

AU (Hey You), Proceed with Caution

A father and a daughter went to an auction. He bought an astronaut suit. She thought it was an awful idea.

The next day the daughter saw her father on the news. He was about to board a spaceship. How is this possible? She stood in awe! In an awkward moment before the launch, she yelled, “Pa! We need to have a long talk. Your plan is flawed. Stick with your office job.”

The father replied, “I hope I taught you a lesson.”

The daughter asked, “What is that?”

The father shouted, “April Fools!”

The daughter groaned, “That story is not awesome.”