

#13 est Advanced

"The Biggest Mistake"

A man from Budapest, who wore a vest, wanted to be the richest man in the world. He invested money in the wildest ideas. The silliest was inflatable dartboards. That was his biggest mistake. I estimated he lost a million dollars. I can honestly say, "He messed up bad."

Playing it safe with modest returns did not interest him. Yesterday I suggested, "I was impressed by your zest, but your choices are not the wisest."

One day, how will you invest your money?

#13 est Advanced "The Biggest Mistake"

1) What was the man from Budapest wearing? _____

2) What was his biggest mistake?

3) About how much money did he lose?

4) If you were the richest person in the world, how would you spend the money?

5) Please underline all the nouns once, the verbs twice and circle every adjective.