Screenplay knows what you want in an arcade game. You're looking for a game with a challenging goal and lightning response. You want colorful, three-dimensional graphics and smooth animation. You expect excellent music and exciting sound effects. You want a state-of-the-art, arcade-quality game to play on your computer.

Pogo Joe,[™] the newest arcade game from Screenplay, offers all of these things and more. Joe rides his bouncing pogo stick across fields of cylinders, springing in time to his playful tune. Pogo Joe can change the cylinder colors, eliminate them or even create them out of thin air! Uniquely animated creatures, from elephants to spinning tops, share each three-dimensional screen. Some help Pogo Joe get points, but others have less friendly intentions. Sixty-four different screens will provide a lasting challenge to even the most dedicated arcade addict.
