Let us understand scientific and educational product together:

The outbreak, the economic downturn, the market has changed dramatically. Consumers are starting to shop rationally. Conventional products have been unable to meet the needs of the market.

Customers in the selection of product requirements also improved, but also looking for more professional companies to cooperate.

Scientific and education products are the bright spot of the market at present. Instructional education is a consumer that parents are willing to consume, but also a thorn in the side of customers.

Scientific and education products have no seasonal restrictions, and the market scope is wide:

Russia, the European Union, Europe and America, Northern Europe, Southeast Asia, Dubai, Saudi and Supermarket etc.

Scientific and education products contribute to the growth of children's intelligence and thinking. Let children have interest in new things, cultivate hobbies. The interactive nature of the product also plays an important role in parent-child interaction.

Reference to the game of “Animal Crossing”:

In a vast blue sea, it is said that there is an island city composed of five islands, which not only has beautiful scenery, but also has a pleasant climate. What is more interesting is that the few residents here are all cats and all kinds of cats. Therefore, the island city is named catland. Leisure vacation, swimming, fishing, surfing, outdoor parties, barbecue, cat's life is enviable.
