

#146 thr Advanced

"Will He Thrive in Another Field?"

Everyone was thrilled to watch the pitcher throw the ball. The opposing team was not a threat. They could not dethrone the champions.

One day, the pitcher ran into a bathroom, looked in the mirror and cried, "I have arthritis. My shoulder throbs all day long."

The pitcher cleared his throat and announced, "I am only thirty-three years old, but I am through with baseball. I will thrive in another field."

Do you think he will thrive in another field?

---

---