¹ SCHEDULE 2.—Slave inhabitants in the county of Princess Anne, State of Virginia, enumerated by me on the 2d day of August, 1850, W. H. C. Lovitt, assistant marshal. The marshal, in summing up, stated that there were 3,130 slaves in the county. The report has been mutilated, and four pages, containing it is impossible to say how many names, are missing. There were in Princess Anne county, in 1850, 4,280 whites, 259 free negroes, and 3,130 slaves.

NEWTON-WASHINGTON LETTERS:

From the Herald and Norfolk² and Portsmouth³ Advertiser,
Saturday, September 12, 1795

To the President of the United States

Norfolk, Aug. 6, 1795

Sir,

By direction of a meeting, held at the Court House of this County, yesterday, I transmit their proceedings relative to the Treaty of Amity, Commerce and Navigation, between the United States and his Britannic Majesty, now under your consideration; they are so expressive in their sentiments of the consequences attending the adoption of it, that I hope your opinion will coincide with their wishes, and that they will have their weight with others on the same occasion to pervert⁴ the evil tendency that is predicted by a ratification thereof With sentiments of the highest respect

I am

your obedient servant

Thomas Newton, Chairman.

United States, Philadelphia,

August 31, 1795.

Sir,

Have received your letter of the 6th instant, inclosing the proceedings of the meeting at Norfolk on the 5th, relative to the Treaty lately negotiated between the United States and Great Britain—on subjects of so complex and relative a nature as those embraced by the Treaty, a diversity of opinion was to have been expected—my determination which is known to have been in the affirmative of the Treaty, as advised and consented to by the Senate, was formed after the most mature deliberation and with sincere regard to the public good. Though it cannot be uninteresting to me to know that the wishes of a part of my fellow-citizens have been contravened by the decision; yet, if the purity of my intentions will entitle me to their approbation, it has not been forfeited on the present important occasion.

With due respects

I am

your obedient

G. Washington.

"Upon a pet'on and representation from the comm'ee of the county of P. Anne in behalf of themselves and the inhabitants of said county, setting forth the distresses and ruin w^{ch} must attend them from the carrying into execution the resolution of this board of the tenth day of April last for their removal, and praying that the same might be revised and rescinded, or in some measure relaxed. On hearing the Gent. appointed to present the s^d pet'on, and advised with Major General Lee, and maturely considering the subject, the comm'ee are of opinion that many inconveniences would arise from carrying the s^d resolution into execution in its full latitude, and therefore do resolve that Wm. Robinson, Thos. Reynolds Walker, Thos. Old, John Throwgood, James Henley, Erasmus Haynes, and William Wishart, Gent., or any 4 or more of them, having taken an oath before a magistrate or comm'eemen to do equal and impartial justice and keep each other's secrets, do assemble themselves together and make strict inquiry into the temper and former conduct of the inhabitants of the s^d county of Princess Anne and certifie to the Hon. Major-General Lee, or the commanding officer at Suffolk or its neighborhood, which of them have taken an active part in behalf of America, which have remained quiet at home without taking an active part on either side, and who have appeared inimical to America, on which cert'ate the General or commanding officer is desired to suffer all such as have been friends or neutrals to remain at their habitations with their families, but to remove all their live stock except such as the Comm'rs above named shall judge necessary for their immediate subsistence; and that all the enemies of America in the said county be compelled to remove with their families and effects, according to the former resolution, and the Comm'rs are desired to return their whole proceedings to this Comm'ee, to be laid before the General Convention.—From Journal of the Committee of Safety of Virginia, from February 7, 1776, to July 5, 1776, Calendar of Virginia State Papers, Vol. VIII., p. 166.

² In a power of attorney, made December 3, 1668, and proved June 15, 1669, Thomas Moncreffe, of Londonderry, Alderman, and Alexander Tomkins and Henry Gardner, of the same city, made Anthony Lawson, merchant, of the same city, their attorney for Virginia, "or any other part of the West Indies." April 16th, 1673, a certificate for 400 acres of land was granted Mr. Anthony Lawson for his own importation twice, and for John Canter, W^m Church, Garrett Really, Eljz^a May, and Zambo & Maria, two negroes. He was married, first, to Mrs. Ann Okeham, relict of Mr. John Okeham, and then to Mrs. Mary Moseley, relict of William Moseley, and daughter of John Gookin; and then to Elizabeth ———. He was a justice of Lower Norfolk County from Feby. 18th, 1672-'73, to May 11th, 1682, and from May 17th, 1687, to May 28th, 1691, and then for Norfolk County to May 16th, 1693. May 11th, 1682,¹ April 2nd,² 1683, April 16th, 1684,³ and May 15th, 1685,⁴ appointed High Sheriff for Lower Norfolk County, and High Sheriff of Norfolk County from May 18th, 1693, to May 7th, 1695, and Justice of Princess Anne County from November 4th, 1696, to July 3rd, 1701.

January 15th, 1750, Anthony and Thomas Lawson made an exchange of some lands which had been left them by their father Thomas Lawson deceased. On the 21th of March 1760 Anthony and Charles Lawson sold to George Chapple two hundred and seventy-five acres of land in the county of P. A. near Back bay it being a part of a larger tract of land left by Thomas Lawson to his sons, Anthony, Charles and Thomas, and Thomas¹⁰ being then dead his part descended to his heir at law Anthony. Sept 17th 1783 Anthony Lawson "Esquire" sold to William Robinson "Attorney at Law" for "Thirty pounds Current Money of Virginia" "one hundred acres of Land" in Princess Anne County "part of that Tract of Land, Marsh-Land, Sand Banks, and Flat-Sands binding on the North Side of Old Currituck Inlet, Commonly called and known by the Name of the Wash-Tract" belonging to "Anthony Lawson Esquire, Major Thomas Walke, and others."

Colonel Anthony Lawson, son of Thomas Lawson and Frances his wife, daughter of Charles Sayer, was born in 1729 and died February 16th, 1785. His wife Mary Calvert was born in 1742 and died January 18th 1787. He was admitted to practice law May 15th 1750, was a justice of Princess Anne county from May 20th, 1760 to November 3¹, 1768, and from May 8th, 1772 to August 10th, 1775, and was Sheriff from November 3¹, 1768 to November 1st, 1770, and Vestryman of Lynhaven Parish from Nov. 14th, 1769 to November 6th, 1772, Church Warden to December 14th, 1773, and then vestryman to November 17th 1778, when he resigned. He was captured by the British during the Revolution and sent to East Florida on the "Otter, Man of War, Cap^t Squires."

"To all whom it may concern"

"In the Name of God Amen, I Anthony Lawson of princess Anne County

and Commonwealth of Virginia, being sick and weake in Body but of a sound disposing mind and memory | Blessed be God | do make and Ordain this my last Will and Testament in manner and form following : Imprimis I give and devise unto my Son Richard Henry Lee Lawson two hundred and fifty Acres of Land, part of the Tract wheron I now live, to be laid off at the south End of the said tract, to wit, to begin at the Southermost Line next to New-Town and extend Northerly the whole breadth of the said tract, that is, from the westernmost to the Easternmost side, untill the said two hundred and fifty Acres are completed, which I give unto him and his Heirs for ever. Item, I give and devise unto my said son Richard Henry Lee Lawson, four hundred Acres of Sand Banks and Marsh being part of the Wash Tract, to him and his Heirs for ever. Item. I give and devise unto my Son Thomas¹³ Lawson the remainder of my Land, Sand Banks-Banks and Marshes, to him and his Heirs for ever, (except such as I have hereafter given to my son Anthony.) Item, I give and bequeath unto my Son Thomas Lawson all my Silver Plate marked A L E (except two Cups and two Salvers which I have hereafter given to my son Richard Henry Lee Lawson) I also give unto my said Son Thomas my Clock, Books and Book-Case, a young Horse (his choice) my best Saddle and Bridle and my Silver mounted Gun. Item I give and bequeath unto my son Richard Henry Lee Lawson, two Silver Cups, and two Salvers, marked A. L E. as aforesaid, also one Gun, which was given to me by my kinsman William Wishart¹⁴ in his last Will and Testament. Item I give and devise unto my Son Anthony Lawson two hundred Acres of Land at the place commonly called the Logg House, bounded by the road that leads from the Cross-Roads to Norfolk, to the Northward of the said Tract, to the Westward on Nathaniel Hoggards Land, by a line to be run to the Southward, to the Eastward by the main Road that leads to Newtown, to complete the said two hundred Acres, which I give unto him and his Heirs for ever. I also give unto my said Son Anthony one Gun, such as shall be judged to be a neat and genteel Fowling-piece. Item. I give and bequeath unto my Daughter Frances Sayer Lawson, one good young Horse, one Saddle and Bridle well mounted Item, It is my will and desire after my wifes Dower is set apart, that the remainder of my Slaves be equally divided amongst all my children ; and after my wifes decease, it is also my will and desire, the Dower Slaves should be equally divided amongst my children as aforesaid, but it is my desire that no division shall be made of my Slaves untill my Son Thomas arrives to the age of twenty five years, but be kept and employed on the manor Plantation, and the profits after all expences are paid to be applyed to the maintenance and Education of my children unless any one or more of my Daughters in the meantime should marry in that case I desire desire that such daughter or Daughters so marrying, may have her or their Proportion of my Slaves set apart immediately. Item, I desire that my three Sons, Thomas Richard Henry Lee, and Anthony Lawson may have each a liberal Education—Item, I give and bequeath unto my Wife and seven Children, the residue of my personal Estate to be equally divided amongst them, reserving the use of my Furniture riding Chair and Horse to my Wife during her Widowhood. It is also my Will and desire that not any Article or thing given to my Children shall be Sold but at the Discretion of their Guardian or Guardians. Item, If in case any British Debt shall come against the concern of William White and Company, more than can be paid by the said concern, I do then and in that case leave as much of the Land given to my Son Thomas to be sold for the payment of my proportion of the same except he (my said son Thomas) will undertake to pay it. Lastly I do hereby nominate constitute and appoint my kinsmen Charles Sayer and Thomas Wishart sen^r Guardians to all my Children and Executors of this my last will and Testament. In Witness whereof I have hereunto set my Hand and Seal this fourth Day of February in the Year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and Eighty five—Signed Sealed published and Declared

"Present, Miles King,² Mayor,

"John Nivison,³ Recorder,

"William Vaughan.⁴

"It appearing to the Satisfaction of the Court that James Silk Buckingham,⁵ a native of England, has resided within the Jurisdiction of the United States for Eight Years, and for one Year within this State, and he making oath that he will support the constitution of the United States and absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure all allegiance to any foreign prince, potentate or Sovereignty whatsoever, particularly the King of Great Britain. And it moreover appearing to the Satisfaction of the Court that the said James Silk Buckingham has demeaned himself as a Man of good Moral character, attached to the constitution of the United States, and well disposed towards the good order and happiness of the same, he is thereupon admitted to the rights and privileges of a Citizen."

NOTES.

¹ James Silk Buckingham, an English traveller, lecturer, and author, was born in Flushing, near Falmouth, England, in 1786, and died in London June 30th, 1855. He was intended for the church; but, being of an adventurous turn of mind, he became a sailor, bookseller's clerk, law-student, printer, and captain of a West-Indiaman. He was employed in 1813 by the Pacha of Egypt to select a route for a canal across the isthmus of Suez; but after being robbed, the Pacha relinquished his design, and Buckingham went to India, and commanded a ship in the service of the Sultan of Muscat. After this he went through many adventures. He published, at various times, his Travels in Palestine, Travels in Arabia, Travels in Mesopotamia, and Travels in Assyria and Media; and two volumes on Belgium, the Rhine and Switzerland, and two on France, Piedmont, and Switzerland. He lectured through Great Britain in the interest of various reforms, and represented Sheffield in Parliament from 1832 to 1837, and subsequently travelled in America as a slavery and temperance lecturer. Sketches of his life appear in Appleton's Cyclopædia of American Biography, and in The Dictionary of National Biography, British; but in neither is it mentioned that he ever became a citizen of the United States, as he did, unless the James Silk Buckingham mentioned above was another person, and unless there was a most remarkable coincidence of names.

² Alderman from November 22nd, 1802, to June 24th, 1804, and from June 24th, 1805, to June 24th, 1809, and from June 25th, 1810, to April 25th, 1814; Mayor from June 24th, 1804, to June 24th, 1805, and from June 24th, 1809, to June 25th, 1810. On the 25th of April, 1814, he was elected Mayor, to fill the unexpired term of Miles King, Jr., who resigned, but only sat once, April 28th, 1814, and shortly afterwards died.

³ Common councilman from April 11th, 1793, to July 27th, 1805, being President of the body from February, 1794, to February, 1795; Recorder from August 31st, 1805, to 29th of February, 1820, when he resigned.

MY MOTHER. ¹

FIRST EVENING.

I was born in Norfolk, on the 20th day of June, 1750. I was the daughter of Maximilian² and Mary Calvert, of that place. My parents had five children besides me, Jonathan³ Mary, Savage, Maximilian, and Margaret. Jonathan, my eldest brother, married a Miss Newton, a beautiful girl, with a handsome fortune, by whom he had two children, Newton, who died some years ago, and Rebecca, wife of Miles King, who died, leaving two sons. Savage was some time Sergeant of the Borough, and used to carry the mace before the court. He was also captain of a company of volunteers called the “Fellows.” He never married, but died in the year ——. Maximilian,⁴ my youngest brother, was sent to William and Mary College before the Revolutionary War. He was a most amiable young man, very fond of his books, and always correct in his habits. He always attended prayer in the chapel, which attracted the attention of Lord Botetourt, who was pleased to take notice of him and commend him for it, and the compliment was long remembered by my father and mother, and all of us with pleasure. He died, however, very suddenly, and his tutor, Mr. Johnson, wrote the epitaph, which you have read on his tombstone in the old church-yard:

“Go, my dear youth, obey the call of heaven,
 Thy sins were few, and those, I trust, forgiven;
 Yet, oh! what pen can paint thy parent’s woe,
 God only gives the balm, who struck the blow.”

My oldest sister, Mary (or Polly, as we used to call her), married a Mr. Marsden, who was some time in partnership with my husband. Mr. M. died during the Revolutionary War, leaving my sister a widow with three children, John, Nancy, and Betsey. Peggy married Mr. Alexander Cowan, by whom she had children, William, John, Alexander, and Catharine. My father, Maximilian Calvert, was the second son of Cornelius Calvert, who came to this country, I suppose, some time about the year ——, in command of a vessel (for he was a sea captain) from some part of England. Here he married a girl by the name of Mary Saunders, the daughter, I believe, of a country clergyman,⁵ residing somewhere about Newtown, in the county of Princess Anne. He was an active, industrious man, and his wife was a prudent, managing woman, and, so, he soon made a clever little estate, and he was enabled to leave off going to sea, though he still did business about vessels and had some concern in them. He owned three or four lots up town, where Mr. Archer's house now stands, and thereabouts; and used to employ his boys, as soon as they were big enough, to carry stones to make land in the water. He owned, too, I remember, four valuable negroes, who were good seamen and brought in good wages. Shortly after his marriage, and before he left the sea, he made a voyage to England to see his mother, who, residing, I believe, in some part of the country, received him with great kindness; but, having now married a second husband, could not do much for him. However, on his being about to take leave of her, she accompanied him some miles, driving him in her chair, and when they came to the place where they must part, she said to him: "My son, we are about to separate, and I never expect to see you again in this world; I am sorry I have nothing to give you but this ball of yarn. Take it. It will serve you to mend your stockings when you get on board the ship. I suppose you mend your stockings? And mind, you must unwind it yourself." So, my grandfather took the ball, and feeling it to be very heavy, when his mother had left him, he was very anxious to find out what might be in it, and long before he got to the ship, unwound the ball, and found, to his great joy and surprise, sixty solid gold guineas.

After my grandfather left the sea, and was growing old, he became, if he had not already been, very pious, and was always reading his Bible and writing verses on it. To be sure, they were the roughest and hardest-going verses in the world, but he took great pleasure in writing them. The very Bible is now in the possession of Capt. Tucker, who married, you know, a granddaughter of the old man. He had eleven sons, ten of whom lived to grow up and become masters of ships, and two daughters. The sons that grew up were: Jonathan, Maximilian, Cornelius,⁶ Thomas, Saunders, Joseph, William, Christopher, John, and Samuel. The daughters were: Mary, who married Col. Lawson, of Petersburg, by whom she had Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Cartwright. The boys were all wild and mischievous, and fond of sport and frolic. The old man, indeed, was very strict with them, and every evening he would have them called in to sit in the corners of the wide old chimney-place, to behave while he sat reading his Bible and writing his verses in the margin; and so wholly wrapped up would he be in the employment, that the boys, or some of them, could easily manage to steal out (especially as I think he was a little deaf, too) to play their pranks and return without being missed from their places. And many pranks indeed did they play. There was one old woman, in particular, whom they were fond of teasing with their tricks, a poor old Mrs. Archer. She would be gone abroad, and being to return, as they knew, through their father's yard to her own dwelling, they would slip out while the old gentleman was poring over his book, and stretch a string, over which poor Mrs. Archer would be sure to fall sprawling on the ground. Suspecting them, of course, she would go in to the old gentleman to complain against them: "Captain Calvert, I do declare you have the worst boys in all the town. I declare you must have something done with them; indeed, you must." Then she would tell her tale. But he would answer: "Why, Madam, I am sorry for your fall, but you must be mistaken in supposing that my boys have had any hand in it, for, I can assure you, they have not been out of their seats all this evening; and here, you see, they are." And so, indeed, they were there, all trying to look as grave as judges, and hardly able to contain themselves and to keep from laughing out.

The old gentleman died some time before his wife, who lived to a good old age, and saw all her sons grown up and masters of vessels. The oldest of them, as I said, was Jonathan. I do not know that I ever saw him, but he died at sea; for I remember that one winter day, when it was very cold and snowing very fast (the winters then were much harder than they are now), the vessel of which he had gone out captain came sailing into the harbour with the sails all set and frozen, and steering about in a very wild manner, which made those who saw her think that all was not right on board. So some of them went to her, and found that the captain had died at sea, and had been buried in it; and that several of the men were frozen to death, and others down with the small-pox, and one of those four negroes of my grandfather's was at the helm. So they took command of her, and brought her, too.

NOTES.

¹ Born in Norfolk, Va., February 27th, 1784; died near Williamsburg, June 9th, 1857;

Part II., Containing the subsequent history and death of Mrs. Read in Norfolk in 1833, was destroyed by fire during the late Civil War.

PRIVATE NOTE BY MRS. M.²—"When Gen. LaFayette visited Norfolk in 1824, as a youthful friend of the family, I was invited to be present at his interview with Mrs. Read, who at that time was in excellent preservation, though seventy-four years of age. In her matronly cap and dress of black satin, she looked every inch a queen, and the scene can never be forgotten, as, with her graceful manners and address, quite in keeping with his ease and politeness, they talked of former days. In proof of his remarkable memory, I may mention that the General spoke of Capt. Maxwell as familiarly as if they had just parted, calling him by his army sobriquet, and making many pleasant allusions [to their intimacy] while in the service of the country. In dignity and grace, as well as conversational gifts, Mrs. Read was, indeed, 'a woman among a thousand,' and there was truth in the remark which she once made with great simplicity: 'I think I am something out of the ordinary line. I have been in all sorts of company in my time. I have talked with the poorest people, giving them advice, etc., . . . and with the greatest and most fashionable people in the land, and have felt myself perfectly at home and at ease with them all.' Her powers of narration were admirable, and often in childhood, with rapt attention, I have sat at her feet while, with graphic skill she would recall the stirring scenes of the War of the Revolution. Since then, alas! a change has come over the spirit of my dream, and the events of that period seem now to have paled before the unwritten experiences of our late gigantic strife. Her portrait is still among my remains, though its life-like eloquence of expression has been marred by a gash from a Federal sabre during the sacking of our residence on the Peninsula. This, however, will but impart additional interest to the picture; and the Virginia matron of the olden time may now descend to posterity as the heroine of two wars."

The names of the slave owners are taken from a census report labelled "A Copy of the 3^d Censos To remain at the Clerk's office for the inspection of all concerned W^m Bishop Ass^t to The Marshal of the Virginia district." The report is dated 15th December 1810. W^m Bishop was married to Miss Anne Carmichael by the Reverend Anthony Walke on the 29th of December, 1789. He was a Vestryman of Lynnhaven Parish, Princess Anne county, from July 10th, 1806, to April 9th, 1814, being Church Warden from March 11th, 1810, to April 9th, 1814. His will was made Feb. 10th, 1814, proved April 4th, 1815. He left a widow Anne, and daughter Eliza, and appointed his brother James Bishop, executor. He left a plantation of 111 acres of land. His appraisal was made

At a Court in the lower Count of new Norfolke the 6th of ffruary.

Whereas it doth appeare that John Wilson² of the lower Count of Norfolke Clarke hath Bought of Robt Page merchant as many goodes as doe amount to the value of eight hundred forty nine as X appeareth. It is . . . therefor ordered that the aforesd John Wilson shall within ten dayes after ye date hereof pay the aforesd sume of tob or else execution to be awarded. It is likewise furdre ordered that the aforesd John Wilson shall pay unto Nathan Stainsmore the summe of two hundred and eightie pounds of tob within the space of ten dayes after the date heereof being due y account the Last yeare.

¹ The Rev. John Wilson is of historic importance, from the fact that he was the first minister, so far as is known, who was in Elizabeth River Parish, Lower Norfolk County, Virginia. Bishop Meade, in his first volume, page 271, says: "I state it on the authority of one who would not speak unadvisedly, that in the year 1637, one John Wilson was minister of Elizabeth River Parish, in Norfolk County." These extracts probably contain all that will ever be known of him.

MY MOTHER.

SECOND EVENING.

My father Maximilian Calvert was the second son of Cornelius and Mary Calvert. He was brought up to Sea and got to command a vessel which trades regularly with the island of Barbadoes. In this business, although he was not of a penurious cast, but of a free, generous disposition, he continued to make some money, and especially after he married my mother, who was of a more prudent and saving turn. When I first came to know him, he had left off going to sea, and was living like a gentleman^l on his means. He had a wholesale store (kept by his clerks) owned slaves and wherries, in which he sent goods to Williamsburg, and owned a ship called the Two Sisters. He was a fine, portly man, of a handsome ruddy face, and good carriage and address. He had a stiff knee—his left knee—and used to sit in consequence with one foot a little in advance of the other — so. This stiffness he got, as he told us, in this way. He had been ashore one day, while his ship was lying in the harbour of Bridgetown, to dine with a gentleman of that place, and returning on board rather late on the evening, after having dined and drunken pretty freely, of course, as the fashion was, he found that the mate had turned in and fastened the cabin door; and unwilling to wake him to fill the Vacancy caused by his death. January 18th, 1748, judgment was granted his executors, James Nimmo and Thomas Everard, against William Purdy for fifty shillings. Another William Nimmo, known as W^m Nimmo S^r died in 1770 and left wife Martha (widow of W^m Carraway who died about 1761) and children, Mary Lesley, Elizth, Nath^l and Nanny.

up, he threw himself on the deck and slept the whole night. But the next morning he found that his knee was stiff, from the effect of the night air, and all the doctors whom he consulted were unable to restore it again. This defect, however, did not diminish, but somewhat increased the stateliness of his gait, by making him carry himself still more erect, and his walk and carriage were imposing. He used to dress well, and wore the fine, old-fashioned coat with large cuffs and ruffles at the hands. He was of a gay and sociable disposition, fond of taking and joking, and lived on the best terms with his friends and neighbours. My father was fond of good living, and kept a famous cook—poor old Quashabee, the ugliest creature my eyes ever beheld, but a capital cook, and made the best soups, sauces, gravies, and all such things, in the world. He was also fond of good drinking, though he never drank to excess. He was particularly fond of arrack punch (which, however, he drank weak) and always kept his silver tankard by him, holding about three pints, which he would empty two or three times a day, till the doctors began to be afraid that he would fall into a lethargy, of which he showed some symptoms, and limited him to a single one. My father was for many years an alderman of the Borough court and sometime Mayor of the town. They tell a good story of him while he was so. One night, it seems, there was a great riot in Portsmouth from the sailors of a Spanish ship, who had broken loose and taken the streets, and were carrying all before them. The trustees and citizens came out to stop them, but without effect; when they bethought themselves to send over to the Mayor of Norfolk for help. My father, of course, repaired with all dispatch to the scene; dressed out in his best coat, with his long cane, and a posse of gentlemen and constables in his train, and rushing at once in the middle of the mob, commanded them all to disperse in the name of the Commonwealth. This, however, though somewhat awed by the sound of his voice (which he had been used to raise in a gale of wind), they were rather unwilling to do, demanded who he was that they should obey him. To which, aware of the respect which they attach to long names, he dexterously replied, assuming his most dignified air, "I am Don Maximilian de Calverto, Grand Magistrate de Norfolk Boro"—upon which, not doubting he was a grandee of the first rank, they all took off their hats to him and retired very peaceably to their ship. This exploit, of course, got him great fame in those days. My father wishing to have a country seat for his amusement, purchased a small farm about five miles from town, and built a large, handsome house upon it facing James River and the setting sun. He imported, also, a Scotch² gardener to plant and dress the ground in taste, and used to have everything good and agreeable there. He was very fond of this place, particularly the garden—though he used to say that every cabbage cost him a dollar. He called the place Pomfret, after the poet³ of that name, whose poem called, “The . . . Choice,” had suggested the idea of getting a country seat. The particular lines which struck his fancy, as I remember from often repeating them were these :

If Heaven the grateful liberty would give,
That I might choose my method how to live,
And all those hours propitious Fate should lend
In blissful ease and satisfaction spend,
Near some fair town I'd have a private seat,
Built uniform, not little, nor too great
Better if on a rising ground it stood,
On this side fields, on that a neighboring pool,
It should within no other things contain,
But what are useful, necessary, plain
Methinks 'tis nauseous, and I'd never endure,
The needless pomp of gaudy furniture,
A little garden grateful to the eye,
And a cool rivulet run murmuring by,
On whose delicious banks a stately row
Of Shady limes or sycamores should grow.
&c., &c.

Such was the poet's fancy piece, and my father realized much of it in fact. He could not, indeed, get the “rising ground,” but he had the “fields” and “woods” in plenty, and the “murmuring rivulet,” all Elizabeth river with its sounding waves. It was, in short, a charming spot; and here, he would entertain his friends from town, and the officers would come up in their barges from the ships as they lay off Sewell's Point, in Hampton Roads. When the troubles came on, my father showed himself a good Whig and took sides with our own people against the King. I remember him coming in one evening in fine spirits, laughing and saying to my mother and all of us, “Well, now, take notice, one and all of you, that I have joined the Association (against tea), and you must drink no more of it—at least, not in my sight, for if you do, I shall be obliged to break your China for you.” So we banished the teapot from the table, but as we could not give up our tea, and saw no good to come in spiting ourselves in that way, we used to sip a little, now and then, by ourselves. And sometimes, too, my mother, waxing bold, would venture to pour it out to us before his eyes—but, nota bene from a coffee pot, to which, of course, he could make no objection. The truth is, if he was a good patriot, he was also a kind father, and naturally disposed to wink at our little indulgencies when he knew they could do no harm. After the war broke out, he used to receive and entertain all the patriots that came this way. I remember particularly that the famous General Lee⁴ came to stay at our house. He had on a pair of green Sherry-vallies,⁵ as he called them, with leather on the inward seam and a row of buttons on the out. He brought with him four ugly little dogs, which he petted, pestered everybody with, in a nauseous style. One of them he called Lady Caroline, and another Lady Catharine, and one named Busy, he said he had been obliged to leave behind at Williamsburg to lie in. My father, however, paid him all proper attentions, and even showed some regard to his dogs, for his sake. "Love me, love my dog." We gave him, of course, our great chamber, the best bed-room in the house, with two large beds in it, and fitted up in handsome style. To this he retired at night with his dogs along with him, but how was my good mother scandalized next morning when the maid came to her and told her that on going to clean out the chamber she had found that the strange General not satisfied with occupying one of the beds himself, had actually clapped all his ugly dogs into the other. He was indeed a great oddity, or made himself one. Apropos, of his Sherry-vallies, I remember some writer, an old maid,⁶ I believe, though I forget her name, wrote a piece in a Magazine in Philadelphia, in which describing his person, she made particular mention of his trousers or overhauls, as she called them. But he came out with an answer and begged to set her right, assuring her that they were neither trousers nor overalls, but Sherry-vallies, such as were worn in his Majesty the King of Prussia's service. My father continued to live some time after the war broke out, dividing his time between Norfolk and Pomfret, and some time about the year 1780, I suppose, I came down from New Kent, where I then resided with my husband, in Capt. Wright Westcott's row galley, and under his protection, to pay my parents a visit. I landed, accordingly, at Pomfret, where they then were, but on touching the shore, my father and mother both came down to meet me and warn me off, for, it seems, the small-pox, which I had never had, had broken out in the family, and they themselves had been inculcated, though they had not broken out. So they embraced me tenderly and sent me away with Capt. Westcott, who very kindly took me to his own house, until I got an opportunity and returned to my own home. This was the last time I saw my father, and not long afterwards I heard of his death, and wept for the loss of so kind and fond a parent with many tears."

NOTES.

¹ In England the Heralds College recognizes as gentlemen only those who are entitled to coat armour, but the term is legally used of men without occupation who live on their means, and is in particular applied to those of landed estate. A well known work on the subject says that "a gentleman of three generations should cede" precedence "to a gentleman of ten, if there be not a great disparity between their fortunes" and that "any ordinary landed man who has newly acquired his lands" should yield precedence to the gentleman of three generations. Formerly the gentry possessed privileges which at the present day appear incredible.

In crimes of the same nature a gentleman was to be "punished with more favour than the churl," and his evidence, in testifying, was more authentic. In the first half of the seventeenth century, in being lighted through the streets dark nights, "courtiers were lighted with torches, merchants and lawyers with links, and mechanics with lanthorns." Hume's sympathy with the American colonies in their struggle was largely, if not exclusively, because of the contempt in which men of letters were held by the higher classes of English society. "Walpole remarked to him with covert insolence (11 Nov. 1766), you know in England we read their works, but seldom or never take notice of authors. We think them sufficiently paid if their books sell, and, of course, leave them in their colleges and obscurity, by which means we are not troubled with their vanity and impertinence." A high born guest at a country house once asked who that agreeable man was, and on being told that it was Thackeray the novelist, said, "You surprise me, I thought he was a gentleman." As late as 1862 a famous author in one of his novels made a physician say that a man on "entering any profession except that of arms or the senate" left his "pedigree at its door an erased or dead letter." In England at the present day the word has also a broader and more generous meaning, and in the United States is applied to every man who behaves himself regardless of occupation or social position, and to such a man only. Mrs. Read's use of the word is sustained by Sir Thomas Smith and N. Bailey. "He" "who can live idly, and without manual labour and will bear the port, charge, and countenance of a gentleman, 'he' shall be taken for a gentleman." Sir T. Smith quoted by Dr. Edward Fischel in The English Constitution, "In our Days all are accounted Gentlemen that have Money, and if he have no Coat of Arms, the King of Arms can sell him one." Dictionarium Britannicum, by N. Bailey, 1730.

* In the 18th century it was the exception and not the rule when the immigrant paid his own passage. The immigrants were either imported, or made contracts with the captains of vessels, who on their arrival sold them privately or by public auction into temporary servitude. "Adults were sold for a term of from 3 to 6 years and children from 10 to 15 years. Servants signed indentures and were known as indented servants. The last sales of this kind took place in Philadelphia in 1818 and 1819." "As late as 1819 the lower deck of an emigrant vessel was no better than that of a slave or coolie ship." The cost of transporting servants to Virginia from England during the 17th century was about six pounds sterling. The servants were sometimes of better origin and education than the majority of freeman, and often occupied positions of importance and trust. George Taylor of Pennsylvania, signer of the Declaration of Independence, was a redemptioner, as indented servants were called, "and on his arrival at Philadelphia, was bound out to an iron manufacturer for a term of years," and about 1776, a gentleman by the name of Palfreman was purchased by Colonel William Preston, "as a teacher for his family."

³ Born at Luton, Bedfordshire, 1667, died in London in 1703. He was educated at Queen's College, and was made Vicar of Malden, and only failed of a living of greater value because a passage in his poem of The Choice had been misconstrued by Bishop Compton. He was successful in his defence, but soon after died of the small-pox.

⁶ Rebecca Franks the beautiful and witty Loyalist belle of Philadelphia, and daughter of David Franks a wealthy Jewish merchant. She said that Lee rode in "old green breeches patched with leather." "He answered her with asperity that they were actually legitimate sherry-vallies such as his Majesty of Poland wears, who, let me tell you, is a man who has made more fashions than all your Knights of the Mischianza put together." She married "Lieut.-Gen. Sir Henry Johnson of the British Army." "She died in 1823." ⁵ Stephen B. Weeks, Ph. D., in his Southern Quakers and Slavery, says that John Porter, Junior, was a brother of John Porter, Senior. While this may appear odd to us, Charles W. Bardsley, in his Curiosities of Puritan Nomenclature, shows that it was in accordance with old Puritan usage. "So late as March, 1545, the will of John Parnell de Gyrtton, runs Alice, my wife, Old John, my son, to occupy my farm together, till Olde John marries; Young John, my son, shall have Brenlaysland, plowed and sowed at Old Johns Cost." MY MOTHER.

I have told you enough, now, of my father¹ and his relations—it is time for me to tell you a little something of my mother and hers. My mother was the daughter of a Captain Savage of Bermuda, where she was born, and who brought her and her sister Jane, both young girls growing up, to this place, sometime about the year 1740, on a visit to his friend Col Hutchings; and returning himself to the island, he was lost at sea and never heard of more. So, the orphan girls were cast by Providence on the care of Col Hutchings, who brought them up with his own daughters, and always treated them as such. Indeed, he was so much attached to them both, that when a rich relation by the name of John Savage, wrote repeatedly for ¹Cornelius Calvert married Mary Saunders, daughter of the Reverend Jonathan Saunders, of Princess Anne County, on the 29th of July 1719. He was a justice of Norfolk County from July 18th 1729 to January 17th 1729/30. He was a member of the Common Council of Norfolk Borough, and July 7th 1741 was appointed member of a committee to “form a Law” to prevent “all Persons being Servants or Slaves” “from Purchasing any Rum or Spirituous Liquors under two Gallons” June 24th 1747 Mr George Abyvon and Mr Nathaniel Portlock were appointed Common Council Men in the Room of Capt Cornelius Calvert deced and Mr Peter Dale resigned.

In the name of God Amen I Cornelius Calvert of Norfolk Borough Merchant, being in good health of Body and sensible in Mind, but knowing the uncertainty of Death do now make this my last Will & Testament in Manner and form following. Imprimis I give and bequeath my immortal Soul to God in hopes of its eternal Happiness through the merits of Jesus Christ; my Body to be decently buried and my temporal Estate as followeth. Item I give and bequeath amongst all my Children & their heirs for ever as much Land as will make an Alley from the Front Street into the back Street: the said Alley to begin at the South East Corner of my Store House on the Front Street and to Run from thence, on a straight Line to the South East Corner of my Kitching And from thence along the side of the said Kitching and my Garden Pails into the back street, which Alley is now measured and laid out, being six foot wide and Two hundred & thirty four foot long or thereabouts Item I give and bequeath to Mary my wife the free use & occupation of my dwelling house (at the upper them to come to Charleston and promised to do something clever for them, the Colonel would not consent to let them go, but persuaded them to stay with his daughters, for whom they had contracted such an affection that nothing could draw them away. So, they continued here, and my father soon afterwards, fell in love with my mother and married her. Jane, too, after the marriage of Col Hutchings eldest daughter with Col Thomas Newton (the grandfather of Thomas and George) went to End of Norfolk Borough & nearest to the publick Landing) with the Kitching, Store house Smoke house, Hen house and new Shade joining to my dwelling house and all the Land belonging to it (according to the several Courses and distances hereafter mentioned) during her life and after her decease I give and bequeath the said Land and Buildings (except my new Shade) to my son Cornelius & his heirs for Ever: But if he dies without heir I give the said Land & Buildings (except the new Shade) to my Son William & his heirs for Ever Item I give and bequeath to Mary my wife the free use and Occupation of my three Negro Women, Parthena, Lucy and Rose and of my Two Negro Men Jeffery and Quamano, during her life and after her decease I give and bequeath the said Parthena and Lucy and their Increase after the date hereof to be equally divided amongst my three sons Christopher John and Samuel and their heirs for Ever and the said Rose with all her Increase after the date hereof to my Son William and his heirs for Ever and the said Jeffery to my Daughter Mary and her heirs for Ever and the said Quamano to my Daughter Elizabeth and her heirs for ever And if either of my Daughters die without heir I give and bequeath all her Estate to my surviving Daughter and her heirs for ever. Item I give and bequeath to my son Christopher & his heirs for Ever my Negro Girl Jenny and all her Increase to be delivered to him at his age of Twenty one years Item I give and bequeath to my son John and his heirs for Ever my Negro Girl Madge and all her Increase, to be delivered to him at his age of Twenty one years. Item I give and bequeath to my Daughter Mary and her heirs for ever, my Negro Girl Cherry and all her Increase to be delivered to her on her day of Marriage or when she is Eighteen years old Item I give and bequeath to my Son Samuel and his heirs for ever, my Negro Girl Phillis and all her Increase, to be delivered to him at his age of Twenty one years. Item I give and bequeath to my Daughter Elizabeth and her heirs for ever, my Negro Girl Nancy and all her Increase to be delivered to her, on her day of Marriage, or when she is Eighteen years old Item I give and bequeath to Mary my wife the free use and Occupation of one Dozen of Leather Chairs, One Leather Couch, one large looking Glass, a large Wallnut Table, a Chest of Drawers, twelve silver spoons and Two feather Beds with furniture to them during her life & after decease I give and bequeath the said things to be equally divided live with her, and was courted by a Capt John Blake, the Captain of a fine large ship, and a very worthy, amiable man, whom she accepted for her husband. In the meantime, Mr. Savage of Charleston, though disappointed in his wishes to draw his nieces to him, had done a friendly part for them, and having administered on their fathers estate collected his debts and remitted the proceeds from time to time in bags of dollars, to the children here. I remember, myself, when, some time after she was married, one of these bags came to my mother, with a letter from her good uncle telling her that it was the last which she must expect, as he believed that he had now got all he could collect. Still he urged them to come on to him, but my mother, who was married to her liking and comfortably settled, still declined going; but, my aunt Blake, who had not made out quite so well, as her husband was not a good manager, and had a young family growing up around her, determined to accept

Mary Calvert and her heirs for ever, five pounds. Item I give and bequeath to Mary my wife and her heirs forever the one half of all my Cash and the other half I give to be equally divided amongst my Six youngest Children, William Christopher, John, Mary Samuel and Elizabeth to them and their heirs for Ever. And the Cash left with my wife, by my son Jonathan deced (being about Ten pounds) I give to her & her heirs for Ever. Item the several Courses and Distances of my Land now follows which I have given and divided amongst my five Eldest Sons, Maximillian, Cornelius, Thomas, Saunders and Joseph as before mentioned, The Bounds of Maximillians Land, Begins at a stone on the North East side of the Front street (which stone lies on the dividing Line between Cap^t John Hutchings's Land and mine) Runing from thence North Easterly 38 Degrees (or thereabouts) 150 foot to another stone, from thence South Easterly 45 degrees 74 foot to another stone: from thence South Westerly 44 degrees 102 foot to another; from thence South Easterly 45 degrees 12 foot to another stone from thence South Westerly 40 degrees 47 to another stone on the North East side of the Front street and from thence along the side of the said Street North Westerly 45 degrees 79 foot to the first Station. The Bounds of Cornelius's Land, Begins at a stone on the North East side of the Front street (which stone is 79 foot on the said Street from Cap^t John Hutchings's Lot where he now lives) Runing from thence North Easterly 40 degrees 47 foot to another stone; from thence North Westerly 45 degrees 12 foot to another stone, from thence North Easterly 44 degrees 102 foot to another stone, from thence South Easterly 45 degrees 83 foot to another Stone; from thence South Westerly along the side of the Ally 99 foot to the South East Corner of my Kitchen; from thence South Westerly 57 degrees 54 foot to another Stone at the South East Corner of my Store house on the Front Street and from thence along the said Street North Westerly 45 degrees 57 foot to the first Station. The Bounds of Thomas's Land Begins at a Stone on the South West side of the Back Street and at the South East Corner of the Ally runing from thence along the said Street South Easterly 45 degrees 110 foot to Dun in the Mire-Creek As it is called by the Feoffees, from thence along the side of the said Creek 202 foot to another stone, from thence North Westerly 45 degrees 37 foot to

So, the Captain and herself, with all the children, set off for Charleston, where they were warmly welcomed by her uncle, and where, by his aid, and their own exertions, they soon became prosperous and happy, and their children and descendants are living there in good repute to this day. So, Providence took care of both the poor orphan girls. My mother continuing to live here, bore several children to my father, three sons and two daughters besides myself, and was in all respects a true and proper helpmeet for him. She was, indeed, a prudent, notable and amiable woman, a good Housewife, and the best sewer on cambric I ever knew. She looked well to her household, and the heart of her husband trusted in her.

another Stone near my Oven, from thence North Easterly 57 degrees 10 foot to the North West Corner of the Store house and from thence along the Ally's side 180 foot to the first Station. She was, moreover, piously disposed, and remarkably fond of her Bible, which she taught us all to read betimes. So, she did my father and her children "good, all the days of her life." She survived him and lived to a good old age. For many years, however, before she died, she had ceased to live in this world, and never went out of the house, not even to church, which she had loved before, but sat all day long poring over her Bible, which she kept constantly by her—till she fell into a gentle sort of lethargy and went out at last in her 84 year (in 1804) like the snuff of a candle—dying so gently, as she sat up in her arm chair, that we who were in the room with her, hardly knew that her spirit had left us. She lived next door to me some years before she died, and I had the comfort of soothing her every day, by all those little attentions which my heart prompted, and which the heart of a mother never ceases to prize.

Feb 19th 1765 Christopher Wright was appointed guardian to William Thorowgood. April 16th he sued Francis Moore for one pound 10 shillings said to be due the Estate of William Hunter. August 20th he proved his acct agt William Thorowgood Orphan of Argill Thorowgood. June 17th 1766 William Nimmo Jun sued Christopher Wright & uxor Executors of William Hunter deceased.

Jesus Christ after recommending my immortal Soul to Almighty God my Father in Heaven who Created me, and to the Guardian care and protection of my blessed Lord Jesus who redeemed me, and my mortal Body to the Earth to be plainly and decently buried in the Church Yard. I now think proper to dispose of my few worldly Goods in form and manner following. Imprimis I give to my unhappy Son William as much of the Interest of my money in the Loan Office in Virginia (untill it is called out) yearly as may be necessary to clothe and maintain him as a Labourer, together with the Assistance of such work as he can do himself, which I desire he may be made to do, under the direction and discretion of my Executors or either of them, he not being endued with proper sense and reason to manage any kind of Estate himself nor is he desirous nor willing to do any business whatever. James Nimmo this day personally appeared in court and made oath that he has known and been acquainted with Mr David Wright now a resident and inhabitant of this Borough for upwards of sixty years. That he was also well acquainted with his father Christopher Wright decd and with all the members of his family—That the said Christopher Wright had at the time of his death several children then living male and female, but there were only three sons among them, that is to say, William, John Edward, and the above named David Wright. That the said William and John Edward died without issue many years ago, having never been married. And the said James Nimmo also made oath and deposed that the said Christopher Wright never had a son named Henry as far as he knows and believes and that he has also understood and believes that the said David Wright was in the Revolutionary war.

Item, I give to my aforesaid sons William and John Edward my wearing Apparel in such manner and proportion, and at such times as my Executors may think most

The Court doth certify that it has been proved to the satisfaction of the Court that David Wright of this Borough, was an Ensign in the tenth North Carolina Regiment, in Captⁿ Isaac Moores Company and also served as a Lieutenant in the first North Carolina Regiment under Lieut Thomas Callender commanding the Company under Major Ash—that he is now receiving a pension from the Government of the United States for his said services—that he is at this time a resident of this Borough and has been for nearly fifty years last past.

¹Will of John Edward Wright made December 23^d 1793 and ordered to be recorded September 5th 1803. His body to be buried “in the burial ground where the remains of” his “father and mother” were “deposited” To “brother in law James Nimmo one negro fellow nam’d Phill” To “brother in law William Nimmo one negro fellow named Bob” To “nephew John Edward Wright one negro boy nam’d Lewis” To “Miss Peggy Keeling daughter of Mr Jacob Keeling the sum of ten guineas for the purpose of purchasing cloths of mourning, and a mourning ring with the inscription “In Remembrance of a Lover” To “brother in law James Nimmo, ten per Cent Commission on the amount of his account against me” To sister Penelope Read in North Carolina 10 pound Virginia currency. To “nephew William Robinson Nimmo,” his “desk and book case, and all” his “books.” The remainder of his property to be sold and the money to be equally divided between his brother David Wright and his brothers in law James and William Nimmo. Col. T. H. Ellis in history of the Thorowgood family published in the Richmond Standard for Saturday, December 17, 1881, says that “John” Wright, “who was educated a physician in Europe, returned, and was killed by being thrown from a horse.”

suitable for each of them. Item I give to my Daughter Penelope Reed ten pounds annually, to be delivered into her own hands every fall of the year, by some trusty person whom my Executors can confide in, for the sole purpose of furnishing her with provisions while she stands in need, but no part, nor the whole thereof to be delivered to her Husband Thomas Reed, nor any person in his behalf. Item, I give and bequeath to my Daughter Peggy at her Marriage or her Mothers Death which ever may happen first, my three Negroes Laetitia, Cloe and Peter, to her and her Heirs for ever, also one of my best Beds and furniture belonging to it, one third part of my Table Linnen, six Silver table Spoons, and six Silver tea Spoons, one of my wild Cherry or black Walnut Tables, one half my black Walnut Chairs with black leather bottoms, my oldest Desk, my riding Horse called Snow will, with her side Saddle and bridle, three Cows and Calves, six Ewes and Lambs, likewise one third part of all my book Debts Notes of Hand Obligations, Bonds and money in the House, after my debts are paid, she paying or causing to be paid the sum of five pounds Carolina money yearly towards the support of my Daughter Penelope Reed as given to her above. Item, I give to my Daughter Prissy or Priscilla at her Marriage or her Mothers Death which ever may happen first, my three Negroes, Hannah Phillis and Lewis, to her and her Heirs for ever, also one of my best Beds and the furniture belonging to it, one third part of my Table Linnen, six silver tea Spoons, six silver Table Spoons, one of my wild Cherry or black Walnut Tables: the other half of my black Walnut Chairs with black Leather bottoms, my black Walnut Chest of Drawers, three Cows and Calves, six Ewes and Lambs, my young Horse called Vulcan with her Saddle and bridle, also one third part of my Book-debts, Notes of Hand, Obligations, Bonds and money in the House, after my just Debts are paid, she paying or causing to be paid the Sum of five pounds Carolina money yearly towards the support of my Daughter Penelope Reed, as given to her above. Item Whereas a certain Kinchen Godwin of Nansemond County hath lately obtained a Decree of the Court of Appeals against me in Order to discharge the said Decree my Will and desire is, that my Executors Sell my Negro Wench named pleasant, and her Child called Ishmael for the best price they can get, and if there should be any Overplus remaining after paying off the said Decree and Costs, that it be given to my Wife but if not sufficient to answer the said purpose, the Deficiency to be made up out of the money in the House. Item I further give and bequeath to my son John Edward my Desk and book Case to hold his Clothes and Books, my little Poney commonly called Johnnys Horse with his Saddle and bridle, also one third part of my Book Debts, Notes of Hand Obligations, Bonds and money in the House (after all my just Debts are paid) likewise my money in the Continental Loan Office, after deducting what may be judged to be absolutely necessary by my Executors towards the Common support of my son William as directed heretofore not exceeding six pounds yearly out of the Interest of the said money, or some other of the Interest of his Estate, And now as my youngest Son seems to have a fertile Genius and endued with an apt Disposition, it is therefore my Will and earnest Desire that he shall be well Educated in the Sciences of Latin, Greek and Arithmetic, and that then he bound to the Study of Law, Divinity or Physick, which of them may then seem best, to suit his inclination and Genius untill he becomes well qualified for practice, that my Executors hereafter to be Named do provide and see, that all this is duly performed and Executed in the most expeditious and effectual manner, that the said Executors or either of them pay the Expence thereof, and all other necessary Expences for him the said John Edward out of the yearly hire of his Negros, and Interest of his money, but if these should not be sufficient to answer these good purposes, then in that Case it is my Will and desire, that the deficiency thereof be made up, out of part of the principal of such part of his Estate as will be the least prejudicial to him afterwards, and will answer the purposes too, And Lastly that my said Executors or one of them be repaid all necessary Expences in performing the said friendly Offices out of the Interest of the said John Edwards Estate. Item all the residue and remainder of my Estate of what nature or kind soever, I give to my loving wife Elizabeth¹ to make free use of dureing her natural life and after her decease the remainder to be equally divided between my three youngest children Peggy, Priscilla, and John Edward, or their Heirs, which Division, it is my Will and desire may be made in the most amicable and equitable manner by themselves, or their next friends, or my Executors, without any Suit in Law about it. Lastly I do hereby constitute and appoint my trusty and esteemed friends M^r James Nimmo and M^r John Valentine of Norfolk to be Executors, and my Wife Executrix of this my last Will and Testament, also to be Guardians to all my unmarried Children, In Witness whereof I have hereunto set my Hand and Affix my Seal this fourteenth Day of January, and in the Year of our Lord Christ, one thousand seven hundred Eighty and five, the several Erasures and interlineations being made by my own Hand and before signing

² At the present time, May the first, 1896, after the lapse of 256 years, three of the descendants of Henry Woodhouse, bearing his name, are vestrymen of the Eastern Shore Chapel, Princess Anne County (built in 1754), Judge John J. Woodhouse, Jonathan Woodhouse, and Major John T. Woodhouse who has not yet qualified. Judge Woodhouse is the son of John Woodhouse, Jr., son of John Woodhouse, Sr. Jonathan Woodhouse is the son of Jonathan, son of Capt. Jonathan, son of Major Jonathan, and Major Woodhouse is the son of John, Jr., son of Capt. Thomas, son of Capt. William, and John, Sr. Major Jonathan and Capt. William were the sons of Capt. William, Sr., son of Henry, son of William, son of Henry of 1640. It is not probable that any other parish in America can equal this. Since the above was written Major Woodhouse has qualified.
