Miner 2049er™ by International Computer Group

This is one of the most exciting games ever written for the Commodore 64 Computer. The players control Bounty Bob™ with their joystick in his quest to claim all the mining stations—there are ten in all! Along the way Bounty Bob™ must avoid deadly mutants who roam the mineshafts, fatal falls, miscalculated jumps, pulverizers, explosives, and slides. Scattered throughout the mine are various articles that have been lost by previous expeditions. If Bob grabs these articles, he receives bonus points. If he finishes claiming a mining station before the allotted time runs out, he also receives bonus points. This game will provide countless hours of fun for the whole family.
