EXOLON

from Hewson, the British masters of the arcade game

You are the heavily armed humanoid soldier, Vitorc, blasting your way through an endless swarm of enemies, destroying everything in your path. Aliens and machines attack you with their most advanced weaponry, all their guns pointed at you. Originally armed with only a blaster and a few hand grenades, you fight your way through levels of increasing challenge, searching for the hyper-alloy exoskeleton that will transform you from Vitorc, heroic but mortal soldier, to Exolon – a hybrid of man, machine and invulnerable firepower.
