Dawn breaks over a high security prison. But all is not well. Last night the inmates rioted - smashing cells and offices, and building booby traps to help avoid recapture. The prison authorities have become impatient. They want to send in the riot squad - but this will result in a blood bath. The situation is tense, and getting worse by the minute. The only way to avoid the ensuing carnage is to send in a snatch squad to find the seven ring leaders, and negotiate with them to surrender to police custody. You are that snatch squad. You have been given only one chance to diffuse the situation - and avert a massacre.

THE GAME

You must make your way to various sections of the roof via the prison cells. You will encounter the seven ringleaders at random. Once you have captured a ringleader, you must complete a sub-game against the clock. The sub-game consists of a grid of nine block containing all the letters required to spell the word 'PORRIDGE'. The letters are randomly scrambled, and you must move a pointer to any row/column, press FIRE to move the row/column in the direction of the pointer, until the letters are in the right order. Once you have successfully completed the sub-game you must lead the ringleader to the left edge of the roof, where he will be lowered to safety by a hydraulic lift.

Scattered around the prison you will find some useful items. If you run out of ammo you can disable a rioting prisoner by jumping up and kicking them in the head. Watch out for booby traps that have been set, and prisoners on the roof throwing slates.

You will have successfully completed your mission when all seven ringleaders have surrendered into police custody. At that time the other prison rioters will be forced to give up their protest.
