; and Selina (Finch), 2nd wife of Sir Robert Shirley kt. first Earl Ferrers, d. 1762: there are 800 sittings, 400 being free. The register dates from the year 1538. The living is a vicarage, yearly value from tithe rent-charge £475, with 9 acres of glebe, in the gift of the Dean and Canons of Windsor, and held since 1888 by the Ren Richard Tabourdin M. of St. Ichele Cellege. by the Rev. Richard Tahourdin M.A. of St. John's College, Oxford. The great tithes, amounting to about £180, are in the hands of seven different owners. Among the former vicars may be named Richard Terrick, Bishop of London 1764-77, and Daniel Waterland D.D. the distinguished theologian, ob. 1740.

Holy Trinity is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1841: the church, erected on the Green about 1840, is an edifice of brick with stone dressings, in the Early English style, consisting of apsidal chancel, nave, aisles, transepts, north and south porches, and a western tower, containing a clock and one bell: transepts were added in 1863 to the original nave: the east window contains five lights, each light forming a separate memorial; a window has been erected on the south side to the late Mr. John May, who died 1868, in memory of his services to the parish, and a north window in 1883: there are memorial tablets to Sir William Clay bart. 1869, and Harriet (Dickason), his wife, 1867; and a fine medallion portrait to Mrs. Diamond, of Twickenham House, who died 9th April, 1874, executed by the late Joseph Durham R.A.: an organ was erected in 1866: the church was re-seated in 1877: there are 750 sittings, of which 310 are free. The register dates from the year 1840. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £398, including 13 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1875 by the Rev. David Anderson M.A. of Trinity College, Cambridge, rural dean of Hampton and chaplain of the Metropolitan and City Police Orphanage.

The population in 1881 was 4,593.

St. Stephen's, East Twickenham, is an ecclesiastical parish formed Oct. 29, 1875: the church, the earlier portion of which was consecrated in December, 1875, and the latter portion in 1885, is a building of Kentish rag in the Geometrical Decorated style, erected from designs by Messrs, W and R. Mawson, of Bradford, at a total cost of £12,600, and consists of chancel, nave of four bays, south transept, west porch, organ chamber and an incomplete tower at the northwest angle, containing one bell : the reredos of Caen stone. various marbles and mosaics was in part the gift of Major-General Frederick Octavius Salusbury c.B. of Dover: the three stained windows in the abse are memorials respectively to Mrs. Dean Paul, of Cambridge House, Mrs. Lloyd, late of Albemarle House, in this parish, and Lieut.-Gen. the Right Hon. Jonathan Peel P.C., M.P., D.C.L. d. 13 Feb. 1879, and Lady Alicia Jane (Kennedy), his wife, daughter of Archibald, Marquess of Ailsa K.T. she died 11 May, 1887: the west window is a memorial to Miss E. Budd, and there are three others to Mr. Anderson and Mrs. Burl, old parishioners, one to the Rev. Dr. Hemming, and six lancets in the west front filled with stained glass by confirmation candidates: the very fine eagle lectern of brass, with its platform and Bible, was presented by Miss Budd-Budd, and the oaken reading desk by Mr. Clarke, of Spring Lodge: the organ reading desk by Mr. Ciarke, or opring acoust: the organisms are ceed in 1889; a handsome lych gate has been erected in memory of J. M. Morrill esq.: there are 770 sittings, of which 200 are free. The register of marriages and baptisms dates from 1875. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value dates from 1875. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value froo, in the gift of the trustees, and held since 1880 by the Rev. William Murdoch Johnston M.A. of the Queen's University, Ireland. The population in 1881 was 2, 124.

Previous to the formation of St. Stephen's parish, the Montpelier Lecture Hall, erected in 1727, was used, under the Bishop's licence, as a chapel (though never consecrated) for upwards of 150 years. The only registers preserved are certain entries on the fly leaves of an old prayer book, comprising 14 marriages and 20 baptisms, dating from 1729 to

The Baptist chapel, situated on the Green, is a building of red brick, erected in 1853, and has 250 sittings. The Congregational chapel is also on the Green. The Wesleyan chapel, situated in Queen's road, is a structure of brick, erected in 1880.

A Cemetery of 8 acres was formed in 1868 at that part of the parish which is near the powder mills: it has two mortuary chapels in the Gothic style, and is under the control of a burial board of nine members.

In Holly road is an old burial ground of about one acre, formed in 1782, in which are interred Dr. Charles Morton F.R.S. principal librarian of the British Museum, who died 10 Feb. 1799; and Edward Ironside, the historian of Twickenham, who died 28 June, 1803. In Oak lane is another burial ground of about two acres, formed 16 April, 1839, and containing monuments to Field-Marshal the Rt. Hon. Sir Edward Blakeney R.C.B. who died 8 Aug. 1868; and the Rev. Charles Proby, vicar of Twickenham, who died o Feb.

The Town Hall, in King street, built in the year 1876, at the cost of the late Sir C. J. Freake bart. (d. Oct. 6, 1884), is a handsome building of red brick, with stone dressings: it contains an assembly-room, 80 feet by 40, used for meetings and concerts.

The Free Library, established at the Town Hall in 1882, contains over 8,000 volumes, with a reading-room and reference and lending departments.

The Economic Museum, near the railway station, was founded in 1856 by Thomas Twining esq. v.P.S.A. in order to impart in a scientific and at the same time practical manner, a knowledge of common things for health and comfort. The museum was first projected in 1850 and established at Twickenham in 1860: it was destroyed by fire in 1871, the estimated loss being more than £10,000, but fortunately many MSS, were preserved: the present building stands on a portion of the original site.

Twickenham, in conjunction with Reading and Newbury, in Berkshire, has the privilege, under the will of John West and Frances, his wife, of sending 14 boys and girls (parishioners) annually to Christ's Hospital.

Just beyond Twickenham Green, in the Hampton road, are almshouses belonging to the Worshipful Company of Carpenters, forming 10 separate dwellings; they were erected in 1840 and have an extensive garden and lawn in front. There are fifteen almspeople, each of whom receives 128. Weekly.

St. John's Hospital, Amyand Park road, was founded and erected by Miss Twining at a cost of about £10,000, and opened by H.R.H. the Duchess of Teck in 1879; it contains 12 beds, with in-patient and out-patient departments, and is supported by voluntary contributions, its only endowment at present being a sum of f. 100 a year, left by the founder. The object of the institution is to provide efficient medical advice and medicine for the working classes of Twickenham and neighbourhood: in 1889 there were 129 patients. At Fortescue House, an old mansion near the station, is a branch of the National Refuge for Homeless and Destitute Boys: removed from 8 Great Queen street w c in 1878: the house is arranged to hold 120 inmates. The offices and central home are at Shaftesbury house. Shaftesbury avenue

The Metropolitan and City of London Police Orphanae at Wellesley House, in the Hampton road, was founded in 1870; a new wing was opened in 1879 and school-rouns were opened by H.R.H. The Prince of Wales in 1882; the ground covers about 11 acres, and contains a detached in-firmary, head master's house, and a gardener's cottage. The average number of children is 256, i.e. 156 boys and 100 girls. In addition to which there are 650 children receiving a compassionate allowance of 2s. 6d. per week towards their maintenance at their homes. The orphanage is supported by entertainments organized by the police and voluntary and police subscriptions

Strawberry Hill, the celebrated villa residence of Horse Walpole, is situated at the corner of the upper road leading to Teddington, and was originally a cottage belonging to Mr. Chenevix, a toy dealer of Regent street, whose lease Walpet took over in May, 1747, the property consisting only of the house and five acros of land. A plan for the erection of the new villa, in which Walpole was assisted by Richard Bentar, son of the distinguished master of Trinity College Cambridge, was made in 1750; in 1753 the library and refectory were built; the gallery, round tower, great cloister and cabinet, in 1760-1 and the great north bed-room in 1770, but the structure was not completed till 1776. The mansion is built in the form of the letter L, the older portions being towards the east and nearest the Thames: these are of three storeys, in a species of Venetian Gothic, rough cast: the upper storey is lighted by quatrefoil openings and the white is finished with an embattled parapet, with pinnacles at the angles: this part of the structure includes the cloiser and gallery, beyond which, at the junction of the two limbs, B the central embattled round tower, with an attached turnet, surmounted by a tall conical roof; the shorter wing, erected by the late Countess Waldegrave in 1862, is also embatted and has a wide oriel rising to the parapet. The principal entrance is on the Waldegrave road, through a large ponta leading to a spacious hall containing the principal stancase, to the right of which is the room originally called "the refectory" or "great parlour," hung with paper in imitation of stucco, in which Walpole was accustomed to enter-ain his guests; beyond the hall is the old breakfast-room, with a large semi-octagonal bay window, and near this are the china room, the yellow bedchamber and the beauty room, so called because it was once hung with a series of portraits of the beauties of the court of Charles II. : in each of these rooms are quaintly-designed mantelpieces, said to be adap-tations from tombs in Westminster Abbev and Salishor Cathedral. The library, reached from the first landing through a vaulted alcove, is a handsome room commandate a magnificent view of the river and the country beyond and remains almost in its original condition: the ceiling designed by Walpole, is richly decorated with armona shields painted by Clermont: the book-cases were designed from portions of the choir of old St. Paul's and the chimaey. piece from the tomb of John of Eltham, Earl of Cornell, in Westminster Abbey. The star chamber is a species of lobby, lighted by a stained window, and is hung with water colour drawings of portions of the house as they appeared in or about 1780: the Holbein room has an open work screen and an elaborate mantelpiece designed chiefly from the tomb of Archbishop Warham, at Canterbury, and reaching nearly to the ceiling: the great north hedelambet is now a sitting-room, and has a richly-worked change-piece, modelled from the tomb of Bishop Dudley, in Westminster Abbey: the gallery, the finest apartment in the mansion, is 56 feet long, 13 wide and 17 in height, and he five side recesses finished with gilt network, copel from the tomb of Archbishop Bourchier at Canterbury; each 'ar has a projecting canopy, and from between these ris: fartraceried springers supporting a barrel-vaulted ceiling the principal doorway is copied from the north door of & Albans Abbey: the tribune is a square room with sentcircular recesses on three sides and has a vaulted roof of ribbed and traceried plasterwork imitated from the chapterhouse at York : the round drawing-room, 22 feet in drameter, has a carved ceiling, taken from a window in old St. Paul's a bay window filled with modern stained glass, and an exquisitely-wrought mantelpiece, by Richter, of marble, wlaid with scagliola, copied from the tomb of Edward the the architect: the new portion of the house, built in 1862, contains a grand drawing-room, dining-room, corridor and billiard-room, with 23 guests' chambers beyond: at one end, near the central tower, is a wide exterior staircase leading to the lawn. Walpole bequeathed Strawberry Hill and its contents in the first instance to his cousin, Gen. the Rt. Hon. Henry Seymour-Conway P.c.; next, to Anne (Seymour-Conway), wife of the Hon. John Damer, and daughter of Gen. Seymour-Conway, and after her to John James, 6th Earl Waldegrave; in 1842, from April 25 to May 21, the contents of the house were sold by auction by Mr. George Robins and realised a sum of £33,468, and it was subsequently closed for nearly 20 years, until the late Frances Countess Waldegrave, in 1862, completely renovated and enlarged it, refurnished the interior in sumptuous style and converted it into an important modern residence, which became famous during her lifetime for its réunions and garden parties, at which members of the Royal family were often present. The countess died July 5, 1879, and in 1881 the property was offered for sale: in August, 1883, it was purchased by the late Baron H. de Stern (d. 1889), and now belongs to the Baroness de Stern, of 4 Hyde Park gardens w. In the grounds is a small building called "the chapel," which is architecturally of considerable interest: the front, executed in Portland stone and said to have been adapted from a tomb in Salisbury Cathedral, is unquestionably a work of substantial merit, but the interior is less satisfactory: the structure is on plan a quatrefoil, 15 feet in length and 8 feet wide; one recess forms a porch, another certainly indicates a space for an altar and the central space is raised boldly by steps; the ceiling is groined and has four traceried ribs with a richly-carved pendant in the centre. The site of "Pope's Villa," where he came to live in 1717 and where he died in 1744, is now occupied by the residence of Henry D. Labouchere esq. M.P. a singular timber structure, erected by Mr. Thomas Young, a tea merchant, which still bears the name of "Pope's Villa:" Marble Hill, built at the cost of George II. and for some time the residence of the Marquess Wellesley, is now unoccupied: Cambridge House, formerly the residence of Richard Owen Cambridge, is the seat of Sir Edward John Dean Paul bart.

Orleans House, now the residence of William Cunard esq. was built in the reign of Queen Anne by Mr. Secretary Johnstone, afterwards Marquess of Annandale K.T and keeper of the Privy Seal, who was visited here by Queen Caroline, consort of George II. The mansion was long the residence of the Orleans family, and was rented by Louis Phiape and his brothers until the restoration in 1814; subsequently to 1846 it was purchased by H.H. Henry Eugene Duc d'Aumale, who erected a picture gallery and library, and on his return to France it was for a short time inhabited by Don Carlos; the house is well built of brick in a good style, and is surrounded by beautiful grounds of about 40 acres, in which are some fine cedars; in 1876-7 it was purchased by Sir John D. Astley bart. M.P. and opened as a summer club May 5th, 1877, but ceased to be used for this purpose in 1883.

Lebanon House, the property of Captain Willis R.N. was formerly inhabited by H.H. Francis Ferdinand Prince de Joinville, and is now the residence of J. C. Crossley esq. York House is said to have been the residence of James II. when Duke of York and in later times of H. H. Louis Phillipe Albert Comte de Paris, who left it about 1871; here Edward Hyde, first Earl of Clarendon and Lord Chancellor, lived in don: Samuel Rayson, secretary the reign of Charles II. and in the room still known by her

Confessor in Westminster Abbey and improved by Adam, | name, Clarendon's granddaughter, Queen Anne, was born in 1664; on resigning his see, Dr. Euseby Cleaver, Archbishop of Dublin 1809-20, came to live here; in 1817 it became the property of the Hon. Mrs. Damer, the distinguished sculptor, who died May 28, 1828; it is now the seat of the Rt. Hon. Sir Mountstuart Elphinstone Grant-Duff P.C., G.C.S. I., C.I.B. Perryn House, at the junction of the Whitton and Isle-worth roads, was the residence of Sir Richard Perryn kt. Baron of the Exchequer, 1776-1803, and now of Thomas Twining esq.

Arragon Tower, situated in Church street, is a portion of the ancient manor house, said to have been inhabited by Queen Katherine of Arragon, and formerly the residence of Sir John Walter kt. Chief Baron of the Exchequer, 1625-30.
Twickenham Park, formerly held by Francis Bacon, Viscount St. Albans, commonly called Lord Bacon, and Cambridge Park, both abutting on the Thames, have been laid out for building purposes and contain many residences, and the latter contains the observatory of George Bishop esq.

Among former residents may be named Dr. Richard Cor-Attong former residents may be named Dr. Attonard Correct, Bishop of Norwich, 1632-5; James, 3rd Duke of Montrose, bt. 1836; Nicholas Amhurst, author of "Terrae filius," bt. 1742; George, 3rd Earl of Cholmondeley R.B. d. 1770; Sir Charles Warwick Bamfylde bart. bt. 1823; George Hardinge, senior justice of the counties of Brecon, Glamorgan and Radnor, ob. 26 April, 1816; and Richard Owen Cambridge, the well-known author of the mock-heroic poem called "The Scribleriad," who died here 17 Sept. 1802.

Eel Pie Island, otherwise Twickenham Eyot, nearly opposite York House, is a favourite resort of fishermen and boating parties; the old house was removed in 1830.

The parish principally consists of a rich alluvium, laid out in market gardens and fertile meadows.

The area is 2,383 acres of land and 94 of water; rateable value, £ 106,784; population in 1871, 10,533; 1881, 12,479, including 175 in Kneller Hall.

The St. Margaret's Estate is partly within the parish of Isleworth, but being within the Twickenham postal de-livery, is given here; it contains many elegant residences, among which is St. Margaret's Lodge, a handsome modern mansion, with picture gallery and large grounds, the freehold residence of George Samuel Measom esq. J.P. Here is a station on the South Western railway, situated in St. Mar-

The Royal Naval Female School at St. Margaret's, established in 1840, originated in the benevolent design of the late Admiral Sir Thomas Williams G.C.B. who gave £1,000 to be invested in trust as the basis of an endowment fund : in 1856 the present school house and grounds were purchased and the establishment removed from Richmond : the object of the school is to bestow upon the daughters of necessitous naval and marine officers, of and above ward-room rank, at the lowest cost practicable, a good virtuous and religious education, in conformity with the Church of England : the number of pupils is limited to 90; of those 26 are received at the annual payment of £50, 16 at £25 a year and 42 (all daughters of necessitous officers) are boarded and educated, at the entire cost to the parents or guardians of £12 yearly, and 5, whose fathers died during the Crimean war, are nominees of the Patriotic Fund, at £10 a year, the establishment defraying the larger amount of actual cost through the means of voluntary contributions: attached to the school are several scholarships: the offices are 32 Sackville street, Lon-

Parish Clerk, Francis Walter Etherington, Arragon road.

UXBRIDGE.

UXBRIDGE is an ancient borough, chapelry, market and union town and head of a petty sessional division and county court district, with a station on a branch of the Great Western railway, West Drayton being the junction; it is 15% miles from London by rail and 15 by road, and is in the Uxbridge division of the county, Hillingdon civil parish, Elthorne hundred, rural deanery of Uxbridge, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London, and is pleasantly located on the south-western declivity of one of the ranges of hills which occupy the north-western corner of the county, at the foot of which flow the clear waters of the twin rivers, formed by the union of the Colne, Gade, Verlam, Chess and Misbourne; the larger and more westerly of these streams, the Colne, is crossed by a substantial brick bridge of five arches, called High Bridge and it is probable that from a bridge which once occupied the same, or nearly the same, site, the town The smaller of the two streams, the derived its name. Frayswater, flows through the lower portion of the town and turns the town mills, after which it separates the borough and the beautiful suburb of Chiltern View from the populous district of St. John's. The Grand Junction

Canal runs between the two rivers above named and is bere crossed by the high road to Wycombe and Oxford. This is said to be one of the small boroughs created by Alfred the Great and was then called "Wexbruge"—the Anglo-Set 21 for Great Bridge—though no mention of it occurs in Domesday book. In the oldest existing documents it is written "Oxebruge" and later on "Woxebruge" and "Woxbridge." At this town, in January 1645, was hed the meeting which resulted in a fruitless treaty between the Commissioners of King Charles I, and those of the Parlament: the Commissioners met at a house, then belong at to Mr. Carr and afterwards to Sir John Bennet, an ancestor of the Earl of Tankerville: and now known as the "011 Treaty house and Crown inn," the rooms of this ancient and interesting fabric yet retain much of the fine old carner which formerly ornamented the walls, especially the "Great room," mentioned by Lord Clarendon, and is another apartment known as "the Presence chamber," the carved oak panelling and pilasters, with their capitals, shows a remarkable degree of freshness. The town is bealthy and clean: the extension and the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the control of the contro clean; the extensive and populous suburbs have, for the

The Old Meeting House Congregational Chapel, of a Local Board of Health of 18 members: the town is lighted with gas by a company from works situated in St. John's, established in 1854, and supplied with water from works situated at Waterloo road, established in 1854, the property of the Local Board and by the Rickmansworth and Uxbridge Valley waterworks.

St. Margaret's church, which existed as a chapel of ease to Hillingdon in the year 1281, and until April 12, 1842, is a structure of flint, principally in a Debased Perpendicular style, consisting of a nave of five bays, aisles and a low embattled tower on the north side containing a clock and 6 bells, 5 of which are dated 1716 and the tenor 1808; the lower portion of the tower forms a north entrance porch: there is no chancel, a sacrarium being formed by a raised dais at the east end of the nave : the south aisle retains a very fine oak roof, and there is a good octagonal panelled font of Perpendicular date, on a high base: in the south aisle is a memorial window to Capt. E. T. W. Price, son of the late vicar, d. 1865; the stained east window of the nave was erected in 1875 to the Rev. C. P. Price, late vicar, d. 1872; other windows include one given in 1884 by W. James esq. of Denham Mount, near Uxbridge, in memory of his father, mother, brother and sister; and another given in 1885 by Miss Price, daughter of the late vicar, in memory of her mother; on the north side of the communion table is an altar-tomb of alabaster with recumbent effigy to Leonora, widow of Sir John Bennet LL, D. previously mentioned : she died here in 1638: there are also two curious oak chairs dated 1679: in 1872 the church was thoroughly restored from designs by the late Sir G. Gilbert Scott R.A.; there are about 600 sittings, of which about one half are free and unappropriated. The register dates from the year 1538. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £300, chiefly derived from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1872 by the Rev. Theodore William James M.A. of Pembroke College, Oxford. Attached to the church is a lectureship, founded by George Townsend esq. in 1582, yearly value about £145, with residence, in the gift of the trustees of the Townsend Charity and restricted to those members of Pembroke College, Oxford, who have held the Townsend scholarship; the lectureship is at present held conjointly with the vicarage.

St. Andrew's church, consecrated in 1865, is a spacious edifice of red and yellow brick, with Bath stone dressings, in the Decorated style and was erected from the designs of the late Sir George Gilbert Scott R.A. : it consists of chancel, nave of five bays, aisles, south porch, vestry and a noble tower at the south-east angle with a shingled broach spire, reaching an elevation of 170 feet and containing a clock and 8 fine bells, the tenor weighing 13½ cwt: there is an exquisitely carved alabaster reredos and a stained east window: the stained west window is a memorial to the late Rev. Richard Croft, vicar of Hillingdon, who was instrumental in the building of this church and gave the font, which is wrought in Caen stone, with columns of coloured marbles, there are also nine other stained windows, chiefly memorials; the pulpit was given by Messra. Fassnidge and Son: a screen of ala-baster, with boldly carved mouldings and panels, separates the nave from the chancel: there are 670 sittings, of which 333 are free. The register dates from the year 1865. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £300, derived from endowments held by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1865 by the Rev. Charles Theodore Mayo M.A. of Balliol College, Oxford.

St. John's, Uxbridge Moor, is an ecclesiastical parish formed April 12, 1842: the church is a plain building of brick in the Early English style, erected in 1838 and consisting of chancel, nave, porch and a western bell cote containing a clock and one bell, cast at Reading, dated 1582 and inscribed "Sancte Johanne ora pro nobis," it was originally a Sanctus bell and came from the village church of Flaunden, in Herts, and its inscription suggested the dedication of the church to St. John: there are 450 sittings, of which 380 are free. The register dates from the year 1838. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value, derived from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, £300, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of London, and held since 1851 by the Rev. Arthur Denne Hilton M.A. of Wadham College, Oxford.

The Society of Friends have a meeting house in George yard, founded in 1693, rebuilt 1817, which has 160 sittings. Providence Congregational Church, the Lynch, founded in

The Baptists hold services at the Montague hall, George street, a building of brick, seating 150 persons. The Primitive Methodist chapel, Lawn road, is a building of brick, erected in 1876, with 120 sittings. The Wesleyan Chapel, New Windsor street, is a building of white brick, erected in 1847 at a cost of £1,500, and will seat are prepared. seat 350 persons, there is a large school room attached, built in 1883 at a cost of £1,000. The Catholic Apostolic Church, Montague road is a building of brick, and has 100 sittings. The Cemetery, situated in Kingston lane, Hillingdon, and opened in 1852, is four acres in extent, with two mortuary chapels in the Lancet style, and is under the control of a burial board of 9 members. The Town Hall, prominently situated in the High street, near the railway station, and erected in 1836 by a company, is a structure of brick with stone dressings, and is now the property of Mr. W. Fassnidge: it has been enlarged and much improved and decorated and comprises a large hall with gallery, capable of holding 700 people, savings bank and various committee rooms: the large hall is licensed for theatrical performances, music and dancing. The river Colne and the Grand Junction Canal are both a great source of convenience to the trade: on the former are situated many large corn mills and from these a great quantity of flour is sent to the London market; on the latter there are sawing, planing and moulding mills and wharves from which West Middlesex and South Bucks obtain their principal supply of timber, slates and coal. There are two banks, viz., the Uxbridge Old Bank, established in 1791 (Messrs. Woodbridge, Lacy, Hartland & Co.), and a branch of the London and County Banking Co. both in High street. Here are also two small breweries and the iron foundries and agricultural implement works of Mr. Edward Pratt, and the engineering works of Alfred H. Beasley. Fairs are held on the 25th of March, 31st of July, Beasley. Fairs are held on the 25th of March, 31st of July, 29th of September and 11th of October, the last two being statute fairs: there is also a wool fair held on the 1st of August. £212, with residence, in the gift of trustees, and held since 1833 by the Rev. Alfred Martin Maynard B.A. of Clare College, Cambridge. The Workmen's Hall and Institute, a handsome building, is near the station. A cemetery of half an acre was formed in 1886 at a cost of about £1,000, and is under the control of a burial board of 9 members. The manor formerly belonged to the priory of Kilburn, but on the Dissolution of the monasteries Henry VIII. granted it to Richard Andrews and Leonard Chamberlayne, by whom it was subsequently conveyed to Richard Page, whose descendwas subsequently conveyed to Richard rage, whose descendants were successively resident proprietors for two centuries and a half; it afterwards passed to John Gray esq. and has lately been bought by the Directors of the Metropolitan Railway Company. The principal landowners are Lady Northwick, Sir John Neeld bart, of Grittleton and Mrs. Young. The population in 1881 was 1,796.
East Lane is about half a mile west.

Catholic church, dedicated to St. Catherine, situated in the centre of the village, facing the Green, was built in 1868-9 and is a fine lofty edifice in the Gothic style of the 13th century, from designs by S. J. Nicholl esq. architect, of London; it consists of chancel, with side chapels, inclosed by open traceried stone screens, baptistery, nave, aisles and vestries: in 1866 a costly high altar of stone, marble and alabaster was erected, and a fine canopied reredos, extending the whole width of the chancel, with recessed panelling, richly decorated with paintings by Mr. Joseph Bouvier: the east window is stained, and there are several others, including a memorial window in the Lady chapel, and one window in the baptistery, which also contains a sculptured font, inclosed by a wrought-iron screen. The Baptist chapel, erected in 1827 and enlarged in 1839, is an edifice of brick, with stone dressings. There are several ancient tombs in the grounds of Drayton Hall, part of which was at one time a cemetery. The charities include £560 Government stock, the interest of which is distributed in bread and money to the poor, at the discretion of the vicar and churchwardens, and the interest on £300 left by William Batt esq. which is distributed at Christmas in blankets and coals. WILLESDEN, with BRONDESBURY, NEASDEN and HARLESDEN.

WILLESDEN is a large parish, situated about 5 miles northwest from London, lying rather high, and contains the source of some feeders of the river Brent, in the North Western Metropolitan postal district, Harrow division of the county, Ossulstone hundred, a district of the Kensington petty sessional division, union of Hendon, county court district of Marylebone, rural deanery of Harrow, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London; there is an important junction station here of the North Western and North London railways and of the railways south of the Thames vià the West London and North and South Western Junction railways; the station is locally in Harlesden, but in the parish of Hammersmith, 13 miles south from Willesden old The Metropolitan extension railway has also a station at Willesden Green, the two stations being about 2 miles apart. The parish is governed by a local board of 15 members, formed in 1875. The West Middlesex Water Works supply the parish, and the principal roads are lighted with gas. The parish church of St. Mary is a building of flint, stone, brick and tooled stone of considerable antiquity, and contains fragments of all styles since the Conquest, but has suffered much from additions and restorations; it consists of chancel, nave of four bays, aisles, north and south porches and an embattled tower at the west end of the south aisle containing a clock and 6 bells: the font is probably Norman: there are brasses with effigies to Bartholomew Willesden, comptroller of the great roll of the Pipe, ob. 1492, his two wives and four daughters; Margaret Roberts, ob. 1505, with six children; William Lichefeld I.L.D. vicar, ob 1517; Edmund Roberts esq. of Neasdon, ob. 1585, and his wives Frances (Welles) and Fayth (Patenson), with nine children; and Jane, wife of John Barne caq. ob. 1609, with two daughters: in the church are also several ancient monuments, including a mural monument in the chancel, dated 1595, to Richard Paine esq. J.P. and his wife, with kneeling figures of both; there are others to Sir John Francklyn kt. of Wilsden, ob. 1647; Richard Francklyn esq. of Wilsden, Roberts esq. of Wilsden, ob. 1631: the pulpit of carved oak was erected in 1877 in memory of Mary Wood by F. A. and I. E. Wood: the east and west windows are stained; there are also several other stained windows, chiefly memorials, those at the west end of the north aisle having been erected by clerks and others connected with the London and Coun'y Bank: there are 750 sittings. The register dates from the year 1560. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £355. including 10 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, and held since 1888 by the Ven. Brownlow Thomas Atlay M.A. of St. John's College, Cambridge and formerly archdeacon of Calcutta. St. Andrew's is an ecclesiastical district, constituted September 17, 1880; the church, at Willesden Green, erected in 1886-7 at a cost of about £8,000, but as yet incomplete, is an edifice of red brick with stone dressings, in the Lancet style, from designs by Mr. James Brooks, architect, of London, and consists of chancel, with north apsidal chapel, transepts, one bay only of the nave, aisles, and a fleche at the intersection of the chancel and transepts, containing one bell: the nave and aisles will ultimately be extended to five bays, when a north porch and octagonal western turret will be added at a probable further cost of £4,000: there are at present about 500 sittings. The register dates from the year 1886; entries from 1880 to 1886 are included in the registers of the parish church of St. Mary. The living is a vicarage, yearly value £300, and residence, in the gift of the Crown and Bishop of London, alternately, and held since 1880 by the Rev. John Arthur Rawlins M.A. of New College, Oxford The Congregational chapel at Queenstown, erected in 1878, has 500 sittings. The Willesden Society of the New Church have also a chapel here, erected in 1889, and seating 120 persons. Willesden cometery, adjoining the churchyard, consists of about 5 acres: it contains two mortuary chapels and is under the control of a burial board. A new cemetery of 20 acres is about to be formed, abutting on the Cobbold road. The Jews' cemetery, in Pound lane, comprises 12 acres, with a priest's house and mortuary chapel of Kentish rag-stone. The National Athletic grounds of 27 acres, adjoining Kensal Green station, are now (1890) being laid out. The soil is clay; subsoil, clay and gravel. The land is principally in pasturage; but a great part of it has been acquired by various land companies, who are laying it out for building purposes. The parish comprises an area of 4,382 acres; rateable value, £228,498; the population was in 1871, 15,869; and in 1881, 27,397, but is now (1890) estimated at nearly 60,000.

Parish Clerk, John Salmon, 10 Vicarage villas.

Brondesbury, a hamlet of great antiquity, gives its name to a prebendal stall in St. Paul's Cathedral, the lands comprised in the hamlet having been for many centuries attached to that office. An ecclesiastical district was formed here August 6, 1867, from the parishes of Willesden and Kilburn, and including the hamlet of MAPESBURY, which also furnishes the name to another prebendal stall in the same cathedral. The district which adjoins Kilburn and West Hampstead is rapidly becoming populous. The Brondesbury or Edgware road station of the Hampstead and North Western Junction (North London) railway is a quarter of a mile east from the church and the Metropolitan railway has also a station here. Brondesbury is 2 miles east from Willesden. 1 north-west from Kilburn and 3 from the Marble Arch, Hyde Park, on the main high road to Edgware. Christ Church.

erected in 1866 at a cost of £9,000, defrayed by the Rev. William Charles Williams D.D., F.R.A.S. late rector (1866-88), is a building of stone in the Early English style, and consists of chancel, clerestoried nave of five bays, north aisle, transept, north porch and a tower with pinnacles and a spire at the east end of the north aisle, containing 2 bells and a clock with four dials: the east window and others are stained: the rervious is of alabaster and marble and the arcading at the sides, of red Devonshire, Cornish and Languedoc marbles. The register dates from the year 1866. The living is a rectory, tithe rent-charge £6, gross yearly value, chiefly derived from pew rents, £256, in the gift of and held since 1889 by the Rev. Charles Dale Williams M.A. of Christ Church, Oxford. The Brondesbury Baptist chapel, in the Kilburn High road, will seat 750 persons. St. George's Presbyterian Church of England, Willesden lane, erected in 1888-9, is an edifice of brick in the Early English style, consisting of chancel, nave of three bays, aisles and transepts and will seat about 550 persons.

Neasden is a hamlet, I mile north-west: the Midland and South Western Junction railway passes through here and has a station at Dudding Hill, but the line is not used at present for passenger traffic; there is another station called "Kingsbury and Neasden," on the Metropolitan extension railway. Neasden-cum-Kingsbury ecclesiastical parish, formed from the parishes of Kingsbury and Willesden, was constituted of July, 1885. The church of St. Andrew, formerly belonging to the parish of Kingsbury, is a small but very ancient building, standing apparently within the area of an encampment, perhaps of British origin; it consists of chancel and nave and a western tower of wood with short spire, containing 3 bells; and was restored in 1888: there are some traces of Saxon work, with Roman bricks and other rare features; the windows are Perpendicular: there are monuments to John Bul, ob. 1621; and to Thomas Scudamore, ob. 1626, both attendants of Queen Elizabeth and James I. and one brass to John Shephard, ob. 1520, his two wives and eighteen children: there are 120 sittings: William, third Earl of Mansfield, d. 18 Feb. 1840, with others of the family, are buried in the churchyard. The register for the new district dates from the year 1885, the earlier entries new district dates from the year 1805, the earner entries were made in the Kingsbury registers. The living is a perpetual curacy, gross yearly value, from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. £300, with residence, in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, and held since 1888 by the Rev. James Butter M.A. of Balliol College, Oxford. Dollis Hill House is the residence of the Earl of Aberdeen The Brent reservoir of the Regent's Park P.C., F.S.A. equal, which extend so this hamlet, is upwards of 8 miles in circuit, covers 365 acres and is 35 feet in depth at the head, the deepest part. Extensive works have been erected here by the Metropolitan railway company, which employ movards of soo workmen. Here is a Wesleyan Methodist mered of 500 workmen. Here is a Wesleyan Method mission, connected with the Metropolitan Railway estate.

SHERRICK GREEN and DOLLIS HILL are hamlets in the neighbourhood.

Harlesden, 1 mile south and 45 miles from London, is a rapidly increasing district, comprising the immediate neighbourhood of the Willesden junction railway station. The ecclesiastical district of All Souls was constituted by an Order in Council, dated May 14th, 1875, and comprises small portions of the adjoining parishes of Acton and Hammersmith. The church of All Souls, consecrated by the Bishop of London, April 26, 1879, is a structure of brick in a modifield style of Early English, from designs by Mr. E. J. Tarver, architect, and consists of a regular octagon, with an apsidal chancel at the east end; nave of four bays, aisles an apsidal chancel at the east end; nave of four bays, aisles and a western porch: the nave and aisles were added in $890: there are 916 sittings. The register dates from the year 1875 for baptisms and 1879 for marriages. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value $\int_300$, with residence, in the gift of the Crown and the Bishop of London alternately, and held since 1879 by the Rev. Henry Courtenay Atwool M.A. and M.D. of Trinity College, Dublin. The Presbyterian church, Fortune gate, erected in 1876, is a cruciform building in a modified Gothic style, with four stained windows; and has 680 sittings. The Baptist church, in Acton lane now (1800) nearly completed, is a large edifice of red dows; and has 630 sittings. The Baptist church, in Acton lane, now (1890) nearly completed, is a large edifice of red brick, with stone dressings, consisting of baptistery, nave, aisles, short transepts and a tower and spire; the transepts have galleries, and there is one at the west end; the basement contains a large schoolroom : the cost, exclusive of the organ and furniture, was £5,400, and there are sittings for 800 persons. Christ Church (iron), Reformed Episcopal Church of England, in St. Albyns road, erected in 1884, will seat 200 persons. The Free Methodist chapel, Tubbs will seat 200 persons. The Free Methodist Chaper, 14008 road, built in 1888, will seat 250 persons. There is a small fron Catholic church in Manor Park road. The Wesleyan chapel, erected in 1881-82, is a structure of red Leicester bricks with Bath stone dressings, in an early Gothic style, from designs by Mr. Charles Bell, and has a spire 120 feet in height; the organ was erected in 1887 at a cost of $800: there are 1,100 sittings. The Court house, High street, rebuilt in 1889, is private property; the Harlesden petty sessions are held here every Thursday at 11 a.m. for that portion of the parish of Willesden within the Kensington division of Middlesex; the room, which is also available for concerts, entertainments and public meetings, and is licensed for music and dancing, will hold 250 persons. There is a police station at Fortune gate, and a wharf on the Grand Junction Canal, which passes through this part of Willesden parish. In 1887 a drinking fountain surmounted by a clock with four dials, and finished with a lamp and vane, was erected in the High street by public subscription.

STONEBRIDGE, which adjoins Harlesden on the north-wes, is about to be constituted an ecclesiastical parish, and a permanent church erected, to be named St. Michaeland All Angels; services are at present held in a temporary bailding. STONEBRIDGE PARK consists of handsome villas, WINCHMORE HILL is a large village and an ecclesiastical parish, formed Aug. 29, 1851, from the civil parish of Edmonton, situated 8 miles from London, 2 east from Southgate and 2 north-west from Edmonton and has a station on the Enfield branch of the Great Northern railway: the parish is in the Northern Metropolitan postal district and in the Enfield division of the county, Edmonton hundred, petty sessional division, union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Enfield, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London. Water is supplied by the New River Company. The church of St. Paul. conse-Water is supplied by the new fiver company. The critical of the stronged by fire in 1844, is a plain square building of white brick with stone dressings, in the Perpendicular style, consisting of large nave, north porch and a turret on the western gable containing one bell: the stained east window represents the principal scenes and events in the life of the Apostle Paul, and there are two others: the church was reseated in 1882: during the year 1889 a chancel was built together with a side chapel and vestries, and at the same time the organ built; in 1876 was considerably enlarged; the new chancel was consecrated and opened by the Bishop of London, on December 24th, 1839. The register dates from the year 1834. The living is a vicarage, endowed and with pew rents (£210) and offerings, gross yearly value £350, in the gift of the vicar of Edmonton, and held since 1874 by the Rev. Alfred Charles Albert Drought M.A. of Dublin. Here are Wesleyan, Congregational and Baptist chapels; there is also a place of worship for Calvinists and a meeting-house for the Society of Friends. The Conservative Hall, erected at a cost of about £750, will hold about 400 persons. The Convalescent Fever Hospital, built in 1886, on a site of 363 acres, purchased from the Chaseville Park Estate by The Metropolitan Asylums Board, at a cost of £16,500, is arranged on the Pavilion principle and consists of 16 separate blocks, arranged for 480 patients, the number treated in 1889 being about 2,000. Old Park, the property and residence of Edward Ford esq. J.P. was formerly the home park of the ancient manorial palace of Enfield, in which the Princess Elizabeth for some time resided; it was granted by Charles II. to General Monk, Duke of Albemarie, by whose descendants it was sold in 1740 and subsequently passed to the family of the present proprietor. The Old House, once of considerable extent, was partially destroyed and rebuilt in the early part of the last century; but the original open fire-place remains in the library, which also contains a statuette of Oliver Goldsmith, by Foley: the lawn in front of the house is partially suprepulated by a circular extension. of the house is partially surrounded by a circular entrenchment, and there is a park of about 200 acres. The principal landowners are Major Robert Kirkpatrick Taylor J.P. and Thomas Teshinaker Busk esq. M.A., J.P. of Hermongers, Rudgwick, Sussex. The population in 1881 was 2,396. Parish Clerk, Henry Beard.

WOOD GREEN is a populous district 6 miles from London, in the west of the parish of Tottenham and in the Tottenham division of the county, Northern Metropolitan postal district, petty sessional division and county court district of Edmonton, rural deanery of Enfield, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London and was formed into an ecclesiastical parish from the civil parish of Tottenham, Feb. 6, 1866: the New River flows through it. Here the Great Northern railway has a station on the main line, with a branch to Enfield: the Great Eastern railway has also a branch to this Green lanes. The district, including Bowes Park, Bounds Green and Noel Park, is governed by a Local Board of twelve members, formed Sept. 29th, 1888, and is lighted with gas from works situated at Tottenham, the property of the Tot-tenham and Edmonton Gas Light and Coke Co. and supplied with water by the New River Company. The church of St. Michael and All Angels is a building of stone in the Early English style, from designs by Mr. Curzon, architect, of Lincoln's Inn fields, London, consisting of chancel with vestry, nave of four bays, aisles, south porch and a tower with spire at the south-east angle containing a clock : there are 620 sittings, of which 220 are free. The register dates are 020 stungs, of which 220 are free. The register dates from the year 1866. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value varying from £200 to £300, with residence, in the gift of the vicar of Tottenham, and held since 1866 by the Rev. John Thomas. There is a temporary iron Catholic church in Station road, with 200 sittings. St. James's Presbyterian church, situated at the corner of Naas road Prespyterian church, stuated at the corner of Mass road and built in 1877, will seat 500; there is a Congregational church in Lordship lane, seating 400; a Baptist chapel in Finsbury road, seating 500; a Wesleyan chapel in Trinity road, with sittings for 600; and a Primitive Methodist chapel in Station road, built in 1882: the Plymouth Brethren have a mission room in Green lanes, to seat 60 persons, and the Strict Baptists one in Green lanes with 120 sittings. Attached to the King's Arms hotel, White Hart lane, are Assembly Rooms, seating 600 people: the Masonic Hall is at the corner of Nightingale road and Southgate road and will seat 250. The Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, in Lordship lane, founded in 1798 and rebuilt in 1866, is intended for the maintenance and education of the sons of Freemasons from the age of 7 to 15: it is supported by subscriptions and donations; there are now (1890) 250 boys; head-master and chaplain, Rev. Harry Arthur Hebb M.A.
The Asylum for Aged Fishmongers and Poulterers, founded in 1835, is a building of 12 houses, in the Elizabethan style, and is intended for the reception of 12 married couples, each and is intended for the reception of 12 married couples, each couple receiving 12s. 6d. a week and single persons 8s. 6d.: it is supported by the Fishmougers' and Poulterers' Companies. The Printers' Almshouses, also situated here, were founded in 1849 and consist of dwellings for 24 persons, each of whom receives from £15 to £40 yearly according to circumstances; the almhouses are supported by subscriptions Fuller's Almshouses, founded by John Fuller, in 1592, for the poor of the parish of Shoreditch, stand on ground pre-sented by W. Styles, formerly a contractor in that parish, and consist of dwellings for 12 poor women, each of whom receives £12 yearly; these almshouses are supported by endowments. NOEL PARK is an estate principally of artisans' dwellings adjacent to Green Lanes station, Great Eastern railway, and adjacent to Green Lanes station, Great Eastern railway, and was formed, October 31, 1889, into an ecclesiastical district by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. The church of St. Mark, Gladstone avenue, consecrated I Nov. 1889, is a building of red brick with stone dressings, in the Early English style, from designs by Mr. Rowland Plumbe F.R.I.B.A. of Fitsroy square w, and at a cost of £7,500, raised by voluntary contributions, a considerable portion coming from the YIEWSLEY is a village and ecclesiastical parish, formed 1889-90 at a cost of £600, on a site at Stawall, given by the January 30, 1874, from the parish of Hillingdon, 3 miles south from Uxbridge and adjoins West Drayton station on the GreatWestern railway, in the Uxbridge division of the county, Elthorne hundred, Uxbridge petty sessional division, union and county court district, and in the rural deanery of Uxbridge, archdeaconry of Middlesex and diocese of London: the river Coine and the Grand Junction Canal run through the parish. St. Matthew's church, consecrated July, 1859, is a plain edifice of brick, with stone dressings, in the Early English style, from designs by the late Sir G. G. Scott R.A. and consists of apsidal chancel, vestries, nave, south porch and bell gable over the chancel arch containing one bell: the church was decorated, and a new pulpit erected in 1883, at a cost of about £260; handsome oak choir stalls with finely carved heads were given in 1887 by Mr. and Mrs. Clutnnely carred heads were given in 1887 by Mr. and Mrs. Citution, of Brookside: the organ was enlarged in 1883 and oak reredos presented in 1889, by the late S. S. Phillips esq.: there are 330 sittings. The register of baptisms dates from the year 1859; marriages from 1874. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £178, with residence, in the gift of the vicar of Hillingdon, and held since 1882 by the Rev. Heavy George Rind M. A. of Trinity since 1881 by the Rev. Henry George Bird M.A. of Trinity College, Dublin. A church mission room was erected in West Drayton Station, Sydney Frdk. Johnson, station mast

Ecclesiastical Commissioners, and will seat 120 persons. The members of the Free Church of England hold divine service twice every Sunday at the residence of Mr. B. S. Liddall; the Rev. J. C. Wace is the officiating minister. Here is also a Wesleyan chapel, erected in 1872. The Working Men's Club, which is well supplied with the London and local papers, has now 270 ordinary members and about 10 hon, members. This village receives one-sixth part of the Hillingdon charities. The population in 1881 was 2,256. Acting Parish Clerk, James Leatherby.
