The Aim of the Game

Guide your fighter across country to enemy targets, swoop down to knock out ground based forces which must be destroyed before you reach the target. Climb to shoot down enemy aircraft and increase your score but avoid the flak which will knock you from the sky.

When you have destroyed four types of ground defences you reach the target and have one straffing run for each remaining life. Maximum damage will give you extra lives and allow you to move on to the next level.

Once again you must shoot up the ground defences before you can pass to the new target, but this time the game gets faster and the flak meaner.
