

"A Little or Little?"

Sight Word #165 little

I have two friends;
one is a little girl,
and the other is a little boy.

The girl can play a little music.
(She knows how to play some music.)

The boy plays little music.
(He does not play much music.)

When we put the article A before little,
it changes the meaning!

Is there a little difference (some) or little difference (not much)?
