MR. MEPHISTO

The story so far

Can you make it to Heaven? This steep and slippery Spiralway to Heaven is, like life, fraught with little problems. And, indeed, one small snag at the past and you're hell for a somewhat warm life. Each area has its own problems. For instance, you will have to collect the halo on screen and go through the labyrinth where it gets up. Mr. Telepathic has laid the traps and you will have to work hard to pass all the tests on the way. It sounds easy but you must collect all the items you can possibly go through one of the doors on each screen. Mindful though, only one of them is the right one. On the six screens you must push the bell, ring it by pressing the fire button, and then walk through the gates to reach your heavenly haven. You have three hits before you are given the big thumbs down, so be out with the fastest but not the best of life. Oh, by the way, some of the standards are inside

Game Controls

Use Port 2 for the joystick.

At the start of the game you can alter the skill and speed levels.

F10-Skill F11-Speed level.

Bonus points are for collecting items and screen completion. Failing off the stairway to heavens is always bad, with that nasty fatal picture you go to the beginning of the game.
