

BLASTEROIDS®

TENGEN

C-64/128

BLAST SPACE ROCKS OR BITE SPACE DUST.

They used to tell you that space was the final frontier, vast and lonely.

As you gaze out of your starship, you realize that space is anything but lonely. And it's certainly not big enough for you and the countless asteroids about to smash your craft into smithereens.

You should have listened to your mother who wanted you to be a space doctor. But nooooo, you had to go into the Blasteroid business.

Oh well, might as well earn your pay and start clearing out this sector to make it safe for space travel. With four galaxies to clear of asteroids and enemy vessels, your job is cut out for you.

With a shove of the throttle, you spin your ship in mad arcs, constantly twisting and dodging. All the while, you're firing laser blasts, turning huge asteroids into little rocks, and those into space dust. And it's just too bad about those enemy ships trying to do the same to you. But nobody should get in the way of someone making a decent living.

BLASTEROIDS.® It's a dirty job, but somebody's got to do it.

Screen displays shown are from the Amiga®. Actual screen displays may change without notice. Displays from other computer(s) may vary.

Amiga is a registered trademark of Commodore Business Machines, Inc.

BLASTEROIDS: © Atari Games; ©1989 Tengen, Inc.

MADE IN U.S.A.

TENGEN

0 31763 08131 9

BLASTEROIDS