

who part 1

*This file is for children, not for adult English Language Learners.
The infinitive marker "to" before a verb makes it an adjective or a noun.
My file on verbals explains why.*

who

Who wants to practice filling in
the blank with
nouns and verbs?

who noun or verb

Who likes _____?

who noun

Who likes cake?

who noun or verb

Who can _____?

who verb

Who can paint?

who

noun or verb

Who can _____?

who verb

Who can draw?

who noun or verb

Who likes _____?

who noun

Who likes candy?

who noun or verb

Who can _____?

who verb

Who can jump?

who noun or verb

Who are these
_____?

who noun

Who are these
people/men?

who

noun or verb

Who can _____?

who verb

Who can dance?

who noun or verb

Who likes _____?

who noun

Who likes pineapple?

who noun or verb

Who can _____?

who verb

Who can smile?

who noun or verb

Who can _____?

who verb

Who can cook?

who noun or verb

Who likes _____?

who noun

Who likes
cheeseburgers/food?

who

noun or verb

Who can _____?

who verb

Who can laugh?

Now you know when
a sentence starts
with who, it is a question.