A jiu-jitsu and a kung fu fighter were to meet in Katmandu. These two men were to compete to see who's the best. It will be the biggest battle since Waterloo!

A guru stepped in and added, "One of you has a huge size advantage."

The jiu-jitsu man knew it was true, but wanted to continue. Even though he was a blue belt, he didn't think he would lose.

The jiu-jitsu man rejoiced, "I know you. You're my long lost brother!"
