

S.S. BOURGOGNE

My dear sister in law,

I am sure your daughter causes you a lot of trouble. Since the death of my brother Henry, you have had so many problems with her. You asked me to take ~~care~~ her to New York as an au pair to a nice family and I agreed to make the detour to collect Celestine.

I don't think she is very happy with me at all and I regret to tell you that the loafer you wanted to separate her from is here as well. I don't understand how he could afford it.

I saw them walking on deck. It is extremely unpleasant and I plan to make them aware that I think this sordid little affair has gone on long enough and they must never see each other again.

I will keep you informed, but I must warn you that I am very worried.

Alan
