CARMEN SANDIEGO STRIKES AGAIN!

International Gang Vows to Steal Europe's Treasure

Carmen Sandiego and accomplice glimpsed plotting next heist.

PARIS

Carmen Sandiego and a new gang of criminals have launched an international crime wave, authorities said today. "Carmen's target this time is nothing less than all of Europe and its incredible store of national treasures," a top Interpol official warned.

In a unique display of international cooperation, Western and Eastern-bloc countries are undertaking an all-out effort to outwit master criminal Sandiego, who recently staged a spectacular escape from her top-security prison cell. Interpol has enlisted the aid of the world famous Acme Agency, with its computerized network of skilled operatives.

was last seen outside Marseilles and was believed to have boarded the Orient Express for an unknown destination. She is reported to have 15 new accomplices, including Clare d'Leon, a concert pianist accused of murdering several composers, the sophisticated Lotia Style and Luke Warmwater, who was trying to rob a riverbank.

BASE OF OPERATIONS:

All 34 nations of Europe. (Prime targets include Sofia, Stockholm, Madrid...)

INVESTIGATIVE TOOLS:

1. Rand McNally "Concise Atlas of Europe" -- Filled with the facts and maps needed to track the quarry.
2. New on-line Data Base -- provides additional information on European nations to help solve clues.
3. Computerized Crimestopper's Notebook -- helps keep track of clues to each suspect's identity.
4. Colorful graphics and animation -- keeps play fast-paced, interesting. AND FUN!

INVESTIGATIVE PROCEDURES:

1. Search the scene of the crime.
2. Question all witnesses. Don't overlook any!
3. Call local tipsters.
4. Travel Europe's great cities tracking the suspect.
5. Obtain correct warrant. !!! ARGH!

SUCCESSFUL INVESTIGATIVE STRATEGIES:

1. Master geography and map reading, to track the suspects.
2. Learn research skills to determine their whereabouts.
3. Pick up historical, economic and cultural facts to decipher clues.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

Demonstrate your skills in map reading, research and problem-solving to track down the guilty party and obtain the right warrant. If you're successful, you'll move up the ranks to Master Detective before you know it. And with 16 possible suspects, 34 targeted countries, and nearly 1,000 clues, you'll be kept continually on your toes!

LAST KNOWN WHEREABOUTS: Somewhere in Europe...

Chief... This is a tough case, make no mistake about it. Carmen and her gang are slipperier than a sack of eels! I was able to pick up her trail at the train yard in Nîmes but the elusive Ms. Sandiego has been able to stay one jump ahead of me ever since. I'm not positive, but she may have boarded the Orient Express. If it was Carmen, it means she's on the loose again and nothing in Europe will be safe until she and her gang are behind bars. There won't be a gondola left in Venice or a stone at Stonehenge, and the only thing left of Hamlet's Castle will be the moat!

We're going to have to pull out all the stops if we want a chance of catching this master thief. The best weapon at our disposal is information. Make sure all operatives use the new on-line Database and their copy of Rand McNally's "Concise Atlas of Europe." And remind them to use their Crimestopper's Notebook to record the goods on each culprit so they don't get the wrong warrant.

Sorry to be resigning from the case, but after 10 months of chasing Carmen through 34 countries, I need a vacation... and you can be sure it won't be in Europe!
