First you deal the cards...

What it is.

It's half computer game, half card game – and totally fun. Featuring animated robots, colorful playing cards, and lots of chances to get into some serious mischief.

How it Works.

Choose your robot, then send it on a competitive scavenger hunt through a dangerous computer playfield. The item cards tell you what to hunt for. Simple? Well, it would be – if the luck cards didn't keep wrecking your hand. And if the other robots didn't steal from you.

Luck Cards

A chance to improve your hand – or wreck someone else's. Steal their cards. Pass them your trash. Do unto others before they do unto you.

Twists and Turns

Winning can be tricky. There are special cards like the "cosmic cheat," which let you win with fewer items, and a "killer card" that makes winning impossible. And to make matters worse, the computer can change the rules every round.

A Great Family Game.

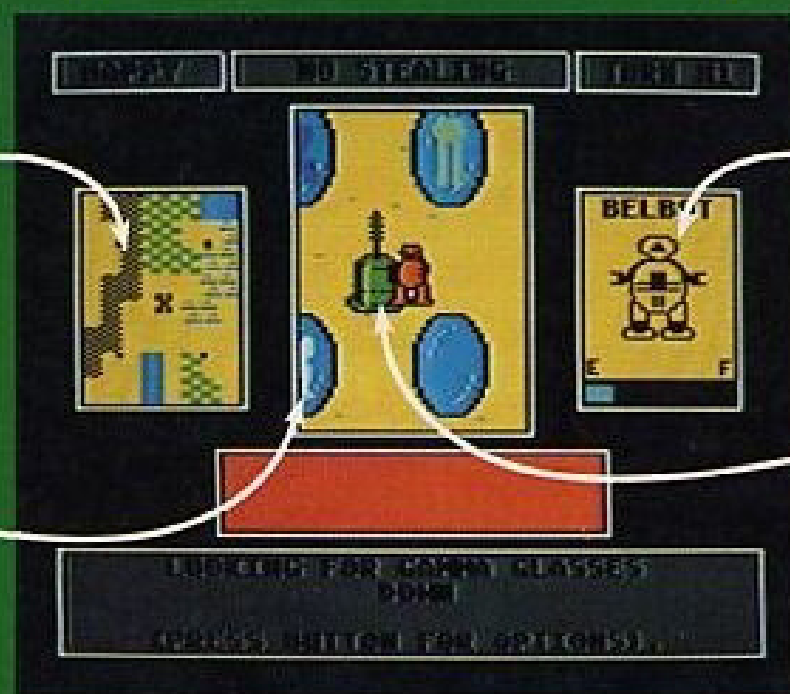

- For 2-4 players of all ages.
- Handicapping option lets everyone play at an equal level.
- Average game time: 40 minutes.
- Variable game options let you play longer or shorter games.
- Great animated graphics, music, and sound effects.

A World to Explore.

Somewhere out there in the forests, mountains and swamps are the items you need. But search with care. Some kinds of terrain will trash your robot.

There's No Place Like Home.

It's where you go for repairs, when you want to avoid getting robbed, and when it's time to claim victory.

Rascally Robots.

There are 10 different robots to choose from, each with a unique personality and style.

It Sure Beats Walking.

Beam your robot from place to place using the five teleport terminals. They're handy when you're in a hurry to find an item – or making a getaway with somebody else's.
