

DIE HARD™

Commodore 64/128

1541 or 1571 Disk Drive

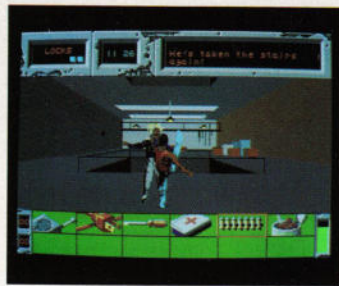

Joystick Required

DD-945-118

ACTIVISION

NOW I HAVE A MACHINE GUN. HO! HO! HO!

The odds are getting better. Take out the terrorist thieves and collect the detonators, uzis and ammo you'll need to thwart Hans.

Think fast! Act fast! Or... Die Hard. You'll need to be cunning just to stay alive.

(C64 screen; all other screens pictured are MS-DOS.)

Hans Gruber plans to make off with $600 million in negotiable bonds, leaving behind several dead hostages and one smoldering highrise.

The FBI won't help. The cops won't help. It's you, your wits, and whatever edge you can get by picking off Hans' gang one by one.

You're the only chance anyone's got. Can you rescue your wife and stop Hans from blowing the building?

Features:

- ◆ 3D environment recreates the Nakatomi building in stunning detail.

- ◆ Digitized film footage from the hit movie brings the adventure to life.

- ◆ Die Hard storyline and drama faithfully recreated.

- ◆ Pop-up animations show the air vents, stairwells, and close-up battles with the terrorists.

Grab the firehose. Leap into 40 stories of air. If you don't, the terrorists will blow you and the roof from L.A. to New York City.

Save one bullet for Hans—he's got some treats in store for you, too.

ACTIVISION

Die Hard is a trademark of Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. Die Hard story and characters © 1988 Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp. Game design © 1989 Dynamix, Inc. Published by Activision. Covered by limited warranty; details enclosed. MS-DOS is a registered trademark of Microsoft Corp. C64 is a trademark of Commodore Electronics Ltd. Distributed by MEDIAGENIC, P.O. Box 3048, Menlo Park, CA 94025. BD-209-02A