

WEIRD DREAMS™

A man in a black and white checkered suit is floating in a dark, dreamlike space. He has a surprised expression on his face. In the background, a large, glowing blue spiral hypnotic pattern is visible. At the bottom of the image, a man is shown from the chest up, holding a joystick and looking down at it.

COMMODORE 64 & 128

1541 or 1571 DISK DRIVE

TV or COMPOSITE MONITOR

JOYSTICK REQUIRED

Weird Dreams™

64 & 128 are registered trademarks of Commodore Business Machines LTD

MICROPLAY
SOFTWARE

WEIRD DREAMS™

A ride along the rocky road of subconscious thought. Without shock absorbers.

Imagine yourself in a world full of nightmares
With Dali-esque creatures and mind-eating eyes.
Picture yourself in an upside down landscape
Alone in a weird dream and wondering... what the ... ?!

Imported from England, this is the computer game that everyone is talking about - or soon will be - in excited whispers and bewildered exclamations.

It's the game with the soccer ball that devours knife-wielding little girls... then burps.

The one with totem pole heads hopping on kangaroo bodies under skies full of fish.

The one with a giant killer bee that wants your cotton candy, the grandfather clock that points the way, and the lawn mower that grinds you to a bloody pulp.

Like the famous ink-blot test, the bizarre scenes, puzzles and arcade-style challenges in Weird Dreams will mean different things to different people.

Some will think them uproariously funny.

Others will find them strange and unsettling.

Still others will be outright offended.

Decide for yourself.

One thing is certain: there has never been a computer game like Weird Dreams. You have to play it to believe it.

Actual screens may vary

Marketed by Medalist International, a division of MicroProse Software, Inc.
180 Lakefront Drive • Hunt Valley, MD 21030 • (301) 771-1151

©1989 by MicroProse Software, Inc. ©1987 by Best Ever Games Company. Copyright is claimed on the text and graphics for the design of the packaging, the manual and the computer software contained herein. Co-conception: Herman Serrano and Tony King. Co-design: Herman Serrano, James Hutchby, and Tony King. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.

MICROPLAY™
SOFTWARE

ISBN 1-55884-025-7