MASTERTRONIC

Werewolves OF LONDON

The object of the game is to relieve yourself of the lycanthropic curse by slaughtering all the remaining members of the family that cursed you. Each time you find yourself near to one of the yuppies a cross will flash in your icon row – seek out and destroy! If you are successful the cross is yours to keep, collect all eight and you have rid yourself of the curse.

Each time you kill, the police become more determined to put an end to your nocturnal activities. Everybody is a potential snackette and you may find some corpses carry useful objects such as tickets for the underground or keys for the jail or park. The torch helps you see in the sewers and the underground and the manhole cover lifter allows you access to those smelly places. The file might be useful on the jail windows and using bandages can help stem blood loss.

Getting thrown into jail is a fact of life if you happen to be a hairy carnivorous beast, and this could curtail your night time activities if your not careful. But you could be clever and conceal a few handy objects in the cell during the day in order to help you escape later. prolonging your munching time is the name of the game. . . . Happy hunting!
