

EPYX®

FINAL ASSAULT™

Commodore
64®/128™

DISK

18907D

EPYX®

FINAL ASSAULT™

If you're afraid of heights, forget it! You're at the foot of one of the world's highest mountains. Awaiting you are snowy slopes and crevasses, icy glaciers and jagged rockface. Get ready to experience the intensity and elation of one of the most grueling sports ever.

Start by choosing from six treacherous trails. Or practice your skills on the training course first. Then pack your rucksack—carefully. The items you choose are critical to survival. Select departure time and season, and the trek begins.

You'll be tested every step by changes in terrain, weather and your health. You could fall thousands of rocky feet. Or freeze to death in a blizzard. Or you just might be one of the lucky few to plant your flag at the peak.

- ▶ Three types of challenging terrain on each trail with beginner, intermediate and advanced levels.
- ▶ Choice of over 50 items to pack in your rucksack, from climbing gear to food supplies.
- ▶ On screen features include the time, temperature, altitude, and climber's physical condition. Even a safety guide to help in the climb.

*Screens from Atari ST™ version. Other versions may vary. Final Assault is a trademark of Epyx, Inc. Game program licensed from Infogrames, Villeurbanne. ©1988 Epyx, Inc.

Your choice: Footloose, Knucklehead, or four other wicked trails.

Without the right stuff, it could be a very short trip—down.

It's getting nasty. Did you pack your goggles?

Get out of the way fast or you're history.

