Igloos are homes made from ice and snow. Inuit (IN-yoo-it) people live in them. Igloos are shaped like domes. Igloos are built in the arctic. There are not a lot of other materials to build with. Yet there is snow everywhere. Igloos are warm because the snow keeps warm air inside. Igloos can be big enough for one or two families.

American Indian Homes

American Indians live in tribes. These tribes lived in different parts of the country. Long ago, they built homes that helped them survive. The homes were made with special materials. Native people used what they had.

American Indians lived in many different types of homes. Some lived in grass houses. Tribes that lived on large, grassy plains used the grass to build homes. They worked well in warm climates. These structures were up to forty feet tall!

Adobe homes were a different type of home. They were called pueblos (PWEB-lohz). These homes were made of clay and straw. They often had more than one story! They worked well for tribes who stayed in one place for a long time. Pueblos helped keep people cool in hot weather.

Plank houses worked well in cold climates. Tribes that lived in plank houses built them out of wood. They worked well in cold places with forests nearby. The people found tall trees in the forests to make planks. Plank houses were also permanent houses.

Some tribes traveled a lot, so they built homes that could be easily moved. A teepee was one type of temporary home. A teepee looks like a tent. It is made of buffalo hide. Tribes that hunted buffalo built these homes.

All the tribes had to be smart builders. They used the materials they had nearby. They built structures to survive the climate. They were quite successful in creating their own types of communities.
