BOB'S BAD DAY

By now you will already have met our friend Bob and seen his relatively good day turned into a very bad one indeed. Not only has he been turned into a bouncing head but also transported into an incredible world where sanity and gravity seem to have taken a back seat. Looks like you've done it this time, Bob!

It seems Bob's only chance of escape is to play the wizard's crazy game. Unfortunately, he has made Bob's task extremely difficult by interfering with the gravity pull in this strange maze-like world.

Playing the part of Bob, it is your task to roll and bounce around each level, of which there are 100, collecting the precious coins that will allow you the chance to escape. This is made more difficult by the constantly changing gravity and the nasties that inhabit this world.

PLAYING THE GAME

Before entering the level you will be presented with a map showing the maze, the locations and the position of all the coins. Press fire to play the level.

At the bottom of the screen is the status panel which shows information about your progress. The displays indicate your score, time remaining (indicated by Bob's head which turns from pink to green as time elapses), gravity direction, the amount of coins remaining in the level and the amount of coins collected indicated by a money bag which grows in size accordingly. Once all the coins have been collected you must guide Bob over to the exit which turns into a solid circle. If the timer reaches zero before Bob has collected all the coins his head at the bottom will throw up and Bob will die.

The wizard has filled each level with plenty of obstacles and nasties which will hinder your progress. These include gravity swappers, fans, springs, breakable wall blocks and other fiendish objects. Nasties include Killer Balls, Plungers and SpinnyThings which will kill Bob if he touches them! Some of the objects, such as the rotating spikes will also reduce Bob's coin. If Bob's coins reach zero, Bob will, snivel, die.

Fortunately, the wizard has also complemented each level with bonus icons which you can collect by rolling Bob over them. These will enhance or hinder Bob's movements in several different ways and are explained further on, along with the nasties and objects.

CONTROLLING BOB

Control of Bob is through the joystick. Left and right rotate the play area accordingly allowing Bob to roll and fire bounces Bob giving him the ability to negotiate passageways and nasties. Pushing up and left or right rotates the play field slightly faster in the appropriate direction and pulling down with left or right rotates the play field at break neck speed. Pressing the P key pauses the game at any time.

The first 25 levels of the game are trainer levels which will allow you to become accustomed to controlling Bob and the effects of the various collectable icons. The nasties will appear later on. As you progress, the levels will become increasingly harder and you will eventually be joined by Bob's body - the Body Ball which you will also have to guide through the exit along with Bob.
