THE HISTORY

In AD 5150 the search began to find other worlds for human colonisation. Eventually a small planet named Krauze was selected.

The Earth-like surface of the new world was littered with the crumbling evidence of a long dead race: Ruined cities, giant monuments and fragmented records, were all that remained of the savage, brutal semi-human creatures.

A Race of Deviants

100,000 years before, the Deviants had conquered their neighbouring planets, but the Deviant warlords were hungry for power and a bloody civil war erupted. This almost wiped out the race, only a handful escaped.

Recently the colony has been under attack from a source tracked down to be one of the star system's many asteroids.

The deviants had awakened and were rapidly turning their asteroids into a massive battle station.

A crack squad of 'Starwarrior' commandos were dispatched to destroy the Deviants base. They managed to plant a number of nuclear explosive devices, but failed to prime the timing mechanisms.

As the last Starwarrior, you must complete the mission and uphold the honour of your fallen comrades.
