

Letter R "Robert Was Wrong"

Robert inquired, "Who wrote this letter?" He knew it was written recently. Could it be a colonel or an officer in the armed forces? Perhaps a wrinkled playwright. Maybe the president is responsible. He must find out by tomorrow, or he will be terribly disappointed. Robert continued to worry.

The next day, Robert was horrified to find out he wrote the letter. He then wrote a rhyming letter to himself saying he is terribly sorry for the error.