MEGA^{LO}MANIA™

A new planet is born and only lacks its God, could this be you? Are you ready to face the challenge from 3 other vicious and conniving opponents? To capture the planet any would be God must start at the dawn of time and progress through the recent past, the present and into the future.

A straw hut as a base and cavemen as loyal subjects. Weapons must be invented – some used to defend others to attack, once invented they have to be made, but what from? You'll need a stock of elements, Solarium, Moron and many others, most of these must be mined but some can be gathered. Allocate your men between inventing, mining, manufacturing, defending and attacking.

As you progress through time and invent ever more sophisticated weapons armies can be equipped with a mixture of the ones you have available – so it's possible to send a caveman flying a bi-plane, a WW2 soldier firing a catapult and a Victorian gentleman piloting a jet-fighter!
