OVERVIEW

"If it weren't for the 57 bus, Sasha and Richard never would have met. Both were high school students from Oakland, California, one of the most diverse cities in the country, but they inhabited different worlds. Sasha, a white teen, lived in the middle-class foothills and attended a small private school. Richard, a black teen, lived in the crime-plagued flatlands and attended a large public one. Each day, their paths overlapped for a mere eight minutes"--

OVERVIEW

"Author and photographer Susan Kuklin met and interviewed six transgender or gender-neutral young adults and used her considerable skills to represent them thoughtfully and respectfully before, during, and after their personal acknowledgment of gender preference. Portraits, family photographs, and candid images grace the pages, augmenting the emotional and physical journey each youth has taken. Each honest discussion and disclosure, whether joyful or heartbreaking, is completely different from the other because of family dynamics, living situations, gender, and the transition these teens make in recognition of their true selves."--Amazon.com, viewed February 12, 2014.

Sexe, ce drôle de mot

Zai, Sacha, Mimi et Omar, âgés de 8 à 10 ans, accueillent le lecteur dans ce drôle de livre qui parle de sexe. Le mot est d'abord prononcé par leur professeur en classe, ce qui provoque toutes sortes de sentiments: gêne, frustration, hilarité... Les questions et les opinions suivent, ce à quoi l'enseignant répond que "apprendre sur le sexe, c'est un peu comme visiter un carnaval ou une foire, on ne peut jamais tout faire en un seul jour. Ça peut être amusant, étrange et parfois un peu déstabilisant" (p.12-13). Les quatre élèves se lancent ainsi dans l'exploration du sujet au sein de six chapitres denses abordant une variété de notions: Qu'est-ce que le sexe? - À propos du corps - Garçons, filles, tout le monde - Toucher - Parler de sexe - Béguin, amour, relations. Ces derniers se réfèrent ainsi tant à la beauté, à la nudité, aux parties intimes, aux érections, au sexe assigné à la naissance, au consentement, à la masturbation, aux mots considérés comme vulgaires, à l'attrait "sexy", au sentiment amoureux, aux baisers qu'aux relations de couple. [SDM.„Se voulant une suite de l'ouvrage "De quoi sont faits les bébés?" afin de s'adresser à des enfants plus âgés (8 à 11 ans), cette longue bande dessinée met de l'avant quatre priorités qui ne devraient pas être oubliées lorsqu'on parle de sexe: confiance, respect, justice, joie. Sans aller dans des détails trop pointus, l'ouvrage se contente "d'explorer" le sujet tout en optant pour un ton approprié en fonction de l'âge des lecteurs et en posant de nombreuses questions à ces derniers afin qu'ils ne craignent pas d'émettre leur opinion. Les personnages qui les accompagnent dans leurs apprentissages présentent quant à eux des physiques plutôt asexués tout en insistant sur le fait que chacun pourra ressembler à ce qu'il désire une fois grand. Les dessins naïfs aux aplats multicolores font ainsi fi des stéréotypes liés au genre et à la beauté pour aider les enfants à élaborer leurs propres images en fonction de ces concepts. Un glossaire détaille certains termes plus complexes. [SDM]

OVERVIEW

In this groundbreaking, bestselling graphic memoir, Alison Bechdel charts her fraught relationship with her late father. In her hands, personal history becomes a work of amazing subtlety and power, written with controlled force and enlivened with humor, rich literary allusion, and heartbreaking detail. Distant and exacting, Bruce Bechdel was an English teacher and director of the town funeral home, which Alison and her family referred to as the "Fun Home." It was not until college that Alison, who had recently come out as a lesbian, discovered that her father was also gay. A few weeks after this revelation, he was dead, leaving a legacy of mystery for his daughter to resolve.

OVERVIEW

Sixteen-year-old Starr Carter moves between two worlds: the poor neighborhood where she lives and the fancy suburban prep school she attends. The uneasy balance between these worlds is shattered when Starr witnesses the fatal shooting of her childhood best friend Khalil at the hands of a police officer. Khalil was unarmed. Soon afterward, his death is a national headline. Some are calling him a thug, maybe even a drug dealer and a gangbanger. Protesters are taking to the streets in Khalil's name. Some cops and the local drug lord try to intimidate Starr and her family. What everyone wants to know is: what really went down that night? And the only person alive who can answer that is Starr. But what Starr does-or does not-say could upend her community. It could also endanger her life.
