"Unless goats have learned to fly and dogs to read, then pigs such as yourselves have not learned to think!"
...screams Merneptah Tutankhamen from her ancient grave.

"Yes, you pathetic mortal, 'Tutankhamen', Lady Tut, as you say. You may curse the day you ever heard the name, for I am back to repay a debt to all mankind — you included! Do not ask me "how", you cowering dog, but "when"...and I tell you only this: Before you can run, before you can hide, I am upon you. I am with you as you sleep and wake. As you drown in your own fear, I will be holding you under. Unless...

"Unless there is one among you with the cunning, wit, strength and valor to reach me in my chambers in the heart of my pyramid. Just one.

"Hal I amuse myself with the thought. To imagine a mindless man being stung by my winged serpents and pet spiders...crashing through the dozens of trap doors...fighting off the spirits of my palace guard! And to see what happens when he tries to use his conventional weapons in the magnetic maze of my sarcophagus!

"No, goats do not yet fly and dogs cannot read. Nor shall you succeed. Yes... I will come to you in the night...in your worst nightmare of nightmares!"
