WELCOME TO THE WORLDS OF 3-D ANIMATED ADVENTURES

A Sierra 3-D animated adventure game, simply stated, is an interactive movie where you become the main character. In this game, the main character is Roger Wilco (or any name you choose), the head (and only) janitor on Xenon Orbital Station 4.

Each 3-D animated adventure game has a main goal, and yours in Space Quest - Chapter Two is to escape the clutches of the evil Sludge Vohaul and foil his despicable plans to destroy your planet. You will need to survive many perilous escapades in order to thwart the nasty Vohaul. Your goal: to restore peace and safety to the universe once again.

It's a jungle out there, and it will take raw courage, quick wits and sheer fortitude in order to survive. So why even try? Because your planet depends on you, that's why...so get going! And good luck. The universe knows you will need it.

TIPS FOR FLEDGLING SPACE CADETS

NOTE: If you have played an animated adventure before, this section can be skipped.

If you haven't played one of Sierra's 3-D animated adventure games before, here are a few suggestions to help you get on the right track.

MOVE AROUND. Go from place to place and investigate your surroundings. Basic instructions on how to interact with this game are included on the reference card enclosed. For those who are not sure of what to do, there is a WALK THRU included at the end of this manual.

LOOK everywhere. When you travel to a new location, the first thing you should do is look around. Get a description of the general area. Often you will find clues to the game or information about objects in the scene that merit further investigation.

EXPLORE each location of the game very carefully. Search the jungles of the planet Labion, and examine the various creatures you will meet there. Probe the asteroid fortress of the vile Sludge Vohaul. Leave no space rock unturned.

DRAW A MAP that includes each place you visit, objects found, dangerous areas, and any other interesting things you may see along the way. Don't forget to revisit places from time to time. The creatures of Space Quest get around almost as much as you do.

COMMUNICATE with the various beings you meet. Some are friendly and some are wicked, but most are bound to have valuable information or objects that will help you out.

TAKE OBJECTS that you find during your voyage. Most will have a use (either good or bad) during the course of the game. It's up to you to decide which ones might be beneficial.

USE the items in your possession to solve the various obstacles you will encounter. Some problems have obvious solutions. Others will require a good imagination to unravel.

WATCH OUT. This is an extremely dangerous mission and you are an extremely klutzy janitor. Be sure to remain on your toes at all times--you don't want to end up as breakfast for a Labion terror beast.

GET WARPED! Try all kinds of actions--even crazy ones! No one ever caught a space squirrel without being a little nuts! Besides, if you do encounter trouble you can always resort back to your RESTORE GAME function.

TWO HEADS ARE BETTER THAN ONE. A space janitor's life can get lonely...so why not play Space Quest with a friend? It's loads of fun, and different people often come up with different ways to use items and interpret clues. Besides, two heads are better than one -- just look at the Bicranial Crudsnorter.

SAVE YOUR GAME often. In case of misfortune (such as sudden death), you won't have to start over from the beginning if you've saved your game. See your reference card for instructions on saving games.

DUMBSTRUCK? Space Quest understands a wide variety of words such as:

CALL	CLIMB	DIVE	DRINK
EAT	EXAMINE	GET	HIDE
HOLD	LOOK	OPEN	PLAY
PRESS	PUT	RUB	SEARCH
TAKE	THROW	TIE	USE

---

DON'T DESPAIR. If you come to an obstacle that has left you with cold feet, don't fret. Explore different areas in the game, then come back later and try again. If you're stuck, you might try backtracking to an earlier point in the game--you might have forgotten to do something important.

If you think you've tried everything and you're still going nowhere fast...don't yank out your hair! Hint books for all of Sierra's 3-D animated adventures are available (including this one!). You can order the hint book for this game using the order form in this package. You can also get hints by calling the Sierra Customer Support Line at (209) 683-6858 or the Sierra Bulletin Board Service at (209) 683-4463. Don't feel bad, it happens to us all sometimes (just some of us more often than others).

POW!! THACK!! BINCK!! THUD!!!

Your protest is cut short as two interstellar ruffians proceed to thump you unconscious. Everything fades.

---

Time passes...

More time passes...

A strange dream turns into the realization that you are being shaken and talked to by a voice unfamiliar to you. A dull ache triggers a distant memory of a scuffle in which you were the focal point.

Upon awakening from your forced rest, it becomes quite apparent that you aren't in Kansas, er Xenon, anymore. You find that you are being held upright and under physical restraint from both sides by, you guess, the galactic goons you met on the shuttle.

As you try to struggle free you notice that your hands are tied behind your back.

As the eyes dial into focus you make out an oddly disfigured being seated before you.

A sagging mass of flesh that appears to have been human at one time, tubes and wires extend from his body leading to machines which keep him alive. Suddenly, his visage stirs and he begins to speak.

Press Enter.

"Well, well. Did we have a nice nap? I thought we would have to resort to drastic measures to wake you. (Sigh) Oh, well."

Press Enter.

"Welcome to my humble fortress, (Name). The name's Vohaul, Sludge Vohaul. I was the genius behind the Star Generator when it was still in the concept stages."

Press Enter.

"It was to be my ultimate war weapon until some sissy pants scientists decided it would be better used saving lives rather than destroying them. What a waste of technology! Excuse me if I sound bitter."

Press Enter.

"Anyway, you ruined my Sarien operation. I was going to use the Star Generator to make Xenon pay for what they did to me. They were going to know my wrath in a big way. You somehow managed to change all that."

Press Enter.

"Oh, I suppose I should have known better than to use those mental midget Sariens. That's not the point, however. You are responsible and you shall pay. Besides, I have another plan. And you'll not be around to foil it."

Press Enter.

"I have devised a plan so horrible, so frightening, so diabolical, that no one will be able to stop me. Observe my latest creation."

Press Enter.

---

"I intend to infest your planet with thousands of these genetically engineered door-to-door life insurance salesmen. I will at last reap sweet revenge from the scientific community that mocked me."

Press Enter.

"My plan was to kill you but I've had a change of heart. Ha, ha, ha... Get it?" He peers down at the hoses protruding from his chest and connected to a life support system. "Forgive me. I'm a kidder."

Press Enter.

I've decided I would get much more enjoyment watching you suffer. My associates will escort you to the surface of Labion where you will perform many hours of manual labor in my mines. Be seeing you."

Press Enter.

You are injected with something which renders you unconscious and carried away to a shuttle. When you awake you look through the viewing port and see Vohaul's massive asteroid fortress.

After touching down on a giant landing platform, you are ushered to a hovercraft waiting to transport you to the mining site. Utter despair sets in.

Press Enter.

You will travel for some time on the hovercraft. After a while, a message appears.

"Uh Oh."

Press Enter.

---

"Oh great. I suppose we're out of fuel. Way to go, Gorf breath!"

Press Enter.

"Don't blame me. It was your turn to fill up. You're always forgetting to do it! Wait 'til the Master finds out. You're in big trouble."

Press Enter.

"Hey! Don't talk to me that way, you slime bucket! I filled it last time, dip..." The argument between the two guards is cut short as gravity reasserts itself.

Press Enter.

CRASH!

Good thing that guard broke your fall. He doesn't look too happy about it, though.

Press Enter.

Type:

LOOK AROUND

You seem to be in a rather exotic forest. The growth here is unlike anything you are used to. On the ground lies the wreckage of the hovercraft you crashed in. Nearby are the bodies of your former captors.

What a fine mess you've gotten yourself into! You'd better devise a plan and clear out of here before you end up like your flattened foes! Time is wasting...so hurry. Good luck, brave janitor.
