

"A Definite Decision"

Sight Word #320 definite

I am definite this decision caused anxiety.

The plan was to sell a brand-new vegetable called broccoflower (a cross between broccoli and cauliflower) that was grown on Mars, ha ha.

To market this new vegetable, a committee said it was from outer space and bought a spaceship.

With the amount of money spent on the spaceship, I am definite they went into debt!

Also, buying bizarre costumes so kids could look like aliens definitely costs large amounts of money.

When the spaceship "landed",
a crowd gathered and sang like a choir,
"We want to buy broccoflower."

What do you think happened?

Give me a definite answer.